SAVE U. S. WITH LINCOLN SANITY, BRIDGES URGES

Senator Says Nation Again Is Periled.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Senator H. Styles Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, called on the nation last night to return to Abraham Lincoln's philosophy of sanity and thrift.

The country, he warned, is drifting into economic chaos as dangerous for the Union as was the political chaos of the '60s. Peace and the recovery of general prosperity must be the twin goals of the Republican party. For 1940, he asserted, there must be a return to the fundamental planks of the platform on which Lincoln campaigned 79 years ago.

The rally and banquet at which Senator Bridges spoke are regarded as the opening gun in the coming presidential campaign. It was held on the anniversary of the first nomination of Lincoln in Chicago on May 18, 1860, and was attended by 3,000 enthusiastic Republican leaders from the middle west.

Rally on Historic Site.

Appropriately the banquet was held on the site of the historic old Wigwam, the hall erected here in 1860 especially for the political convention at which Lincoln was nominated for President. A huge warehouse now covers the site on the southeast corner of Lake and Market streets and the banquet was laid in one of the great store rooms in this building. Several other speakers addressed the rally, including John D Hamilton, Republican national chairman.

"The Republican party," said Senator Bridges in his speech, "is the only instrument through which the people can prevent national bankruptcy. We've reached the end of the trail. We have the biggest national debt in the history of our nation. More than eleven millions of unemployed Americans are walking the streets.

"Oppressive taxation, broken promises, an economic philosophy of destruction rather than production, a foreign trade policy that robs the American farmer and manufacturer and worker of their markets and jobs! What are we going to do about it?

Recalls 1860 Platform.

"Let us get back to the Republican convention of 1860 and look at one of the planks of that platform. It reads: 'The people justly view with alarm the reckless extravagance which pervades every department of the federal government, and a return to rigid economy and accountability is indispensable to arrest the systematic plunder of the public treasury by favored partisans. Recent startling developments of frauds and corruptions at the federal metropolis show that an entire change of administration is imperatively demanded.'

"In my estimation that plank may be taken for the most part and placed in the platform of the Republican party for 1940. Economy, thrift and the return to sanity are today our most necessary objective.

"The America I want will not curtail and regiment and trample industries, labor, and the farmer by a thousand and one regulations and laws. It will not throttle expansion by unjust tax laws based on so-called social reform and not upon the government's need for finance."

Buchanan and Roosevelt.

Hamilton, asserting that there never has been a more hazardous time in the nation's history than the present, said: "A little more than two years ago President Roosevelt declared that he did not wish to leave the American nation to his successor in 1941 'in the condition in which President Buchanan left it to Lincoln.'

"Mr. Roosevelt's disavowal of two years ago is becoming prophetic. Today Mr. Roosevelt is permitting this country to drift into economic chaos as dangerous to our nation as was the fratricidal civil war into which Buchanan permitted the nation to drift."

One of the guests at the rally was Mrs. Eleanor Gridley, 93 years old, 1549 East 61st street, who is the only person now living who was present at the birth of the Republican party. This occurred on July 6, 1854, at Jackson, Mich. Mrs. Gridley, then a child of 8, attended with her father.

HOFFMAN URGES HOUSE ACTION TO FOIL COAL CZAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] asked the house today whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or John L. Lewis is head of the nation.

C. E. Hoffman.

In a blistering attack upon the head of the C. I. O., Hoffman predicted a repetition of the Herrin massacre in Kentucky if Lewis insists upon his dictum that the soft coal mines in that state shall not be worked unless the miners belong to the United Mine Workers which Lewis controls.

Hoffman pointed out that Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky has called out the state troops in defiance of Lewis and stated that no one could tell the people of Kentucky when to work or not to work.

Question of Rights.

"The question now before this country is this," Hoffman told the house. "Are we to be governed by law, to exercise the rights guaranteed to us under our state and federal constitutions, or are we to submit to the demands of John L. Lewis?

"Stated in a different way, the question is this: Who is the head of this nation? Is it Franklin D. Roosevelt or is it John L. Lewis?

"The constitution guarantees to every man the right to work. The President is charged with the enforcement of the law which protects that right. John L. Lewis says that no man shall work until he has complied with the conditions laid down by him. Is the President, acting within and under the constitution and the laws of the land, supreme; or is John L. Lewis the man who from this day on will tell us what we may or may not do?"

Calls for Investigation.

Hoffman introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a congressional committee of five to inquire into the activities of Lewis in the coal mine troubles.

"It is evident," Hoffman declared, "that if Gov. Chandler insists that the citizens of Kentucky be free to exercise the rights guaranteed them by the federal constitution and if John L. Lewis persists in his determination that no man shall work in the mines of Kentucky until he has joined the United Mine Workers, there will be riots and bloodshed.

"The butchery of Herrin may well be repeated in Harlan county."

THE BIG ROUNDUP HAS STARTED

Stork Hands a Problem to Weather Man

OR

Are there more boy babies than girl babies in warm climates?

On May 8 Dr. William F. Petersen, professor of pathology at the University of Illinois college of medicine, expressed the theory that cold weather favors the birth of boys. Dr. Petersen announced his findings, based on statistics gathered in Chicago and Detroit, at the annual meeting of the Chicago Pathological society. He attributed them, he said, to the fact that women's basal metabolism swung to the acid side in cold weather. Conversely, he said, hot weather favored alkalinity and girl births.

What World Records Show.

Since his announcement some Chicago doctors have been studying a book published last year by Prof. Ellsworth Huntington, research geographer at Yale university. It is entitled "Season of Birth." In it the professor shows that over the world the number of male births regularly exceeds the number of female births, and that the proportion of boy births is greatest in hot climates.

For example, in rural Illinois 105.9 boys are born to every 100 girls, while in Alabama the ratio is 109.8 to 100. In Manitoba the records show 104.5 boys born to every 100 girls. In Europe the warm climates similarly favor male births. The British ratio is 104.2, the French, 104.5, the Spanish, 107.7, and the Greek, 108.1

Prof. Huntington also went into the subject of climatic seasonal variations and came to conclusions that were in general opposed to Dr. Petersen's.

Finds Autumn Is Boys' Time.

He did find that girls in large numbers were started on their prenatal careers in the warm months. But he discovered that the cold month babies—those born in the fall months—were more nearly equally divided between boys and girls than at any other time. The preponderance of boy births was greatest among the babies conceived in autumn.

Dr. Petersen said last night that he knew that some of his figures were greatly at variance with those of Prof. Huntington.

"It must be remembered," he said, "that only Chicago and Detroit entered into my calculations. My studies were strictly statistical. Perhaps there are many other factors that would cause changes on a larger scale of territory."

So the answer, if you insist on one, seems to be some distance away.

ON OPERATING TABLE, 2 LEAP OFF TO TEACH LOYALTY WITH FISTS

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—"If I could only get my hands on those two guys again," Charles Dixon and his son, Charles Jr., said to each other on their way to St. Vincent's hospital. They had been stabbed by two men who had made insulting remarks about the 16th Infantry uniform Charles Jr. wore.

Doctors were sewing up their wounds when two men came in for emergency treatment. Sighting the newcomers, the Dixons leaped from operating tables and began battling them. The new patients were the two men who had made the mistake of selecting the same hospital after fleeing from the fight.

Before the combatants finally were separated, the newcomers' wounds had been increased. The two, Dominick di Biasco and George Aarons, ex-convicts, were placed under arrest as well on charges of felonious assault. Infantryman Dixon and his father, a veteran of the A. E. F., marched from he hospital well satisfied.

U. S. WILL OUTFIT TAVERN FOR ITS HOUSING PROJECT

Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—[Special.]—The federal government will equip but not operate the bar and tavern in Greendale, the farm security administration housing project at Hales Corners. The government today asked for bids on a bar refrigeration equipment and other appliances for a tavern which is to be opened about June 30.

The government will own the tavern building and the fixtures, but the place will be operated by a private lessee from the Midland coöperative wholesale, which with the Greendale coöperative controls all the commercial enterprises in the project.

Snoozing Mate Wakens; Wife Halts Her Suit

The wife, Edna, 30 years old, had brought suit for divorce, charging cruelty. She told Judge Rudolph Desort that most of their troubles came from the fact that for no apparent reason and in some of the most unlikely places Deiley would suddenly pop off to sleep.

He could sleep anywhere, she said, and it was especially embarrassing for her when he dozed off as they played cards with the neighbors, pillowing his head on his arms and sleeping right in the middle of a hand.

Tells of Arguments.

She was naturally upset by his continual drowsiness, she told the court, and when she rebuked him for it there were arguments.

Judge Desort listened carefully to the testimony. When it was finished he said it sounded to him as if Deiley must have some physical ailment. He suggested that he have an examination and return in a month.

The month was up yesterday and Mr. and Mrs. Deiley returned to court, bringing with them their daughter, Donna, 3.

Judge Guesses Right.

Deiley told Judge Desort that the judicial guess had been a good one. A physician had found him suffering from a glandular disturbance, he said, and he had been taking treatments for the last month. During that time, he added, he had not slept except when he wanted to.

Deiley and his attorney, William T. McNeill, and Mrs. Deiley and her attorney, Harry X. Cole, conferred. They then asked Judge Desort to dismiss the divorce action. He did. The Deileys thanked him and left for their home at 386 Highview avenue, Elmhurst. Deiley looked wide awake indeed. Mrs. Deiley looked happy. And even Donna looked as though she might be able to stay awake right through her afternoon nap.

King's Envoy Tries Hand as Press Agent

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Sir Ronald Lindsay, P. C., G. C. M. G., K. C. B., C. V. O., ambassador extraordinary and envoy plenipotentiary of Great Britain to the United States, today turned press agent for their Britannic majesties. He has been concerned over the unfavorable advance notices on the American tour of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of England.

It was the first press conference for the ambassador in a long and distinguished career. He confessed he didn't know what to do at a press conference, but proved himself a clever diplomat by winning the sympathy of most of his audience. And as that was the objective, the conference was a success.

The ambassador acknowledged that the garden party at which 1,300 persons will eat strawberries and Devonshire cream and see the king and queen is causing him considerable uneasiness. Protests and supplications have been pouring in on the embassy from those who did not receive the gold engraved invitations.

Lord of a Heaven Unnamed.

Sir Ronald explained that only 1,300 persons could be invited because the garden won't hold any more.

Asked who was the lord of this particular heaven, who elected or condemned, Sir Ronald tactfully evaded the question. Lady Lindsay has taken on herself full responsibility for any omissions of the list, which was prepared after a careful combing of social registers and the congressional directory.

Press Must Keep Away.

Sir Ronald disclosed that the press will be kept away from the king during his visit to this country in June. He said there will be no press conference with the king or queen and turned down flatly a suggestion for a conference at which the king would talk briefly and no questions would be asked.

He explained that only one speech is scheduled for the king, a toast at the White House to which President Roosevelt is to respond. This speech is to be very brief.

It was made clear that the king is to be guarded against the press. The British have no intention of letting the American people know how a king's mind works by letting him face a barrage of pointed questions from reporters. The ban was put on speeches, it is believed, because the king stammers when excited and hasn't a good radio personality.

Confesses Trip's Purpose.

Sir Ronald frankly confessed that the purpose of the royal visit is to improve relations between the United States and Great Britain.

"There is no more political purpose to it than that," he said.

"And that's plenty," a reporter muttered.

Sir Ronald, somewhat deaf, did not hear the remark, or ignored it if he did. However, it is known he recommended the visit as a means of cultivating American good will and furthering the fron Britain is building against the Berlin-Rome-Tokio lineup.

FAMILY TREE SHOWS ROOSEVELT IS COUSIN OF KING, LONDON TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 19 [Friday].—A new note in the ballyhoo attending the British royal visit to America was sounded this morning by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express. It published a chart drawn up by the genealogist, P. W. Montagu-Smith, showing President Roosevelt to be a distant cousin of King George VI. of Great Britain.

Under the heading, "King Will Meet Cousin," the Express printed details of the family tree, tracing the President's descent back twenty-six generations through the centuries to William the Conqueror, which, it claimed, shows "an actual relationship between the President and King George."

Montagu-Smith's effort supplements the activities of the College of Heralds, which recently worked out that George Washington descended not only from King John but also from nine barons who signed the Magna Charta.

100 JEWS HURT AS POLICE CLUB MOB OF 5,000

Violence Grows Over British Policy.

JERUSALEM, May 18.—(AP)—More than 100 casualties were suffered tonight in terrific battles in the streets of Jerusalem between British police and Jewish youths. The Jews were rioting against Great Britain's new policy of setting up an independent Palestine under the control of the Arabs.

At least 100 Jewish youths, most of them between the ages of 10 and 16, were wounded. Police suffered several casualties. At least two officers were injured severely by revolver shots.

[Other dispatches from Jerusalem said a British constable was fatally wounded and that 135 Jews were injured.]

After the Jews had made an orderly demonstration march through the central streets of the city, 5,000 Jewish youths assembled in the early afternoon in front of the district commissioner's office to carry on their protest against Britain's policy.

Boo and Stone Police.

Booing police and throwing stones, they drew a baton charge by police. The crowd recoiled somewhat, then pressed forward hurling stones. The police were forced to give way in order to allow time to receive reinforcements.

Then wave after wave of police charged down Jaffa road with batons swinging here and there. The Jewish youths, refusing to give way, replied with stones or any objects they could seize.

For three hours the battle continued without a letup Then the police finally got the upper hand and broke the resistance. By 9:30 p. m. more than 100 Jewish injured had been counted. Many of the injuries were serious.

Forty Hurt in Tel Aviv.

In similar demonstrations at the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv at least forty persons received first aid hospital treatment in a number of clashes between Jewish youths and police. Twenty-five persons were injured in fighting there last night.

In the Jerusalem disorders an official of the Czecho-Slovak consulate was wounded seriously when he was attacked and stoned by a mob as he drove in his automobile near the district commissioner's office. Many shop windows were broken by the flying stones.

Police with full riot equipment were ordered into Jerusalem streets after a group of Jews adopted what the government termed a "hostile attitude."

Shake Fists at Officers.

This group, which the government charged consisted of "irresponsible Jewish elements," massed outside the offices of the district commissioner.

At the appearance of policemen wearing steel helmets and carrying shields, the demonstrators shook their fists and began throwing stones, but were dispersed.

The fighting climaxed a day which witnessed 175,000 Jews marching, singing, shouting, and carrying placards protesting the plan to put Palestine under Arab control and end the Jewish dream of a national home in the Holy Land.

Open Registration Stations.

Special registration stations were opened throughout the Holy Land for all able bodied Jewish men and women between 18 and 35 years, but Jewish leaders declined to discuss the potentialities of the registration.

Chief among the protest parades were demonstrations held in Jerusalem, where Jews estimated 40,000 took part, Haifa, and Tel Aviv.

Jews marched eight abreast behind the chief rabbi in Jerusalem, while Jewish youths booed the British and Arabs. Carrying placards or shouting slogans of protest, they paraded to an open space in the Jewish quarter, where selections from Isaiah were read to them.

A twenty-four hour protest strike by the Jewish population was in progress.

ENVOY FOR KING TRIES HIS HAND AS PRESS AGENT

ness suit at his conference. He did not dazzle reporters with his diplomatic uniform with its resplendent gold braid and glittering orders. Sir Ronald is a privy councilor, and holder of the orders of grand commander of St. Michael and St. George, knight commander of the Bath, and commander of the Royal Victorian order, the initials of which he tacks to his name.

Women Surprise Him.

He expressed surprise when several dozen women reporters entered his office for the conference.

"I say, I really didn't know any ladies were going to be here."

He rose to his 6 feet [illegible] inches and bowed. He posed patiently for photographers, although it was evident he didn't like it.

Sir Ronald answered all questions, even those that apparently hurt.

Asked if the king and queen would meet any average Americans, he replied, "There are an awful lot of them, you know." He explained that the royal visit was arranged primarily for Canada and that the plan for the dip into the United States by way of Niagara Falls was a natural outgrowth.

Now About that Curtsy——

Asked how Americans should behave when they meet the king, Sir Ronald dodged commitment on questions as to whether or not women should curtsy.

"I think men should conduct themselves as I do when I meet the President," he said.

"And how's that?" a reporter asked.

"I behave in a suitable and respectful manner," he retorted, and joined in the laughter. "And I certainly make him a bow, but if it comes from the waist or not I don't know."

History Explains a Point.

Asked why the king and queen are to meet members of congress in the rotunda of the capitol rather than in the house or senate chambers, Sir Ronald replied:

"We are a very peculiar country, England. One of our peculiarities is that the king may not visit parliament except under certain circumstances. That is the result of an incident that took place two or three hundred years ago. On the same sort of analogy, the king would hesitate to pay a visit to other parliaments in an official manner."

Sir Ronald referred to the descent of Charles I. on parliament with an armed force in 1641 to seize five members of the house of commons, his most dangerous opponents. The incident led to the establishment of the rule that the king cannot come to the parliament unless he is sent for.

As the conference ended, the ambassador smiled as though he had relieved himself of a heavy burden.

"I don't pretend to enjoy this," he said with a cough.

But They're Bearing Up Well, Thanks.

A survey yesterday indicated that none of Chicago's society leaders has received an invitation to the garden party that Lord and Lady Lindsay will give in Washington on June 8 for the king and queen of Great Britain.

All of the Chicagoans seemed to be standing up well under the slight, if such it could be called. One, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, wife of the president of the Chicago park district, said she would like to go. Others said they didn't mind a bit that Chicago had been overlooked in the passing out of the bids.

No Plums for a Republican.

Mrs. Arthur Meeker remarked that "no such plums" could be expected to come the way of a good Republican. Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul here, isn't going and the consulate doesn't know of a Chicagoan who is. Consul Bernays is ill in a hospital and Mrs. Bernays would go if she had one of the much coveted [in the east] invitations.

Among others who disclosed they had no bids are Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. A. Watson Armour, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, and Mrs. Jacob Baur, all of whom rank high in the social listings.

Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, who has two daughters married to Englishmen, hadn't expected an invitation. She knows that nearly all the 1,300 invitations were issued by request and were passed to the British embassy by the American department of state. Mrs. Bosworth's daughters, Mrs. Gordon Padley and Mrs. Trevor Stamp, reside in London.

Ira Morris Not on List.

Ira Nelson Morris, onetime minister to Sweden, isn't on the favored list, although it has been reported that 400 bids were sent out to persons not connected directly with Washington officialdom. Neither is Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, widow of the senator, nor Mrs. James M. Slattery, whose husband was appointed to Senator Lewis' place. Others without cards are Mrs. Scott W. Lucas, wife of the other Illinois senator, and the wives of all the Illinois congressmen.

Some former Chicagoans will attend the party. Among them are Mrs. Joseph Leiter, Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, wife of the Michigan senator [she is the former Hazel Whittaker]; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling, and Mme. Felipe Espil, wife of the ambassador from Argentina. Mme. Espil formerly was Courtney Letts Stillwell Borden.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, May 18.—The government today took action in the birth of a 5.96 pound boy to Lina Medina, an Indian girl who is reputed to be 5 years old. Minister of Justice José Felix Ceramburu instructed the prosecuting attorney for criminal cases in the Supreme court to take immediate action for rape against the person or persons, presumably unknown.

It was reported that the government is taking energetic measures to prevent public exploitation of the occurrence. Orders were issued to prevent taking photographs of both mother and child. The accuracy of the birth certificate of the mother, which was issued in a mountain parish, was questioned.

MAD SCRAMBLE ON FOR SQUINT AT ROYAL PAIR

New Yorkers Battling for Coveted Tickets.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—Now that their Britannic majesties are on the soil of the North American continent, New York City is the scene of a mad rush for tickets which will give local commoners a squint at the regal pair.

King George and Queen Elizabeth of England, if they follow their schedule, are expected to arrive in New York City on Saturday, June 10. Scrambling for the ringside are thirty-five British societies, various groups of Anglophiles and mental expatriates, and the thrill curious Manhattan public.

While plans still are in a nebulous state, local society arbiters are urging a presentation ceremony so the daughters of the bonton may be properly received. Something of this sort will take place at the British pavilion of the world's fair when the royal party visits there but it will be restricted to the most deserving.

Applications Pile Up.

E. I. Cleough, official of the British consulate general in charge of invitations, found the weeding out process was a gigantic problem because of the swelling list of applications. The harassed Mr. Cleough refused to reveal his method for separating the sheep from the goats.

From other sources it was learned the British embassy and consulate officials in charge of the show would reward the loyalty of the "hands-across-the-sea," groups which sponsor British policies even unto cancelation of the war debts to the United States. In the latter category are the English Speaking union, British Club of New York, and Daughters of the British Empire.

Whether court is held or not, the world's fair is counting on the presence of the royal couple on the grounds to give the faltering attendance a fillip. It will be a gala day for Grover Whalen, the exposition's fashion-plate president.

Charter Excursion Steamers.

It also will be a gala day for the British colony, which is a holding concern for the Anglo-American organizations in New York City, and the British empire chamber of commerce. They are jointly promoting a marine welcome of enormous proportions—at a cost of $2 a head.

Four river excursion steamers have been chartered to convoy the destroyer bearing the king and queen and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt from Sandy Hook, N. J., to New York City. The colony headquarters reported today that two additional vessels would have to be chartered because of the great demand for tickets.

More than 7,000 Anglo-Americans will be loaded into the excursion steamers on the morning of the 10th. British bands, including bagpipers, will unite in playing "God Save the King," after which the harbor will resound with three cheers for the royal visitors.

After that the program is hazy. It is understood that Mayor Fiorello La Guardia has been holding out for a visit to the city hall and a ticker tape parade through Wall street, but no decision has yet been reached. Noon luncheon will be served in the Roosevelt town house.

Next comes the visit to the fair. Men from Scotland Yard have been sleuthing about the exposition grounds for the last month and have mapped out the safest route for their sovereigns to follow. The exposition management is impatiently waiting for the state department in Washington to announce the plans so space along the route can be allotted. After circling about the surrealistic buildings the royal party will go to the British pavilion.

Sir Louis Beale, British commissioner at the fair, has a private garden surrounded by a high wall, but the plot is about the size of a night club dance floor. The rectangle of grass outside the pavilion isn't much larger than a putting green.

KING AND QUEEN ON BALCONY HEAR HYMN BY 100,000

Leave Montreal Banquet Twice to Please Crowd.

MONTREAL, Que., May 18.—(AP)—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain twice tonight were compelled to abandon the lavish banquet table prepared for them and appear on a balcony in response to chanted demands of 100,000 persons.

"We want the king," "We want the king," came the demand from the crowd packed in Dominion square facing the Windsor hotel.

Coffee had not been served when the king and queen first went out and gazed over the sea of persons singing, "God Save the King." A spotlight picked out the royal pair as they stood waving.

A shout thundered down the streets and was taken up by hundreds too far away to see. Many women and children in the throng fainted in the crush and had to be hurried away.

Guests at Civic Banquet.

The king and queen were guests at a civic dinner attended by both houses of the Canadian parliament, Montreal civic officials and prominent citizens.

Queen Elizabeth was gowned in a regal model of white and silver satin, embroidered with crystal beads and diamante and falling into a train. The king wore evening clothes. The eager conversation and laughter at the table indicated the couple enjoyed the company of Mayor Camillien Houde, known for his wit.

In Ottawa Until Sunday.

The king and queen will arrive in Ottawa at 10 a. m. for a stay until Sunday morning. They will be greeted at the station by Gov. Gen. and Lady Tweedsmuir, dominion ministers, members of parliament, Mayor J. Stanley Lewis of Ottawa and the officials' wives.

At 11:20 a. m., Daniel C. Roper, newly appointed American minister to Canada, will present his credentials directly to the king and afterward other diplomatic missions will be received. At 2 p. m. the king will give royal assent to legislation in the senate.

The press will be received at Rideau hall, the residence of the governor general, at 4:15 p. m. In the evening there will be a state dinner in the hall.

1,000,000 Cheer Sovereigns.

For ten crowded hours the king and queen were fêted today by Canada's greatest metropolis. Montreal massed 1,000,000 cheering and flag waving people to greet the smiling royal pair.

Ticker tape floating through the air gave a New York touch to their Canadian tour as the parade of royal cars passed the Place d'Armes on their 23 mile route through the city.

At one great stadium 85,000 French-speaking school children of the second largest French-speaking city in the world, sang "God Save the King." At another stadium 15,000 English-speaking children paid similar tribute to the king and queen. At the city hall they signed the Golden Book of Visitors.

Indians Salute Monarch.

At another point on the long drive Indians in full feathered regalia saluted their monarch with arms extended.

In ordinary workaday life, many of these Montreal Indians, the Caughnawagas, are steel workers who find employment on bridges and skyscrapers the world over.

War veterans were massed at points of vantage, children were arranged in roped arenas—some of them tagged for the convenience of their parents in finding them later—and the run of humanity filled windows, balconies, tree tops, and crowded against lines of police into the street.

In the course of their tour the king and queen rode up the winding wooded lanes to the top of Mount Royal. After viewing the scene the royal couple moved into the chalet where twenty-nine teen aged daughters of aldermen and civic officials served tea.

Arrive at Outlying Station.

The king and queen arrived not in the heart of Montreal, at the huge Windsor station, but at Jean Talon station in an outlying suburb where thousands of Canadians had an open view of the ceremonial of the meeting of royalty and officialdom.

Queen Elizabeth, fresh and smiling, was just inside the door of the observation car platform when the train stopped. She was dressed in a robin's egg blue costume with cloak and hat to match, gray slippers over a darker shade of sheer stockings, a double strand of pearls and white fox fur piece.

She showed no indication of fatigue after yesterday's strenuous program at Quebec, nor did the king who stood just behind her in the informal uniform of a British admiral. He wore a white duck cap, like a yachting cap.

Cannons were booming, and "God Save the King" from the regimental band of the Canadian hussars brought every person within sight and sound to stiff attention.

Inspect Black Watch.

Smartly the king strode in company of Capt. S. S. T. Cantlie of the Canadian Black Watch, and Capt. J. A. Leclair of the Fusilliers, for the guard inspection.

A few moments later, when Capt. Cantlie was presented to Queen Elizabeth, she talked to him several minutes about the kilted troop of men who stood tall and rugged like the Black Watch regiment of her native Scotland. Queen Elizabeth is an honorary colonel of the Canadian Black Watch.

The king and queen left Quebec at 8:32 a. m. [Chicago time] this morning, and with but one 17 minute stop at Three Rivers, arrived here at 1:15 p. m.

Fifty thousand people jammed the station and vicinity at Three Rivers to cheer and watch the mayor and local councilors be presented.

Eliminating Glare

Natchitoches, La., May 18. — [Special.]—David Scott, a student at Louisiana State Normal college here, has developed a new type eyeshade which works on the principle of the lens shade of a camera. The new shade is said to reduce harmful light rays 30 to 40 per cent and end glare without interfering with vision.

Premier's Office Made Into Dining Room for Quints

TORONTO, May 18.—[Canadian Press.]—The office of Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario in the Legislative building has been converted into a combined dining room and kitchen for the Dionne quintuplets who will be presented Monday to the British king and queen on their visit to Toronto. An electric refrigerator has been installed to keep fresh food. The quints will arrive in a special train.

O'KELLY ARRIVES TODAY TO OPEN IRISH CONGRESS

Plan Official Welcome for De Valera's Deputy.

Sean T. O'Kelly, deputy prime minister of Ireland, will arrive in Chicago this morning to open the first International Irish congress. O'Kelly is coming to the congress as the personal representative of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera of Ireland. De Valera recently canceled a proposed American tour because of uneasiness over the European situation. The tour would have included a visit to the Chicago meeting.

A thousand delegates of Irish descent from thirty-eight states and Canada are expected to attend meetings of the congress in the Morrison hotel. Several hundred arrived yesterday. The congress, opening today under the joint auspices of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic and the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will consider Irish-American and other problems. The congress will close Monday.

Official Greeting Planned.

O'Kelly will arrive at the Union station at 9:30 a. m aboard the Liberty Limited from Washington. His party will include J. J. Aherne of Dublin, legal adviser of external affairs in Ireland, and Miss Kathleen O'Connell, a former Chicago woman who now is private secretary to Prime Minister De Valera.

Delegates to the congress and prominent Chicagoans of Irish descent will meet O'Kelly at the station and escort him to the city hall where Ald. James Bowler and other city officials will be waiting to greet him. Mayor Kelly is out of the city.

Clare Gerald Fenerty of Philadelphia, one of the country's leading Irish-Americans, will deliver the keynote address at the congress sessions tonight. At the Sunday afternoon session O'Kelly will read to the delegates a special message from Prime Minister De Valera.

Banquet to Be Held Sunday Night.

Judge Michael L. Igoe of the United States District court will be toastmaster at a banquet in O'Kelly's honor Sunday night in the Morrison hotel. Mayor Kelly is expected to return to Chicago in time to attend the banquet.

Illinois delegates at the convention include Bishop J. A. Griffin of Springfield, Msgr. M. J. Foley of Quincy, and Msgr. W. F. Cahill, Miss Anna Martell, M. A. Sullivan, and Gael Sullivan, all of Chicago.

POLAND DROPS HINT OF PEACE; NAZIS STUDY IT

Warsaw Paper Asks for Reasonable Solution.

BERLIN, May 18.—(AP)—A conciliatory gesture from Warsaw gave rise to hope tonight that the long quarrel between Poland and Germany might be adjusted by peaceful negotiation.

This hope for ending the dispute over Germany's demand for the return of the Free City of Danzig and a right of way across Pomorze [the Polish corridor] was based on the comment of the official Gazeta Polska that a reasonable settlement should be possible.

Informed Germans, however, were not unreservedly optimistic. Officials examined the Polish statement with interest, but remarked that Warsaw's conciliatory words were not yet backed by substantial suggestions of what a reasonable settlement would be.

Says War Never Mentioned.

"The reasonable settlement for which Poland now is grasping is exactly what Germany has been wanting all along," said a propaganda ministry spokesman.

"It is to be emphasized that Reichsfuehrer Hitler in all his discussions of the Polish problem never mentioned the word war."

Today's gesture in Gazeta Polska came in a lengthy article replying to recent writings by Germany's minister of propaganda, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, in the Voelkischer Beobachter. The Gazeta Polska said:

"We repeat the words of Goebbels that the atmosphere between Berlin and Warsaw is not good. But is it going to remain so permanently?

"Because it is often repeated in Germany that military conflicts in Europe do not profit any one, because even victory costs too much, the bad relations between Poland and Germany should be a temporary thing and a reasonable settlement of Polish-German neighborly relations should not be impossible.

Hints at Common View.

"The articles of Goebbels seem to indicate that such a point of view is also recognized on the other side of the frontier. Should a new arrangement be concluded, it should take into consideration the interests of both sides. Only such a solution will be permanent and will not cause new unrest which may become more dangerous than that of the present moment."

Reports persisted in Berlin today that Hitler, completing his inspection of fortifications along the western frontier, next week would go to the Polish border to examine eastern defenses.

Japan Cares for Children Orphaned by Earthquake

TOKIO, May 18.—Hundreds of children, orphaned by an earthquake that destroyed 1,500 homes in Akita on May 1, were being cared for today by welfare groups. The youngsters, some of them injured, were rounded up by rescue parties after the quake levelled a wide area of the northern town of 60,000 and killed many persons.

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—A new coin-operated mail box which weighs letters, stamps them, and drops them into a depository for collection, was available to the public here today. The machine, called a "mailomat," was put into test service in the lobby of the New York City general postoffice. When a letter is placed in a designated slot and a dial twisted, the amount of postage required for the letter's weight is registered on a meter. After the insertion of the proper amount of coins, the letter is placed in the mailing slot where it is stamped and dropped into a container for collection. Elimination of the cancelling process expedites the letter to its destination.

WE OWN LOST COLONIES NOW, NAZIS ARE TOLD

Von Epp Says 80 Million Back Hitler Drive.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, May 18.—"Germany today counts her colonies as her own property," Gen. Franz Ritter von Epp, national leader of the German colonial league, said today. He made the declaration while addressing a massed demonstration on Heroes square in Vienna. The demonstration marked the conclusion of the national colonial congress.

Gen. Franz Ritter von Epp.

Gen. von Epp denounced the mandate system and described it as "a permanent slander of the German nation and a defeat which cannot be borne forever." Von Epp assured his 22,000 hearers, however, that this was a matter for Reichsfuehrer Hitler to settle. He said, "We have supreme confidence that in his incomparably skilful hands the question will find a good solution."

80 Million Back Demands.

The 80 million people of greater Germany, von Epp added, backed Hitler's demands. He described the present holders of the colonies as "a group of powers who, as lords of the unpopulated spaces, opposed the restoration of a natural balance and the attainment of peaceful conditions. They believe they can counter the natural pressure of populations with encirclement."

He significantly concluded that Germany no longer stood alone but that her demands for the return of her colonies also were supported now by Fascist Italy, with whom Germany is linked through alliance and friendship.

Nazis Support Bulgaria.

BUDAPEST, May 18.—(AP)—German attention to Bulgaria's territorial claims on Rumania and Greece, as disclosed by Berlin's minister to Bulgaria, has become a factor in the rivalry of the great powers for control of the Balkans.

A wave of anti-Rumanian demonstrations continued throughout Bulgaria following yesterday's statement by the German minister, Baron Herbert von Richthofen: "We are always thinking of Bulgaria's revisionist claims."

[Bulgaria gained territory from Turkey but lost to Rumania, Serbia, and Greece in the Balkan wars of 1912 and 1913, and therefore sided with the central powers in the world war. In the second conflict she occupied Rumanian and Serbian territory only to have gains of both wars stripped from her by the world war treaty of Neuilly.]

Von Richthofen made the statement after talking at the Sofia railroad station with Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, who was en route home from Ankara for what he said was a two week vacation.

LOST AVIATOR'S TWO BROTHERS CLING TO HOPES

Andrew and Gust Beck worked hard at their painting and decorating jobs on the north side yesterday. But they couldn't shake off the fear they felt for the safety of their brother, Charles Backman, the Swedish-born Chicago aviator, who has been unreported since he took off early Tuesday on an attempted solo flight from Newfoundland to Stockholm, Sweden.

"We know that Charles is down somewhere on the ocean," said Gust, who lives with Andrew at 4943 Kenmore avenue. "But we try not to believe it. We hope that he may have been picked up by a ship, maybe one without a radio."

Gust explained that Charles changed his name to Backman when he came to the United States from Sweden years ago.

Early yesterday Miss Letitia Lentz, 23 years old, 6557 North Seeley avenue, the aviator's sweetheart, hurried to St. George's Catholic church to pray for the safety of Backman.

PALESTINE POLICE BATTLE JEWS AS DISORDERS GROW

cated completed solidarity of all Jewish parties in emphatic rejection of the British plan, announced yesterday in a white paper.

Arabs were quiet and the local Arab press refrained from editorial comment. Many Arabs refused to pass through Jewish quarters. Some Arab municipal workers in Jerusalem and Haifa failed to report for work. They said they feared violence if they attempted to go about their duties.

Arab States Reject Plan.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 18.—(AP)—Premier Mohammed Mahmoud Pasha declared today the governments of Arab states neighboring Palestine were unable to recommend to Palestinian Arabs the acceptance of Great Britain's new plan for the Holy Land.

He explained in a statement this was due to Britain's failure to accept demands submitted by the Arab governments.

British Labor Opposes Plan.

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Laborites and some Conservatives will oppose the government's new Palestine policy when the house of commons is asked to approve the plan next Monday at the beginning of a two-day debate.

A Labor amendment to the government motion for approval was prepared today. It characterized the plan for an independent Palestine under Arab control as "inconsistent with the letter and spirit of the mandate" of the league of nations under which Britain holds the Holy Land.

It advised an examination of the British proposals, announced yesterday in a white paper, by the league's permanent mandates commission before parliament is committed to them.

It was expected some Conservatives would move a similar amendment.

Fear Action by Jews.

The parliamentary committee in a meeting to consider the new policy was believed to have expressed a fear that noncoöperation of Jews would delay indefinitly the British plan.

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish agency of Palestine, after telling the all-party parliamentary meeting that the proposals were unacceptable to the Jews, addressed a crowded meeting of Jews in a London hall.

Dr. Weizmann said the government's new policy, as set out in the white paper, would end in a breakdown under "the sheer weight of its injustice."

V. Jabotinsky, president of the militant new Zionist organization, declared in a statement that Jews would use all means—not excluding force—to insure that Palestine "would not be robbed from them," and that it would remain open to millions compelled to make their way out of the "European hell."

Jabotinsky declared the government's action "a flagrant breach of the war-time promise to the Jewish people" and added:

"It means in plain terms that Britain now tears up her promise and proposes to hand over the Jews to the mercy of Arabs whom she herself has described in official documents during the last three years as 'bandits and murderers.'"

SAY BRITAIN BLUNDERED

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

While Zionist and other Jewish leaders of Chicago were divided in their opinions as to what the Jews should do as result of present anti-British demonstrations in Palestine, yet virtually all agreed that British statesmanship had blundered again.

Dr. Solomon Goldman, president of the Zionist Organization of America, was reached in the Capitol Limited arriving in Chicago from Washington, D. C., this morning. He made public a militant message urging Jews to defy England. Citing approval of former Justice Louis D. Brandeis, Dr. Goldman said Great Britain lacked authority either to obliterate Jewish rights in Palestine or to set up an Arab dominated state in Palestine.

Says Entry Will Continue.

"What does the world propose to do with the Jews for whom exile is enforced?" Goldman's statement asked. "Unless civilization has so reverted to primitivism as to wish the destruction of homeless Jews, it must encourage the proved medium to solve in great measure the problem of Jewish homelessness.

"Disinterested experts have proved that Palestine is equipped to absorb 100,000 Jews a year. On the basis of legal right, which Great Britain with the sanction of the world established, and of the pressing need, Jews will continue to enter Palestine, assured of the confident support of the Jewish people that they will build in Palestine a land beneficial to all its inhabitants."

William M. Katz, president of the Chicago Zionist organization, declared the Zionist movement would go forward despite the action of the British government. He announced that a mass meeting of protest against Britain's action will be held at the Auditorium theater Sunday afternoon. Rabbi Goldman will be the principal speaker.

AXIS POWERS TO OFFER ARMED AID TO JUGO-SLAVIA

Italian Envoy to Discuss Deal with Hitler.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 18.—Details of the verbal agreement reached between the Jugo-Slav regent, Prince Paul, and Premier Mussolini for closer relations between Jugo-Slavia and the axis powers will be discussed in Berlin next week between Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Reichsfuehrer Hitler, it was learned here today.

This information, from a high Jugo-Slav diplomatic source, confirms the news reported by THE TRIBUNE yesterday that the Jugo-Slav government was ready to sign bilateral nonaggression pacts with each of the three axis powers, Germany, Italy, and Hungary.

The axis, in return, is prepared to guarantee Jugo-Slav sovereignty and offer military assistance should it be attacked.

Balkan Entente Broken.

The Belgrade foreign office, is silent about the existence of this agreement, but sources close to the office admit that "friendship between Jugo-Slavia and the axis may be expected to become very close."

It also was admitted that in fact the Balkan entente no longer exists despite the conference of the economic council of the Balkan entente which opened today in Bucharest, Rumania.

Jugo-Slav political circles declare their country is not at fault in the destruction of the entente, which grouped Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Greece, and Turkey. They argue that Turkey violated the entente agreement of 1934 when it made a military pact with Great Britain.

Claim Agreement Violated.

Regulations of the Balkan entente provide that each member must consult the other three when it desires to make an important agreement with another power. This, it is said, Turkey failed to do. Rumania and Greece also accepted military guarantees from France and England, leaving Jugo-Slavia—according to the argument put forward here—the only entente power which had not violated the agreement.

Under the circumstances, it was only natural, one Jugo-Slav diplomat said, that Belgrade should turn toward her powerful totalitarian neighbors so as not to be left alone in such precarious times.

The floods followed a series of devastating storms which struck the island during the last few days. Hundreds of flimsy native homes were swept to destruction by the water.

Crops in the stricken areas were reported entirely destroyed and many cattle perished. The damage will amount to more than a million dollars, it was believed.

DR. HANFSTAENGL DENIES IMMORAL TIES WITH HITLER

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Dr. Ernst [Putzi] Hanfstaengl, once Adolf Hitler's foreign press chief, testified today there was "not the slightest" foundation for any suggestion of improper moral relations in his association with the Fuehrer.

He gave his evidence in a libel suit against Selfridge & Co., Ltd., London department store. He charged the company with selling a New York magazine containing an article reflecting on his personal relations with Hitler. Hanfstaengl, who was educated at Harvard university, said his friendship with Hitler ended in 1934.

G. D. Roberts, attorney for Selfridge's, charged that the suit was "provoked by himself [Hanfstaengl] solely to make money."

A FIRST FAMILY OF CANDLEDOM

By CALEB

SUCH are the Ajellos, headquartered in their quaint sunlit studio on a Harlem sidestreet, overshadowed by the giant spans of New York's Triborough Bridge. Eight sons and six daughters, directed by 78-year-old Antonino Ajello, who followed his own renowned candle-making father to America in 1872. One of the most unique of households, dedicated to one of the most unique of arts.

For with the Ajellos, wax-sculpture is no machine-molding affair, but a handcraft, where original designs, and special painting, scenting and hand-finishing, round out the use of secret formulas, laborious pouring and dipping, and wax from bees that were brought to New York as descendants of the selfsame swarms kept by Raffaele Ajello, originator of the business in Sorrento, Italy, in 1772.

To the Ajello candleshops have come celebrities, and famous commissions to be executed, from every corner of the globe. Examples of their skill have illumined libraries, shrines, altars and biers, private banquets and state dinners, coronations and weddings, with thousands of patterns, each appropriate to its occasion. At the marriage of Princess Juliana of Holland—orange-blossom-scented candles, adorned with lilies of the valley. For Pavlova, fragile tapers set in a charming wax swan base. For Mussolini, ornate creations bearing his coat of arms and the Fascist symbol. For the Duke of Windsor, ivory-colored affairs to match his favorite brass candlesticks dating from Charles I. . . .

Candles for Queen Marie, for Toscanini, for Eleonora Duse, and for the six most recent Presidents of the United States. Candles for the Lindbergh-Morrow wedding—candles for royalty and finance and industry and statesmanship. All are a part of the routine Ajello tradition, reinforced by an enormous family Bible of famous patrons' signatures carrying more than 28,000 names. But the peak triumph, to which they point with pride, is the gigantic masterpiece wrought as a memorial to their friend, Enrico Caruso. This world's largest candle is eighteen feet high, tapering to a sixteen-inch tip, weighs a ton, and required six months to finish!

In our own selection of Ajello handiwork—shapes of tinted symmetry, scented with sweet pea, apple blossom, lily of the valley, and similar odors—is it any wonder that visitors to our Wabash second floor are beguiled with the thought of rooms rich with such mingled candlelight and perfume?

SENATE PASSES NAVAL MEASURE OF 773 MILLION

Amount Peace Time High for Nation.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—By a vote of 61 to 14, the senate today passed a 773 million dollar naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1940, setting a new peace time record. The bill contains funds to begin construction of twenty-three new warships, to continue work on 121 vessels previously appropriated for, and to acquire 500 additional fighting planes. The bill now goes back to the house for consideration of minor senate amendments.

The bill carried a provision to bar purchase from other countries of food products which are produced in the United States. This was a rebuff for the President, who last week ordered the navy to purchase 48,000 pounds of Argentine corned beef.

The only controversy on the senate floor related to an item of $1,500,000 to initiate construction of two 45,000 ton superbattleships, which will be the largest in the world. Their estimated final cost is $93,000,000 each.

Opposes Superships.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] sought unsuccessfully to limit the battleship size to 35,000 tons on the ground that there is no credible information indicating that any other nation is exceeding this limit. He said the United States, by building 45,000 ton ships, would be responsible for starting a competition in superdreadnaughts that would render obsolete all other capital ships in the fleet.

Senator Vandenberg recalled the controversy a year ago when the billion dollar naval expansion bill authorized 45,000 ton battleships. The excuse then, he said, was a report in some Italian newspaper, officially denied, that Japan was exceeding 35,000 tons.

No Specific Information.

When informed by Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, that Great Britain was building battleships in excess of 35,000 tons Senator Vandenberg remarked:

"As I understand it, then, we still have no specific information regarding the Japanese situation, but we are asked to embark on a 45,000 ton battleship program not on account of Japan, but because we find that the so-called democracy of Great Britain is engaged in building such ships."

In response to a question by Senator Vandenberg, Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], manager of the bill for the appropriations committee, admitted that even the British superbattleships were only 42,000 tons.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] charged that the 35,000 ton limit was being exceeded as the result of an understanding with Great Britain.

"I think we are entitled to the real facts about this matter," he said. "When the facts are known it will be found that Japan is not building this size battleship, that the building program started with Great Britain, and that it was started after an understanding with this government."

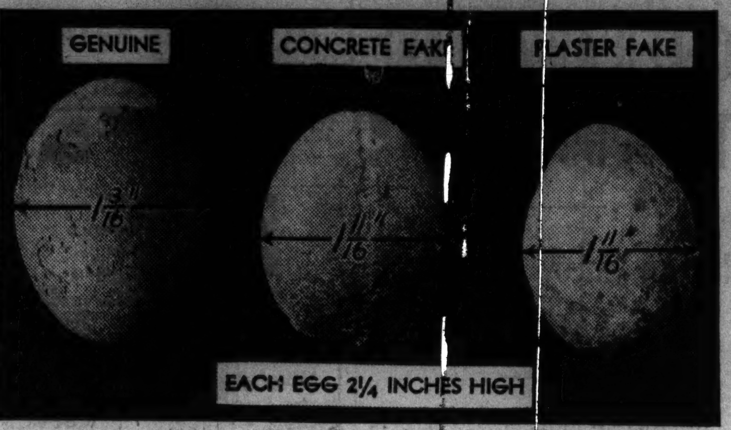
What Bill Provides.

The navy bill carries 254 million dollars for new ship construction, but of this amount only $10,590,000 is for the beginning of construction of twenty-three vessels, including the two battleships, two cruisers, eight destroyers, eight submarines, two seaplane tenders, and one repair ship.

The estimated cost of the twenty-three ships is $369,606,000. With 121 ships already building, the naval construction expenditure curve is estimated at 254 million for 1940, 370 million for 1941, 271 million for 1942, 174 million for 1943, 108 million for 1944, 62 million for 1945, and 21 million for 1946.

The bill contains $51,847,000 for 500 new naval planes. With the delivery of this number the navy will be in possession of 2,132 first line planes. The authorized strength under the 1938 expansion act is 3,000 planes.

Not All Eggs Are Eggs



Comparison of genuine ossified egg with objects found in concrete mixer in De Kalb county. These were first believed to be ossified.
[Field Museum of Natural History Photo.]

One Common Aspect

Last week Orvis Schroyer, working on the Clyde Huber farm, northwest of Kingston in De Kalb county, noticed unorthodox behavior in his concrete mixer. Odd objects kept bobbing to the top while the mixer was being moved about on the farm.

He looked at the objects. They looked like ossified eggs. The news got all around. Some folk supposed they were fossils from prehistoric ages. The news finally reached E. S. Riggs, curator, and Bryan Patterson, assistant curator, of the Field museum.

Mr. Riggs and Mr. Patterson went out to De Kalb county two days ago. They found the eggs already held as souvenirs in several homes, and also found another still on the Huber farm. One look, and they were skeptical. Yesterday they put two of the specimens through chemical tests. One was found to be made of fine plaster and the other of cement. But both had one common aspect. They were fakes.

MADRID ORDERS RATION CARDS TO CONSERVE FOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 18.—Ration cards for foodstuffs were provided for in a decree published today to combat hoarding, the food shortage and profiteering.

The decree did not specify which foods were to be rationed first. However, it established, [1] that the ministry of commerce and industry has the power to order ration cards for any food and to decide what proportion to ration to each adult or child and, [2] that each family is to get two ration cards, one for meats and the other for other foodstuffs.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. STARTS A BOOM FOR VANDENBERG

Lansing, Mich., May 18.—[Special.]—A definite movement to draft Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg for President was launched at the capitol today. Gov. Luren D. Dickinson and other Republican elective officers issued a statement urging that the Grand Rapids senator be chosen as the party's 1940 standard bearer.

The declaration, signed also by Senator Felix H. H. Flynn [R., Cadillac], president pro tem of the senate, and Representative Howard Nugent [R., Bad Axe], speaker of the house, expressed the group's "united and unanimous belief that the Michigan senior senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg, should be drafted for the next Republican presidential nomination."

The avowal would commit the state Republican organization to Vandenberg over Thomas E. Dewey, New York's Michigan born district attorney.

DOCTOR'S SON, 10, DIES AFTER FALL WHILE AT PLAY

James Phelan, 10 years old, son of Dr. Thomas F. Phelan, 3120 North Cicero avenue, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital of internal injuries suffered last Tuesday. Police said the boy fell when he tried to jump from one concrete parapet to another at the basement stairway of his home. An operation was performed at the hospital, where Dr. Phelan is a staff member. Internal hemorrhages developed, however, resulting in death.

SENATORS AGAST AT FOREIGN MEAT IN THEIR CAFE

Revelation Stirs Action to Stop Practice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Western senators learned today that imported corned beef is being sold in the senate restaurant. The discovery, coupled with the suspicion that some of the senators had eaten it for lunch, spoiled a victory celebration over the Argentine beef prohibtion which the senate voted today.

Without a single protest, the senate approved a provision in the naval appropriations bill prohibiting the purchase for the navy of any foreign food product which also is produced in the United States. The action came after President Roosevelt last week ordered the navy to purchase 48,000 pounds of Argentine canned beef.

Democrat Asks Inquiry.

Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, introduced a resolution to investigate the purchase of meat products by the army, the navy, and the coast guard.

Senator George Norris [Radical, Neb.] suggested that he add the senate to his resolution, pointing out that corned beef from Brazil is sold in the senate restaurant.

This aroused Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], who demanded to know by what authority this is done.

"The rules committee has charge of the restaurant and the senator from Illinois is a member," said Senator James C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.].

Senator Lucas protested that he was a new member and that the committee had not met since he was assigned to it. He went on to explain that he had a superior cut of corned beef for lunch.

"Was it hot or cold?" asked Senator O'Mahoney.

"Hot," said Senator Lucas.

"Brazil" Label on Can.

"Then it was not canned," O'Mahoney replied. "The canned corned beef is served cold unless you get it in corned beef hash."

"But they have it in cans and it comes from Brazil," said Senator Norris.

He then dispatched to the senate restaurant a page who returned with a large can. It was packed by Armour & Co., but the label bore the legend "Product of Brazil."

"Perhaps the President feels that if it's good enough for the senators, it's good enough for the navy," said Senator Lucas.

It was announced that the rules committee would take appropriate action at once on the restaurant's imported meat.

YOUTH TOPPLES OFF SURFBOARD; DROWNS DURING LAKE OUTING

Dan Maloney, 5718 Melrose street, a junior at St. George's High school, Evanston, drowned yesterday when he fell from a surfboard while picnicking at Crystal lake. The youth and some friends were at the lake at the same time as a chaperoned party from the high school, but were not part of the group.

Maloney and two friends borrowed the boat and surfboard. The two in the boat told the owner they could swim. Maloney, however, was unable to do so. He fell from the board shortly after it started. One of his companions, recently recovered from a surgical operation, reached him but was unable to hold on. The two, with others from the chaperoned party, dove in vain for the body.

Late in the day efforts of the Crystal Lake fire department to recover it also had been in vain.

MEYER TO KEEP HOSPITAL POST ANOTHER YEAR

Dr. Karl A. Meyer will remain as medical superintendent of Cook County hospital at least until 1940. This decision was made yesterday by the hospital committee of the county board, which voted to accept for study the recommendation made by the citizens' advisory council that Dr. Meyer be made medical superintendent of all county institutions and that a full time, civil service medical director be appointed in his place at the hospital.

The fact that Dr. Meyer divided his attention between the hospital and his private practice is regarded as one of the chief reasons why the American Medical association has refused to reinstate the County hospital on the list of hospitals approved for the training of interns.

Clayton Smith, president of the county board, spoke favorably of the citizens' council's recommendation.

"But," said Smith, "we are now in the middle of a fiscal year and such a change must be considered as part of our budget. These things [the committee's recommendations] can only be carried out as we move forward."

FIGHT ON JEWS BY GEN. MOSELEY REVEALED BY DIES

Finds Retired Officer Joins Organized Drive.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the house committee on un-American activities announced tonight that his committee had evidence to show that a well organized anti-Semitic campaign had developed in the United States, and that it had attracted the support of Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, retired.

Dies, whose committee had taken testimony in a session today which was surrounded with extraordinary secrecy, made public a letter which he said Moseley, former 5th corps area commander in the army, had written to a New York National Guard officer.

Quotes from Moseley Letter.

The letter, which Dies announced was part of his committee's record, said in part:

"The fact is that the most serious problem confronting America today is just this problem of the Jew and how to get rid of his influence definitly—locally, nationally, and internationally."

Another letter, alleged to have been written by Moseley to a reserve army captain, said:

"If the Jews bump me off be sure to see that they get the credit for it from coast to coast. It will help our cause."

Committee members declared that the campaign took the form of mailing, to army reserve officers and American Legion officials, reports of conversations reputed to have taken place in an exclusive New York club.

Predict Fleet Movement.

The conversations, it was said, consisted in part of predictions of events which later came to pass, such as the movement of the American fleet from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and into them, Dies said, was woven anti-Semitic material.

Dies remarked:

"This is one of the most clever and dangerous methods that can be devised because in predicting some events that did come to pass they gave plausibility to statements that followed."

The chairman, who did most of the talking for the committee, said that Dudley P. Gilbert, wealthy New Yorker, had spent more than $8,000 to finance dissemination of reports of conversations in the New York club, which was not identified.

Sends Confidential Report.

The committee said it learned that Gilbert sent these "confidential reports" to James Erwin Campbell, 42 years old, reserve army captain, at Owensboro, Ky., who in turn disseminated the reports to a list of "key people" throughout the country.

Campbell testified, Dies said, that he sent the reports to forty persons. Committee investigators reported that he sent Moseley's speeches over the country, as well as addresses by Father Charles Coughlin, Detroit priest, to a mailing list of about 200.

Dies said that "in all fairness to Gilbert" he should report that Gilbert had testified that he was not anti-Semitic and denied that he was interested in "stirring up racial hatred."

The Texan said the New Yorker expressed a "sincere" belief that a revolution might occur in this country and that he thought he was "rendering a patriotic service." Gilbert has "no use for Germany or Italy," Dies added.

Salesman Robbed in Iowa of $30,000 in Diamonds

Glenwood, Ia., May 18.—(AP)—Joe H. Jacobson, New York salesman, reported to the sherif's office here tonight he was robbed of diamonds valued at $30,000 by four men who stopped his car at a highway intersection near here. The men, Jacobson said, drew guns and forced him to hand over the diamonds.

Gets Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

MRS. HELEN BISSELL.

Mrs. Helen Bissell, 29 years old, 1911 South Kedzie avenue, yesterday was granted a divorce from her husband, John, 31, on grounds of cruelty. She told Circuit Judge Stanley Klarkowski that on one occasion her husband, a clerk, came home intoxicated and split her lip, blacked her eye, and locked her in a clothes closet.

Mrs. Bissell was granted custody of a daughter, Gloria, 5, and Bissell was ordered to pay $10 a month for her care. Bissell was given custody of two antique revolvers over his wife's protests. He said they were heirlooms from his father, a former United States marshal in Kansas. She said he had threatened to shoot her.

JAPANESE PATROL QUITS STREETS OF CHINESE ISLAND

U. S., British, French Forces Cow Invader.

AMOY, China, May 18.—(AP)—Outnumbered exactly three to one by combined American, British, and French forces, a Japanese landing party in Kulangsu, Amoy's international settlement, tonight further restricted its activities.

The forty-two Japanese bluejackets were concentrated at the Japanese hospital in Kulangsu. They had ceased attempting to patrol streets of the island in Amoy harbor. Their search for the slayers of Hung Lih-son, whose assassination was given as the reason for the landing in Kulangsu last Friday, was pursued quietly.

French Marines Land.

Forty-two French marines were landed today from the cruiser Emile Bertin to join parties of the same number of American and British sailors from the cruisers Marblehead and Birmingham. The Americans and British were put ashore on Kulangsu yesterday.

American, British, and French naval officers said their parties would remain indefinitly for the protection of their nationals' interests.

SALE OF HEARST FURNITURE, ART BRINGS $53,800

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Sale of English furniture and art objects in the collection of W. R. Hearst, an American publisher, realized about $53,800 today.

An unidentified buyer at Christie's paid $10,800 for the highest priced lot in the sale. It included two settees and six chairs of King George I. furniture. A William and Mary walnut and marquetry suite, once owned by Viscount Leverhulme of New York, was sold for $3,300.

MEXICANS ENJOY LOTTERIES AND SO DO PICKPOCKETS

Rich and Poor Cram Into Palace for Drawings.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY.—[By Mail.]—All gambling except the national lottery is outlawed in Mexico, a chance taking country. Consequently the lottery has a tremendous patronage.

To a visitor walking in the streets it seems that every man, woman, and child is out peddling lottery tickets or chances. Whole tickets sell for 200 pesos [$40], but a person may buy a participating interest in a chance for less. Of the money taken in, 8 per cent goes to the sellers, 8 per cent to charity, 4 per cent to the government, and 80 per cent to prizes.

First Prize $200,000.

Weekly drawings disburse prizes of about 2,500 pesos, but the big stake drawings have a first prize of 1,000,000 pesos [$200,000]. There are two 100,000 peso prizes, four of 50,000, four of 20,000, four of 10,000, and many of 1,000 pesos.

The defeat of a French expedition in 1862 gave Mexico an excuse for a holiday and the holiday now is the occasion for a lottery field day.

Music Precedes Drawings.

A crowd gathers long before the doors open at 8 p. m. Then the seats and standing room fill quickly with men in overalls, urchins in rags, babes in arms, and women in evening clothes. All are dignified and quiet. An orchestra plays until the drawings begin at 9 o'clock. The two and a half hours of the drawings is interrupted every 15 minutes or so by acts such as soprano solos, guitar players, dancing girls, and even a hand waving speaker.

The apparatus for the drawings is placed near the front of the stage. In the rear are judges, clerks, other officials, policemen and pageboys. The apparatus consists of a coffin-like gold wire basket which holds all the numbers that have been sold, each enclosed in a tiny ball; a gold mesh globe three feet in diameter and then another smaller globe.

The basket is elevated. A tube which looks like an elephant's trunk leads to the big globe. Another tube from the large globe leads to the smaller one.

Numbers Roll Into Globe.

When all is ready—it might well be an execution—a plug is released, letting all the numbers roll down the tube into the large globe. When all are inside, the globe begins to revolve. The reflection of a brilliant light from the gold meshes produces rays that resemble twisting flames.

While the larger globe is rotating, another number of balls containing numbers pours into the smaller globe and it begins to rotate. The globes hold the prize winning numbers and amounts of the prizes. In one of the pellets is a paper which calls for 1,000,000 pesos.

At a signal both revolving globes halt and three or four balls are released from each. A page boy opens a number from the larger globe and calls it out. Then a page boy opens one from the smaller container and sings out the amount, usually 1,000 pesos. The process is repeated through the evening.

The evening is about half over when the little page's hands almost drop a number and his voice breaks as he tries to yell 1,000,000 pesos. He is the only one in the house who shows emotion. When the numbers in the smaller globe have been read, the prizes are out and the show is over. Clever pickpockets are on hand to attend to those having money in their pockets instead of in the globe.

PUTS QUESTION: DOES PRESIDENT OR LEWIS RULE?

Hoffman Assails Tactics of C. I. O. Chief.

tucky National Guardsmen who were fired on by C. I. O. snipers throughout the day as they guarded Harlan county's picketed mining properties.

Brig. Gen. E. B. Carter, commanding the troops, directly accused John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of firing the shots that began with a fusillade at dawn. The pickets, whose massed formations were smashed yesterday by the militiamen, admitted they had taken to the mountains.

Gen. Carter said tonight the machine gunners will be augmented by detachments of infantry with automatic rifles.

"Whenever there is a shot from the mountainside," he said, "we will spray the entire area from which it came. These men shoot and run. But they can't outrun machine gun fire."

Fourth Day of Warfare.

This was the fourth day of warfare between the pickets and the guardsmen. The pickets are acting on the orders of Lewis to keep this county's forty-two mines shut until their owners sign a closed shop contract with the U. M. W., which is the cornerstone of Lewis' C. I. O. Twenty-four mines, however, are open.

The guardsmen were sent to Harlan county by Gov. A. B. Chandler. There are 1,300 troops here now, and 400 more are awaiting call.

Gen. Carter emphasized tonight that peaceful picketing in Harlan county is not being stopped. Earlier in the day he had granted permission for Crummies Creek pickets to parade before the mine and solicit—peaceably—the loyal workers to join the U. M. W.

U. S. Representative Arrives.

Indications of the last few days that the federal government might take a hand were borne out tonight with the arrival from Washington of John L. Conner, commissioner of conciliation of the United States department of labor, and Emmett Durrett, representative of the Kentucky department of industrial relations.

"I am not in touch with the situation," Conner said tonight. "I intend to spend tomorrow seeing leaders of both sides to inquire if my services are desired and to lay possible groundwork."

Several days ago a conference was arranged for Monday between the scale committee of the Harlan County Coal Operators' association and the U. M. W. Conner would not say whether he expects to act before that time. He said he was sent here by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

A Campaign of Terror.

Today's shooting from the mountainsides obviously was intended as a campaign of terror. No one was hit, nor was it intended that any one should be—just now.

The first shots were fired at High Splint mine on Black mountain just as the day's first load of miners was being pulled up the long inclined track from the valley. In the car with the miners were Lieut. Campbell Robinson and Sergt. Stallard H. Wright. On duty at the hoist house, near the mine opening, were four guardsmen.

The gunfire crashed with stunning suddenness from a thicket a hundred yards above them. Hall and his men whirled about and sprayed the thicket with automatic rifle fire. Then they charged up the slope. The gunmen, however, had disappeared. Ejected shotgun and rifle shells were found. All the bullets had gone over the guardsmen's heads.

The shooting was preceded by the dynamiting of a power line that supplies electricity to downtown Harlan. Linemen for the Kentucky Utilities reported a pole had been blown up between Benham and Cumberland in the northeast part of the county. Electricity was cut off here for twenty minutes until a switchover to another power line could be made.

Coal Movement Continues.

No new mines opened today, but the movement of coal continued steadily. The Louisville and Nashville railroad sent out 357 carloads last night and 256 cars were loaded at the mines yesterday.

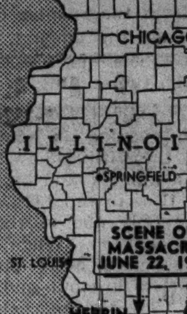
Attempts to take faked photographs showing that National Guardsmen on duty here are terrorizing civilians was disclosed today by Gen. Carter. He said two infantry men informed their officers a photographer tried to induce them to pose, brandishing their bayonets at a woman, who was clutching a baby and cowering in terror.

Sign Mine Agreement.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—(AP)—The United Mine Workers and three mining subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation signed an agreement this afternoon, renewing for two years their wage agreement, without insertion of the "union shop" clause.

The agreement applies to approximately 9,000 miners employed by the H. C. Frick Coke company, the National Mining company, and the Sharon Coal and Limestone company, which operate in western Pennsylvania.

Harlan Profits from Illinois' Mistake in Herrin Violence



The current violence in the coal fields of Harlan county, Ky., recalls the battles waged seventeen years ago in the southern Illinois coal district at Herrin, Ill., which culminated in the massacre of at least nineteen miners by a crazed mob of strikers.

In Herrin, as in Harlan county, Ky., the strike was called by John L. Lewis' union of United Mine Workers, now the mainstay of his C. I. O.

The bitterness in Herrin was similar to that which exists in Harlan county today. Consequently a repetition of the Herrin atrocities might be expected in Kentucky were it not for the radically different methods adopted by the Kentucky authorities—methods which the Illinois authorities failed to use.

Strikers Given Free Hand.

The most significent difference is that Illinois officials, in meeting the situation at Herrin in 1922, did not call out the National Guard. Striking miners were permitted to run amok, to slay, and to spread terrorism over the southern end of the state.

Tactics of the U. M. W. seventeen years ago were similar to those in vogue now, but in Harlan county mob violence and possibly a mass killing of miners who want to work have been prevented thus far by the presence of the Kentucky National Guard.

The scene of the Herrin massacre was the open pit steam shovel mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company in Williamson county. The company operated what is known as strip mines. Steam shovels removed the surface dirt, exposing the coal which was then broken up and loaded into cars.

When the strike was called in the spring of 1922 by the United Mine Workers, the strip mine was closed. Later an agreement was reached permitting the company to strip off the surface dirt with the understanding that the coal would not be loaded for commercial purposes.

The company soon asked permission to load its coal. This was refused. Then the company announced its intention to mine and ship the coal. Armed guards were employed to guard the workers from the strikers.

Sherif a Union Member.

By June 19 the situation became so threatening that Col. Sam N. Hunter of the Illinois adjutant general's office arrived at the scene. He urged the company to close its mines, on the ground that under existing conditions operation was a menace to the community.

Sherif Melvin Thaxton was urged by Col. Hunter and others to ask for state troops. Thaxton, who held a union card and was admittedly in sympathy with the strikers, refused. He insisted the situation was well in hand.

Feeling among the striking miners ran higher and preparations were made for an attack on the workers at the strip mine. Hardware stores were ransacked for firearms and on June 21 an armed mob of more than 2,000 strikers descended on the mine. A truce was called that night, but fighting was resumed in the morning.

A number of shots were fired by the attackers, and finally, after a long range conversation, the attackers agreed to give the workers safe conduct if they would give up their weapons and march out with hands up.

Death Toll Put at 30.

The captive men were marched down the road. After a mile of marching the mine superintendent was taken from the line and shot and killed. Then the other captives were given a chance to run for their lives to a nearby woods. As they broke loose the miners opened fire. Thirteen of the forty-seven captives were killed outright and most of the others were wounded.

In all it was believed that about thirty of the company workers and guards were killed outright or died later of their wounds. Nineteen bodies were given official burial and eleven of the total group never have been accounted for. It is believed they were slain and their bodies disposed of by the mob.

Subsequently a special grand jury indicted seventy-six residents of the county on charges of murder and conspiracy to murder. All charges, however, were dropped after several of the defendants were brought to trial and acquitted.

Later, in a legislative inquiry, Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black of the Illinois National Guard blamed Col. Hunter for the failure of the state to send troops to Herrin. This was denied by Hunter, who contended he had advised Gen. Black to send troops, but Black had refused because the local sherif had not asked for aid.

RECORDS' SEARCH BARES LOOP AREA TAX DELINQUENCY

400 Owe $1,000 or More on '36 Personalty Levy.

Approximately 400 persons and companies in the loop and the area directly south to 39th street were assessed personal property taxes of more than $1,000 for 1936 and failed to pay them. The total amount is about $500,000. This was disclosed yesterday by Ald. Frank Keenan [49th], chairman of the city council committee on taxation, who has started a campaign to collect delinquent taxes.

Thirty city hall and sanitary district employés are searching the records of the county treasurer and listing all delinquencies of more than $1,000. Sanitary district officials donated the services of their employés to aid in the campaign to bring in back taxes.

Four Steps to Plan.

Ald. Keenan said all the records will be searched back to 1928. He estimates the delinquent taxes for the full period at $400,000,000, of which he hopes to collect $100,000,000 for the city.

Four steps are involved in his collection plan. They are:

1. List all delinquent taxes of more than $1,000.

2. Ask the states attorney for a record of suits that have been started against the delinquents or judgments that have been obtained.

3. Ask the police department to cooperate by using policemen as collectors before resorting to tax suits.

4. Ask Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes to start suit against all who refuse to settle their unpaid tax bills.

Contractor Is Listed.

Among the large firms in yesterday's list of delinquents are the Herlihy Midcontinent Construction company, 20 North Wacker drive, which owes $1,849 for 1936 personal property taxes. The Herlihy company has had municipal and sanitary district construction contracts.

Other major 1936 delinquents and the amount of taxes due are:

Chicago Bears Football club, 37 South Michigan avenue, $2,298; Tebbetts and Garland company, 16 West Washington street, $2,251; Washington Park Jockey club, 55 West Washington street, $5,336; Cuneo Press, Inc., 22d and Canal streets, $8,766; Harris Brothers, 35th and Iron streets, $17,350; Albert Dickinson company, 2750 35th street, $9,344, and William A. Douglas estate, $29,588.

None of the large loop department stores was listed as fully delinquent. In most instances they had made substantial payments on 1936 taxes under protest.

NEW DU PONT HOUSE PAINT stays whiter!

CHICAGO HOME OWNERS amazed at this whiter paint that laughs at vicious weather, city dust and smoke

THIS new house paint made by Du Pont is whiter—and it STAYS WHITER! It contains titanium—the whitest pigment known to science. It stays whiter because the weather, under normal conditions, helps it to clean itself. Every rain washes off dust and dirt—your house becomes white again.

But Du Pont House Paint does more than make—and keep—your house whiter. It saves you money. Your painter will use fewer gallons, because it hides better and spreads farther per gallon. And its unusual durability means fewer repaintings.

See your Du Pont paint dealer now. He is offering many interesting paint values.

4 IN LA GRANGE FAMILY'S AUTO KILLED IN CRASH

Car Hits Truck on Way to San Francisco Fair.

Kingman, Ariz., May 18.—[Special.]—Three members of a La Grange, Ill., family and a woman companion were killed today when their automobile collided with a truck on Boulder Dam highway, twenty miles north of here.

The victims were identified as Harry E. Teeters, caretaker of the La Grange State Trust and Savings bank; his wife, and their son, John, a grocery clerk. The identity of the woman companion was not learned.

The Teeters lived at 24 South 5th avenue, La Grange. They were on their way to visit the San Francisco fair.

ONE KILLED, ANOTHER HURT.

One man was killed and his companion was injured seriously yesterday when they were run down by a car that careened over the sidewalk after being struck by a second car at South Parkway and 39th street. The driver of the second car did not stop but sped away after the accident.

The man killed was Martin Orban, 50 years old, 2728 North Melvina avenue. His companion, Joseph Psota, 49, of 2722 North Mansfield avenue, was injured. He was taken to the Michael Reese hospital. Witnesses gave the police the license number of the car that drove away. The driver of the car that hit them was Bernice Sanders, 40, colored, 428 East 48th place.

Child Struck and Killed.

Virginia Keoppen, 3, of 7802 Sangamon street, was killed last night at Halsted and 80th streets when she ran in front of a street car and was tossed into the path of an automobile. She died a few moments after being taken to St. George's hospital by Henry DeVries, 42, of 336 West 106th street, driver of the automobile. Robert J. Patton, 50, the motorman, told police he was unable to stop the street car when the child darted in front.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 321 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 250 were killed in Chicago, where 7,318 persons were injured in the same period.

JURY OF BOYS TO JUDGE YOUNG TRAFIC OFFENDER

Judge J. M. Braude yesterday threw a bit of business to the American Boys' Commonwealth, of which he is a director. He ordered Nathan Skale, 18 years old, to be tried by a jury of his peers in the offices of that organization at 3415 13th place next Monday. Skale, who lives at 1324 South Albany avenue, was charged with driving without a license. He is a member of the Commonwealth, a self-governing body. Judge Braude told Skale to reappear in Boys' court May 25 when the findings of the boys' jury will be followed.

UNION PRESIDENT AND STRIKER TELL OF GUN ATTACK

A gun attack without casualties was made last night on a union official and a striker. The two, Michael F. Darling, 33 years old, and William R. Varnell, 30, reported the attack in demanding police protection.

Darling is president of local 164, Appliance and Furniture Salesmen's union. The union called a strike against twenty Blue Star stores, dealers in automobile accessories, two weeks ago. About sixty of the ninety-five union employés are reported out. Varnell is one of those on strike.

Last night Darling and Varnell paid off pickets in the hall at 2403 North avenue. Then they left in Darling's car. In California avenue near North avenue, according to their story, three men in a car attempted to curb them and fired four shots in the attempt. Two of the bullets pierced their car.

HOODLUMS INVADE HOME; SHOOT ONE AND SLUG ONE

Two hoodlums invaded a south side home late last night, terrified a woman, shot her husband, and slugged her brother. The victims of the attack were Gust Newburg, 35 years old, 362 East 89th place, a building contractor, and Oscar Johnson, 37.

The Newburgs and Johnson had retired when the front doorbell was rung. Mrs. Newburg responded. Two men stood at the door. One wore what seemed to be a messenger boy's cap. "We have a message for Mr. Newburg," he said. Then he and his companion forced their way past Mrs. Newburg into the house. The second man carried a baseball bat.

They first came upon Johnson. The man with the bat said, "You're Newburg, aren't you?" and, in spite of Johnson's denial, hit him on the wrist with the bat. Mrs. Newburg screamed that Johnson was her brother. The two men then searched for Newburg. The man with the messenger's cap fired a shot through Newburg's bedroom door, then as Newburg ran out fired a shot that struck Newburg in the right leg. The hoodlums then fled.

Newburg was taken to the Burnside hospital. He told Policemen Walter Burke and Thomas Charles the attack was a mystery. He has had no labor troubles, he said. He is now building an annex at the Manteno state hospital.

POLICE TO STOP USE OF NOVELTY LICENSE PLATES

Chicago police have started a campaign against the use of unauthorized license plates on cars legally licensed in Illinois.

Lieut. George P. Teeling of the stolen auto detail made the first arrest yesterday. He held Joseph A. Green, 27 years old, 4744 Winthrop avenue. His car had tin plates purporting to be issued in Cairo, Egypt.

The lieutenant said that such novelties are being sold in department and notions stores and that Green's were so placed that they obscured his real license number. He pointed out that the state law prohibits covering of the legal numbers or the display of any unauthorized licenses. Green will be arraigned in Trafic court Tuesday.

Judge Holds Money Spent on Courtship Is No Fraud

Abraham Odisho, 46 years old, complained yesterday to Judge Oscar Caplan that he had spent more than $2,000 courting Miss Marion Foster, 23 years old, of 4755 North Clark street. Then, he said, she refused to marry him. Judge Caplan held that such expenditures did not warant a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and freed the young woman.

DEMOCRATS FIRE 40 EMPLOYES IN ILLINOIS SENATE

Penny Wise, Charges G. O. P.; Cites Deficit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—The senate's dismissal today of a host of small salaried employés to effect a saving of $5,000 a month in the face of a potential budget deficit of $104,000,000 was criticized as picayunish by leaders of the Republican economy bloc.

With Democrats as the moving spirits, forty of the sixty-eight senate employés were fired, effective tomorrow. Numerous page boys, who earn only $3 a day, were among those summarily dismissed. Only three stenographers were left to type for the fifty-one senators, and a janitor was the sole employé remaining on the senate pay roll of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle.

Calls It Penny Wise.

"This is obviously a case of being penny wise and pound foolish," said Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island]. "They throw millions of dollars out the window and save peanuts on the little salaries of these unfortunate employés.

"It would be a vaudeville show if it wasn't so serious. Certainly an economy slash of such small sums could only be a maneuver to fool the taxpayers. If the Democrats really mean to save money, why have they voted down cuts that would have saved as much as $500,000 on one appropriation bill?

"The conservation bill, which passed the house today, provides for travel and car expense of $200,000. That is more than four times what it was in the last two years of former Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's administration and the first two years of Gov. Henry Horner's régime," Searle asserted.

Cites Defeat of Proposed Cuts.

"Yet when I introduced an amendment to reduce it $50,000, it was defeated on roll call. My proposal would have saved ten times that effected by the senate's drastic move today.

"On one afternoon in the house, amendments to cut appropriation bills a total of $840,000—and it was our contention that the service involved would not be impaired—were quickly voted down. Thousands could be saved on almost every appropriation bill now being passed, but, instead, they dismiss page boys getting $3 a day."

After the wholesale firings one Democratic senator admitted, chuckling, "That's what we call rubbing it in."

If all pending appropriation bills are passed, the budget would be $104,000,000 in the red by the end of the two year period beginning July 1.

PASS SCHOOL LEVY BILL

In the house of representatives a bill affecting all of the state except Chicago was passed. It would allow nonhigh school districts to increase their tax levies to pay the tuition of high school pupils in their districts. The vote was 104 to 5.

Sponsored by Representatives Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove] and Will Howell [D., West Frankfort], this measure would permit nonhigh school districts to levy a tax up to 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation without a referendum, and up to $1.25 with a referendum. The present law limits the levies to 50 and 75 cents, respectively.

Another big vote was given the bill presented by Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton] authorizing the Glen Ellyn park district in Du Page county to issue $25,000 in bonds to construct a park and swimming pool.

Amends Syphilis Test Bill.

Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago] amended his bill requiring physicians to make blood tests of pregnant women for syphilis. The bill as amended would provide that, if a first test shows an inconclusive result, further tests shall be made.

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago] blocked advancement to passage stage of a bill which he said would make the local liquor option, or dry law, the plaything of the board of election commissioners in Chicago.

An amendment to the bill, adopted hastily without debate, provided that voting on local option questions should be by precincts defined by the election commission instead of by precincts existing in November, 1932.

Michael E. Hannigan [D., Chicago], sponsor of the measure said the only purpose was to simplify and economize by eliminating situations in which parts of four precincts are involved in liquor option voting.

NAB KISS OF DEATH WOMAN IN PROBE OF MURDER SYNDICATE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 18.—[Special.]—Rose Carina, known as the elusive kiss of death woman and sought throughout the nation in connection with a Philadelphia investigation into a mass murder syndicate, was seized by federal agents in New York today.

Rose Carina.

G-men, armed with a federal fugitive warant issued in the inquiry, followed the woman's trail to New York. She will be brought back here to be tried along with twelve widows who have been linked with the ring that killed for insurance.

Authorities in Philadelphia have named the Carina woman as one of the principal actors in the bizarre crime drama. In it an estimated 50 to 100 persons, mostly unwanted husbands, were victims of the slay-for-pay syndicate.

Police Captain James Kelly asserted that three of Mrs. Carina's five husbands died under suspicous circumstances.

SCHOOLS TO HAVE OWN WAREHOUSE AND FOOD TRUCKS

Plans Told as Courtney Studies Candy Deals.

Establishment of a warehouse and a fleet of trucks in an effort to eliminate the middleman in purchasing supplies for school lunchrooms has been under consideration by the Chicago board of education for more than a year.

This was learned yesterday after the state's attorney's office began an investigation of sales of candy and other merchandise to the school board.

Announcement that provision for a warehouse and trucks probably would be asked in the 1940 budget was made by James B. McCahey, president of the school board, and F. O. Washam, director of public school lunchrooms.

Cost Placed at $30,000.

Washam estimated that the warehouse, to be made by remodeling an unused school near the loop, and a fleet of five trucks would cost about $30,000. This could be repaid in about two years, he said, through money saved by dealing directly with the manufacturers of candy, baked goods, and carbonated drinks.

Washam said the lunchrooms now buy through jobbers because most manufacturers do not make deliveries to schools and the jobbers do.

Courtney's Quiz Bared.

State's Attorney Courtney's interest in companies selling candy and other supplies to the schools came into the open when two witnesses refused to testify before the grand jury yesterday until instructed to do so by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court.

The two are Donald Hemb, 2618 Simpson street, Evanston, and Logan M. Eldridge, 2600 Simpson street, Evanston, owners of the Beutel Sales company at 2121 Cornelia avenue. They were taken before Judge McKinley by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

Hemb refused to answer questions in the jury room after Crowley told him the state believed the Beutel company to be a dummy concern which bought candies from other companies and resold them to the school board at a higher price.

Eldridge refused to say whether any other persons than he and Hemb had connections with the Beutel concern, whether the company ever paid for school board contracts, or whether it had sold $143,000 worth of goods to the schools in two years.

After advice from Judge McKinley and on agreement of their attorney, Russell Burt, both returned to the jury rooms and gave further testimony.

The Beutel company has office space in a small room in the rear of a greenhouse at the Cornelia avenue address. Milton Beutel, 5708 North Parkside avenue, was there yesterday afternoon. He said he was office manager but had no part in the ownership. He said about half of the concern's business is with the schools. There are no other employés, he said, and supplies are bought from a sub-jobber daily and delivered in hired trucks.

Washam said eight other companies also sell candy to the schools, and that contracts are awarded on the basis of low bids if quality is up to standard.

ASK BAR ON CONTESTS USING PEOPLE WORSE THAN 'FARM ANIMALS'

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Illinois' four women representatives today banded to outlaw walkathons, endurance dancing, or roller skating contests lasting more than 12 hours.

Mrs. Maud N. Peffers [R., Aurora] had the bill drafted as a health measure. She enlisted as sponsors Representatives Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove], Lizzie Barnes [D., Carmi] and Bernice T. Van der Vries [R., Winnetka].

Mrs. Peffers said she investigated endurance contests in her district and found them health wreckers.

ILLINOIS SENATE O.K.'S VOTER LISTS FOR JUNE 5 POLL

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—The senate today passed a bill authorizing the use in the June 5 judicial election of registration lists printed for the Chicago mayoral election of April 4.

Supplements to the lists will be issued by the board of election commissioners as the result of a canvass made this month.

Senator Harold G. Ward, Mayor Kelly's legislative spokesman, said the measure will save about $100,000 in printing costs. Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago] introduced the bill in the house, where it was passed last week.

A PROGRAM FOR JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

II. Classifying Offenders.

It has been suggested previously that the disrepute of the Juvenile court of Cook county has arisen largely from the activities of professional social workers of the sob sister type. Using the present shotgun definition of juvenile delinquency as a tool, they have made the court a shield to protect hardened young criminals from punishment.

It has also been pointed out that the remedy for this condition lies in the Criminal court, which has constitutional jurisdiction over all criminal offenders, regardless of age. To exercise that jurisdiction intelligently it is necessary that the court take control of the machinery within the Juvenile court for classifying criminal offenders.

In view of the patter of social workers concerning the scientific methods of their calling, it may be a surprise to many Chicagoans that the original and highly important determination of whether a young offender is a subject for redemption or punishment is in most cases in the unscientific hands of the patrol wagon drivers of the police department. If they take the offending youth to the Juvenile court the social workers go to work on him. But they may take the same youth, under the same circumstances, to the Boys' court or the Felony court, where he faces criminal prosecution.

The police have no facilities for classifying offenders. They are forbidden, in fact, to keep records of juvenile offenders. Only the memory of the arresting officer or the wagon driver is available to determine whether the offender is in for his first or his tenth offense.

It is only at the Juvenile court, where secret records of previous offenses are kept, that any logical classification can be made. At present that classification is in the hands of social workers. The results indicate that they will rarely admit that a goat appears amid the wolfish lambs to whom they extend their protection.

All juvenile offenders, which under the present law means any one under 17 who is charged with crime, should be sent to the Juvenile home for classification. That classification, however, should be taken out of the hands of social workers. It should become the duty of an assistant state's attorney, who is an officer of the Criminal court.

That post will be one of grave responsibility. Its occupant will be called upon to determine, in view of the previous record of the offender, whether the time has arrived when the Criminal court should exercise its unquestioned legal right to bring the offender before it for trial and punishment. It will be expected that the state's attorney will assign one or more of his most capable assistants to the post and that the chief justice of the Criminal court will support the operation of the office with advice and direction.

In the cases of offenders sent to the Criminal court the present statute forbidding the use of Juvenile court records in criminal prosecutions should be amended. The theory of secrecy is, up to a certain point, good. Youthful pranks should not rise later to prejudice a defendant who, in the theory of the Juvenile court act, is going to be reformed by the attention of the Juvenile court.

But when attempts at reform fail the theory loses validity. Then the judge who is trying the offender should have the benefit of his full record. Many so-called first offenders in the Criminal court are, in fact, fourth or fifth offenders. The record of their previous crimes is hidden in the Juvenile court files. The act should be amended to permit this limited use of the records.

Classification of offenders should not be left wholly to an officer of the Criminal court. The present definition of juvenile delinquency is, as has been said, a shotgun definition, including even murderers as juvenile delinquents. The act should be amended to exclude from the definition the more serious felonies, if not all felonies.

No one except a social worker regards a murderer, robber, or rapist as a juvenile delinquent, yet the law so classifies such young criminals. Their youth may be an extenuating circumstance and will often be so regarded by judges and juries, but it should not be made a shield against any punishment.

There is also good reason to believe that the present maximum age for juvenile delinquents, 17 years, is too high. The tempo of modern life, particularly urban life, tends to speed youthful development for both good and evil. Reduction of the maximum age to 16 years, the age at which the state relinquishes control over school attendance, deserves serious consideration. There is no excuse for the proposal of some of the social workers that the age limit be raised.

In the classification of juvenile delinquents it should be understood that the Criminal court and its officers would concern themselves only with those delinquents guilty of crime. That is the only field in which the court has jurisdiction. The classification would, of course, leave all noncriminal delinquents, and a great many petty and first offenders, to be dealt with by the present machinery of the Juvenile court. That machinery can yield admirable results if it is not stretched and perverted by social workers to purposes for which it is not intended.

THE MOST USEFUL SENATOR.

Senator Vandenberg is rightly given credit for the senate vote that killed the nonsensical proposal for the Florida ship canal—a proposal repeatedly urged on congress by the President himself.

The vote followed by twenty-four hours the devastating speech which Mr. Vandenberg made against the proposal. While the canal has long been recognized as a piece of politically inspired economic folly, the senator's speech showed months of careful investigation and correspondence, through which he gathered the evidence to demolish every argument made in favor of the canal.

By his industry and intelligence Senator Vandenberg has saved the country not only the $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 that would have been wasted directly on the canal, but an even greater liability for damages should its construction have so disturbed the ground water levels in Florida, as residents of that state feared it would, as to destroy the prosperous citrus and garden truck industries in that state. His success further clinches his distinction as the most useful member of the United States senate.

JUDGE SONSTEBY'S GADGETS.

Life, it must be confessed, would be duller without the gadgeteers. Nothing but sweetness and light [well, usually a light] has come from the activities of one gentleman of our acquaintance who has taken up cigaret lighters as a life interest. His success is such that public men now seek his advice.

There is authentic record of a contractor in this city who presented the partner of his life struggle with a food mixer, hotel size, complete with sixty-three attachments. The fact that their children were grown and married when he sought thus to lighten her burdens may explain why the pea podder or the cherry pitter, it is still uncertain which, furrowed his scalp. Then there are the candid camera spendthrifts, whose neighbors know from the holes in Junior's shoes that papa bought another lens last week.

But when the gadgeteers begin dipping into the public treasury to gratify their whimsies they become distinctly unfunny. When Chief Justice Sonsteby, Psychiatrist Rotman, and Judge Green propose to equip a number of police stations with devices called drunkometers, public tolerance of their foibles is tempered by curiosity as to who is going to collect for the gadgets.

Chicago police stations are already well equipped for detecting drunks and motorists who have imbibed past the narrow limit of safety. If there is a desk sergeant in the city unable to determine such a matter by the breath, gait, speech, or behavior of the subject, his life has been more cloistered than we believed possible for a Chicago policeman.

And, in the present state of scientific knowledge on the subject, the desk sergeant is more likely to be right than is the machine, which determines the quantity of alcohol that the body has absorbed. Human reactions to alcohol are too varied for a quantitative test to have much value without additional data on the tolerance to the beverage of the particular subject of the test.

If Chief Justice Sonsteby must have a gadget at public expense, it is suggested that the city council buy him an electric hobby horse. If he would place his swollen Municipal court budget on such a contrivance every day he might be able to shake loose a few dozen useless pay rollers.

SUCCESS STORY.

The English Exchange Telegraph news agency in its bulletins of the royal departure from Waterloo station carried the following 1:15 p. m. flash: "Mr. Joseph Kennedy, United States high commissioner in London, and Mr. Raymond Massey, Canadian high commissioner in London, were also present."

Mr. Kennedy's career is ripening. Here is another glimpse of him in the unfolding of his success story. He went to London as only an American ambassador with nothing to help him except his will to conquer and his brightly burning ambition. A man of less spirit might have remained an ambassador, but not Mr. Kennedy. He got a foothold in the old ivy and soon was at dizzy heights. Presently he was host to the king and queen at a dinner party and now the English reporters can no longer withhold his proper dignities from him. He has won the brevet rank of colonial high commissioner and is accepted on equal footing with Mr. Massey. He even precedes the Canadian.

Editorial of the Day

BY ALL MEANS THE PARTRIDGE.
[Hartford Courant.]

When word got around that Senator Fraser of Salem was about to introduce a bill into the general assembly nominating an official state bird there was some alarm in ornithological circles. For the gentleman from the Twentieth comes from a town that abounds in birds and animals that are known only to Senator Fraser. In Salem alone is found the roller skating deer [Odocoileus fraseri] which nightly rolls up and down the Governor's highway. Long before Glastonbury had a glawackus, the shrill cries of the green spotted leperbird echoed across the waters of Salem's Dead Horse pond. From that curious town, too, came the yellow throated stonenatch, the cold patootie and the purple feeb. Just suppose Senator Fraser had picked on the purple feeb as his choice for a state bird!

Happily, he has resisted the temptation. Wisely, he has selected the one bird that deserves the honor, the partridge. There are purists who will tell you that the partridge isn't a partridge but a grouse, just as there are precisionists who insist that a robin isn't a robin but a thrush and that a strawberry is a drupe, not a berry. In other states it may be a ruffed grouse that roars out of the brush beside you like a shell from a sixteen inch gun, but not in Connecticut. Here, the wisest and most explosive of birds is the partridge, the first "r" being silent as in "war."

There is but one thing that can be said against the selection of the partridge as a state bird—its tendency to be completely batty for a time in Indian summer. No one knows why, but during the "crazy moon" it loses its native wit and barges around through the woods without any discretion. But Connecticut can afford to be tolerant of the bird's lapses from its customary wisdom; if it acts, on occasion, like a member of the general assembly three days before the session ends, can this state afford to point the finger of scorn at it?

ABOUT KINGS AND THINGS.

We regret to learn that hell hath no fury like a Democratic senator's wife who did not receive an invitation to the royal garden party in Washington.

Their majesties' first luncheon on North American soil had "lobsters' tails" as the entrée. As a minor gourmet we wish to point out that the crustacean from which these tails are plucked is not a true lobster. The French call him "langouste," and eat him avidly. He is the sea crawfish, also called rock lobster or spiny lobster. His tail is tough but tasty.

The defeated Florida canal project was, according to Rooseveltian argument, a national defense measure. Perhaps he meant that it would be something that had to be defended; therefore eternally costly; therefore dear to his heart.

* * *

The next empire binding act for George VI., after the completion of his American tour, should be the eating of a durian. His great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, symbolized her imperial sway by eating a sample of every fruit grown under the British flag, but the durian was kept away from her, on advice of the privy council. This is a large, mushy object that grows in Borneo; and although its taste is delicious, few Europeans can fight their way through its horrible effluvium.

Let George do it, and Borneo will be safely linked to the British raj.

This will be a high test of devotion. We know an old warrior of the Philippines who would renounce a throne rather than eat a durian.

Nature Lover on Golf Course.

Last Saturday was a perfect May day—the day toward which all the other little days must look with awe, and strive to emulate. Such a day is not to be squandered, and so we spent it perfectly on the golf course. The sky was gorgeous—deep Italian blue at the zenith, shading to aquamarine at the horizon. And everywhere there were clouds—little white puffballs, bigger downy beds of clouds, all fascinating in their constant shift and change. When one glanced down, he was at once inundated in a new flood of beauty. The thorn apples were in bloom, and as far as eye could see, they clustered in little groups of white beauty. The wild crabs showed plump pink buds, which in another day or two would riot in bloom. And everywhere the saucy dandelions gamboled on the green, mischievously hiding the balls with their bright faces. The sun was hot, but the air was cool, filled with a heady scent of blossoms, and the effect was tonic.

Certainly somebody must have gone out
With buckets of dandelions last night;
Somebody must have tossed them about
Like big yellow pennies all over the ground!

Chicago's Longest Dimension.

The longest straight line that can be drawn within the Chicago city limits is the diagonal from the northwest corner [Touhy and Caldwell avenues] to the southeast corner [138th street and Illinois-Indiana boundary]. Its length [official from bureau of maps] is 29¾ miles.

We are wondering if any other city in the world can boast of a longer dimension.

The Original Rip Van Winkle.

Isn't it strange that the career of Joseph Jefferson is so indelibly connected with "Rip Van Winkle" when this play was not original with him? The elder Hackett, father of James K., first brought out "Rip Van Winkle" on Sept. 14, 1866, at Whitman's Continental theater in Boston. It was not until May 3, 1869, at the Boston theater, that Joe Jefferson unveiled his Rip.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

OVERCOMING THE BED-WETTING HABIT.

BEDWETTING, or, as the medicos term it, enuresis, is an annoying, if not significant, problem. It may occur if the child has been ill or has become rundown as a result of some wasting disease, but perfectly healthy youngsters may be affected. The most critical physical inventory may fail to disclose the slightest abnormality in the bladder or along the urinary tract.

The reason nature has provided a collecting pouch holding many ounces of urine, is to permit activity without the necessity of emptying the reservoir except at intervals of several hours. We should be able to sleep comfortably all night long without being awakened by a sense of undue pressure. With children the bladder is quite small and the accumulation of fluid may overcome the reflex and open the doorway for escape.

Many authorities believe that those cases which present no evidence whatsoever of organic trouble can be explained on a psychic basis. In fact, 95 per cent of all bedwetters fall into this group. By the time the baby is one year of age good control will be acquired during the day. Night retention, however, comes somewhat later and should be in full operation between the second and third years.

But many children will not conform to this rule, and during cold weather particularly, greater difficulty will be experienced. If the little one has recently passed through an exciting time the symptom is accentuated. Occasionally, on a visit to relatives or friends, an older boy may revert to his infantile practice due largely to the strange environment or the tension which he may be under to behave as a "little gentleman."

It has been observed also that the tot who resents parental correction and supervision, and who is inclined to be evasive, may be peculiarly susceptible. Still others may feel that they are neglected or abused, whereupon a sense of injustice may lower the feeling of responsibility.

Whenever the occurrence reappears following months or years of normal behavior, it is easy, as a rule, to trace the episode to some such factor as drinking a large quantity of fluid late in the day, an illness, or an emotional upset.

The remedy, for the most part, lies with the parents. Scoldings, punishments, and threats will make a bad matter worse. An appeal may be made to the victim's pride, as he will probably be old enough to understand that most boys and girls have had the habit but they have been able to overcome it.

First of all comes the establishment of a daily schedule which will include regular visits to the bathroom whether desire is present or not. This may be begun as early as the seventh month but should not be put off longer than the twelfth. The amount of liquid which is given after 6 p. m. should be restricted. Rousing the patient at 10 o'clock and placing him on the toilet seat will soon develop a reflex which will be repaid by dry nights. It may be necessary to increase the visits, setting the alarm clock if need be.

If the tendency extends beyond the fourth year, a careful search must be made for some source of irritation. Pinworms may be a factor, as may bedclothes that are too heavy and which the child will endeavor to dislodge because of the increasing warmth. Then, with encouragement, rewards, and compliments for successful nights continence will become firmly established.

Above all, they can be impressed with the fact that they are not disgraced, that they have not committed a sin, nor have they been guilty of an indiscretion. Now and then the example of an older brother or sister is advantageous and I recall one rather stubborn instance in a girl of 6 years who was relieved completely at boarding school where system and routine were the order of the day.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

O. T. writes: What is the cause of superfluous hair? What can be done about it?

REPLY.

We do not know exactly, but it is thought to be due to an endocrine gland disturbance, particularly associated with the pituitary. In some instances, administration of glandular products has been helpful, but results are far from uniform and not very encouraging. The best plan calls for the removal of hair on the face by electrolysis. There are many skilled operators. This procedure is not recommended elsewhere on the body. For temporary removal tweezing, shaving, or the use of a depilatory is suggested. The objectionable growth may be bleached.

BRITTLE NAILS.

B. N. writes: What is the cause of brittle nails? What is the treatment? Mine dent in the center, curl up on both sides, split, and peel; and the surrounding skin cracks open.

REPLY.

Cosmetics such as nail polish should be considered. Ringworm or some other skin malady, such as psoriasis, may be responsible. Treatment depends upon the cause. If a fungus infection is present it must be eradicated. Soaking the ends of the fingers in warm oil twice daily may be of value.

SCARS FROM PIMPLES.

R. M. writes: Is it possible for the slight indentations left on the skin from pimples to disappear or are they permanent scars?

REPLY.

If the abscess has not penetrated the true skin the blemish will disappear in time. However, if a scar has formed—while it will become less noticeable it will never vanish entirely. To avoid disfigurement, do not squeeze pimples. Use hot applications and keep the skin clean with soap and water.

KNUCKLES SWOLLEN.

M. D. writes: Recently the knuckles of both my hands have become swollen. I am taking a course in typing and wonder if the added exercise could be the cause.

REPLY.

All joints will respond to irritation by pouring out secretions. Thus they become swollen. The most common causes are infection and injury. If the condition persists following rest you should have an examination including an X-ray film.

ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER.

L. T. writes: Do all hay fever patients develop asthma?

REPLY.

Asthma is likely to develop in the wake of neglected hay fever in so large a percentage of cases that every patient should be treated carefully if for no other reason than to guard against this complication.

NEGROES AND THE A. M. A.

St. Louis, Mo., May 17.—Your editorial concerning Negro physicians and the American Medical association conveys a completely false impression concerning the true status of the situation. Many hundreds of Negro physicians now hold membership. County medical societies have the right to determine qualifications of their own members. In the south, where serious prejudices formerly prevailed, adjustments are now in progress to give qualified Negro physicians full scientific benefits of membership.

NEW SALEM.

Chicago, May 15.—THE TRIBUNE is to be commended for bringing to the attention of its readers events of cultural interest. Last Feb. 12 there appeared in the Sunday edition a full page of color photographs of the reconstructed village of New Salem. Students of the life of Lincoln were made happy over the prospect of another pilgrimage—this time to the place where Lincoln spent six eventful years of his life.

The village, located about twenty-two miles west and north of Springfield, is like the old village of the last century. The nineteen cabins are built on the original sites of the former structures. The household furnishings are emblematic of the simpleness and ruggedness of pioneer life. Signs of the present time are hidden from view—fire hydrants by hollow stumps and parked automobiles by a high grassy mound of earth.

Life of the 1830s is brought to mind by guides who relate how a traveler stopping at the Rutledge tavern could get his supper for 12½ cents and a bed for the night at an equal price. Children buying candy at the Berry-Lincoln store were limited in their choice to peppermint, horehound, and rock. Waddell, the hatter, used the old iron kettle in his dooryard for boiling out the oil from the wool in the process of making felt.

Here at New Salem one walks the same ground under the same skies as did Lincoln when he kept a postoffice in his hat, whipped the hero of Clary's Grove, courted Ann Rutledge—in short, did many of the things which have caused this short lived and long dead village to rise once more.

PLATFORMS.

Chicago, May 18.—A psychologist could probably diagnose the continual Democratic harping on "the Republicans have no platform theme." My amateur findings indicate a frustration complex compensated by substitution. Why must the Republicans be forced to have a platform? In two consecutive presidential elections the Democrats have demonstrated [by subsequent neglect of them] that platforms are worth no more than international armament treaties [or promises to pay]. With two wordy platforms, they won in 1932 by a whisky cork, and in 1936 by subtle insinuations that relief would cease if they lost. The record shows almost 100 per cent repudiation of platform promises. J. N. RIGGS.

TEACHERS ASK A BREAK.

Chicago, May 17.—The city employés have had their pay restorations. The board of education janitors, playground workers, school clerks, and principals have salary increases in the 1939 budget. The teachers' salaries have been cut since 1932 and are cut in the 1939 budget. Now the teachers ask that their pay be restored as has been done for city employés. They are not asking for salary increases. FRANK AND FAIR.

GET RID OF THE BOARDERS.

Wilmette, Ill., May 18.—Your articles on milk prices have been very interesting. Joseph Schrock of Congerville hit the nail on the head when he said farmers should stop milking nonprofit cows. As you stated, the average production per cow is 4,000 pounds of milk per year as against 8,000 pounds for an average well bred dairy cow. Farmers who have improved the milk production of their cows and gotten rid of their nonprofit, low producers can make money as your articles indicate. The trouble is, not more than 3 per cent of United States dairy cows are under check in cow testing associations as compared with 50 per cent in Demark. FACE THE FACTS.

RAILWAY EXPRESS VS. PARCEL POST.

Chicago, May 17.—Railway Express recently revised its rates, which in a majority of cases are now cheaper than those of its closest rival, parcel post. Railway Express picks up and delivers and insures free, while the parcel post only delivers.

The above is an illustration of how private enterprises are awaking to the fact they must give the government a battle if they are to get and retain the business, which the government holds through cheap rates.

Parcel post has shown a tremendous loss year after year, and the taxpayers make up the difference, while its competitors enjoy a nice profit; pay a fair wage. E. A. ANDERSON.

AN OLD PULASKI STREET.

Chicago, May 15.—Regarding the continuing controversy—Crawford avenue vs. Pulaski road—I recall that in 1887 there was a street named after Pulaski. It was the first street south of Fullerton avenue at North Leavitt street.

To honor Pulaski is fine, but why ignore a good pioneer like Crawford? Let the name Crawford avenue stand and give our good old friend Pulaski a street, say, like Augusta, or one of the numbered streets. DROFAX.

WE'RE SAFE IF NEUTRAL.

Chicago, May 17.—Actual neutrality practically never has failed to keep a nation out of war. Our entry into the world war in 1917 was solely due to unneutral acts on our part. We insisted on aiding and giving comfort to the allies from the start.

The small nations of Europe that stayed out of the great war did so by the strictest type of armed neutrality.

ROBERT WILLIAMS.

SOME ONE ELSE WROTE IT.

On the printed letterhead of B. G. McClanahan, 160 North La Salle street, THE TRIBUNE received and printed a letter yesterday in these columns dealing with the judicial election. Mr. McClanahan says he did not sign or authorize any one else to sign the letter. "Furthermore," he says, "I made no indorsements of any kind." He thinks some one in his office with access to his stationery sent the unauthorized letter.

PARTNERSHIP, ETC.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a telephone company refuse service, either local or long distance, if a bill is paid promptly and no delay has been encountered before in paying bills?

2. Does a city policeman have any jurisdiction outside of the city he is working for? Am referring to trafic violations.

3. Can a partnership be dissolved without consent of both partners? R. T. E.

1. Obviously they "can" do it. If you will state the facts on which your question arises, we will be in a better position to advise you.

2. Since our criminal code authorizes, in certain circumstances, arrest by a person who is not a policeman, we incline to the opinion that the policeman is not geographically limited, but we find no statutes or decisions on this exact point. We assume that your questions arise under Illinois law.

3. Ordinarily either partner can force dissolution by court proceedings, in which the assets would be sold and the net proceeds distributed. The rights of the parties depend largely on the wording of the partnership contract. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INSURANCE PAYMENT.

Chicago, May 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been paying on an insurance policy, payable to me, for several years. It is for a relative of mine who is no blood relation. I was told lately that if anything happened I could not collect, as he has a brother and that he would come ahead of me, regardless whether I paid it or not. Please advise me. E. J.

Some insurance policies are so worded as to be payable only to a member of the family, and others contain no such restrictions. In general, rights under the policy depend on the wording of the policy.

Since you do not give us the circumstances under which the policy was originally taken out, we cannot determine whether it satisfies the "insurable interest" requirement. We suggest that you take this question up with the home office of the company.

DICK TRACY—Two Styles

MOUNTIE CHASES THIEF INTO ARMS OF SQUAD IN LOOP

Parolee Then Subdued by Shot at Station.

A parolee who had robbed a department store of a box of silverware was captured yesterday in a chase through loop crowds and trafic. A mounted policeman began the pursuit; a motor squad joined him and captured the thief.

John Bator.

After the parolee was taken to the Central police station he tried to break away and was subdued only after a policeman fired a shot at him in the station squad room.

Paroled from Pontiac.

The captive is John Bator, 26 years old, 1819 Evergreen avenue. He was paroled from Pontiac prison last June 2 after serving nearly four years of a 1 to 10 year sentence for grand larceny.

About 1 p. m. yesterday Bator was in the Sears-Roebuck store at Van Buren and State streets. He seized the box of silverware, worth $75, ran into Van Buren street, and turned west. Mounted Policeman David Mills saw him, wheeled his horse, and tried to catch him.

At Dearborn street Bator leaped into a northbound taxicab. The cab stopped for a trafic light at Jackson boulevard, a block north, and Policeman Mills rode alongside. Bator jumped out of the cab and ran back south, along the east side of the street. Walsh followed.

In the middle of the block the parolee darted out into the trafic, dodged between automobiles, and finally reached the west sidewalk. A southbound police squad, headed by Policeman Dennis Gallivan, quickly drew abreast of him. Gallivan darted from the machine and seized Bator at the northwest corner of Van Buren and Dearborn streets.

Breaks Away and Runs.

Gallivan, with his squad mates, Cornelius Ryan and Albert Greney, took Bator to the Central station. As they entered the squad room on the way to the lockup Bator suddenly broke away from Gallivan, pushed him against the other policemen, and ran for the door.

Gallivan fired one shot. Bator dropped to the floor.

"Don't shoot again!" he shrieked. "I'm hit!"

He had not been wounded, however. The bullet had hit a locker and richocheted to a corner of the room.

Bator, a compact, hard featured 150 pounder with piercing eyes of an unusual sky blue, has a police record dating back to 1931. The stolen silverware, which he left in the taxi, was recovered.

JUDGES TO STUDY NEW SET OF JURY SELECTION RULES

A new set of rules for jury selection, designed to better the quality of Cook county jurors, will be discussed next week at a meeting of the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts. It is expected that the judges also will adopt regulations for the calling of women veniremen under a state law that becomes effective July 1.

The demand for higher standards of jury service was made Tuesday by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court, who was shocked when a jury on Monday freed two young toughs who had confessed their guilt on burglary charges.

Members of the jury commission, First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley, and Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach met with Judge McKinley in his chambers yesterday. They recommended that a questionnaire be drawn up for all prospective jurors to fill out and that there be an oral examination to determine whether those summoned for service are intelligent and in touch with current events.

District Attorney's Aid Resigns to Practice Law

United States Attorney William J. Campbell announced yesterday the resignation of John J. Moreschi, a member of the district attorney's staff for the last five years. Moreschi will enter private law practice with offices at 105 West Madison street. His resignation is the second to be announced by Campbell since his appointment last December.

4 BANDITS TAKE $5,000 IN BONDS FROM UNION HEAD IN DOUGLAS PARK

Four dark visaged bandits, each of whom carried a revolver, took $5,000 in negotiable bonds yesterday from Matthew Taylor, 65 years old, president of the Elevator Operators and Starters' union. The robbers curbed Taylor's car in Douglas park, north of Ogden avenue.

Matthew Taylor.

Three of the bandits stayed in their own machine. The fourth leaped out, covered Taylor, and said: "Give us that briefcase." Taylor handed over the case containing the bonds, which he was taking to a bank.

When the robbers drove away Taylor attempted to follow them, but was stopped as a speeder by a park policeman, to whom the union official then reported the robbery.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 18.—(AP)—More than 2,000 persons were left homeless tonight when a fire swept through the Rumanian village of Vorniceni, destroying 260 houses.

BOY SEES CRIME IS POOR CAREER; WINS LENIENCY

A month ago Timothy Driscoll, 14 years old, 2416 66th street, boasted in the Juvenile court that there was no jail strong enough to hold him. Judge Frank Bicek then transferred Timothy's case—he was charged with larceny—to the Criminal court.

An indictment was return and Timothy was taken before Judge Michael L. McKinley for trial. The judge ordered that the boy, whose intelligence is above normal, attend court sessions for two weeks so that he could see what happened to criminals only a little older than himself.

Yesterday Timothy admitted that he had learned a lesson and was satisfied crime offered a poor future. The judge agreed to a suggestion of the boy's mother that he be sent away to a private school. The parents will pay the expense. Timothy will be on probation while at the school.

Nature's Spring Show.

May 18, 1939.

AFTER walking over the farm this week and seeing the contrasting colors in flowers and trees we are convinced that not until fall will nature arrange a more colorful display.

Flowering wild crab trees, haws, violets, purple phlox, shooting stars, catkins on the oaks . . . all were at their peak this week. The woods display many delicate pastel shades of green and below this bank of color were the brighter colors of wild flowers.

It has been "blue week" in the woods. The flowers of the Jacob's ladder are a deep blue. The first wild geraniums appeared this week light blue. In the east woods the purple phlox, one of our most attractive wild flowers, have covered the ground with a gay carpet of blue. Violets still are abundant in the woods . . . another dash of blue.

Oak Shades Delicate.

The oak trees with their catkins and new leaves continue to furnish the most delicate shades of green on the farm. To take an inventory of the varying shades in the timber one needs a color chart. There's one old white oak on the farm that Dr. George F. Fuller, professor emeritus of ecology, University of Chicago, estimates to be close to 200 years old. This monarch of the trees, now in blossom, is silvery green. Other white oaks [more advanced] have a flush of pink in their new leaves. Burr oaks are a light green. The hickory trees scattered among the oaks show leaves that are light yellowish green. All of these trees together in a farm woodlot form a landscape picture that features the pastel shades of the month. And only in this May season is this unusual combination of colors seen.

Although the oaks, wild crabs, haws, and other farm trees command attention this week, a big horse chestnut tree wins the prize for large and beautiful flowers. One was displaying blossoms 8 to 10 inches long this week. The showy flowers are shaped much like miniature candelabra.

The practice of burning fields and woodlots was up for discussion on the farm again this week. This custom of burning has persisted for many decades in spite of the fact that all evidence supports the contention of soil experts that burning injures the fertility of the soil.

Long a Practice.

One of the men of the farm gave us an idea of how long the practice of burning has persisted on the Illinois prairies. He said his grandfather told him that the Indians were accustomed to burning the prairie every fall. Whether this was in connection with hunting, elimination of ticks, or for other reasons is not known.

One soil technician downstate says he is certain that early pioneers burned over their timber lands to control woodticks and other insects, and to allow new grass to shoot up more quickly. It was not realized for years that this practice was harmful to the soil.

The wild crab and haw trees have started their "white showers." We always hate to see the petals flutter down from these blossoms, because it means that the farm's most beautiful flower spectacle is declining. For a week the woods north of the pond have been resplendent with countless thousands of flowers on the crab and haw trees.

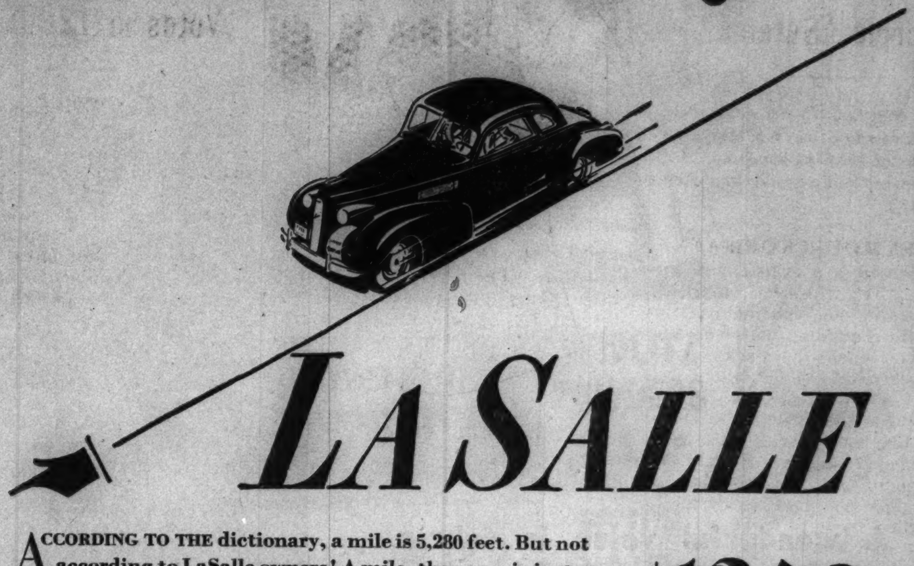
HOW FAR IS A MILE?



LaSalle

ACCORDING TO THE dictionary, a mile is 5,280 feet. But not according to LaSalle owners! A mile, they say, is just a little stretch of the smoothest, easiest, pleasantest riding it is possible to experience. And for you a mile will be just enough to make you realize why almost half the people who try a LaSalle immediately buy a LaSalle. We're eager to have you take the wheel. How about it—today?

To know the character of all the roads in the 15,000 square miles of territory within 125 miles of Chicago, keep a copy of the new 1939 Chicagoland Highway and General Reference map in your car at all times.

One side of this map shows in large scale the street, boulevard, and parkway system in Chicago and the suburban 40-mile area. Included also is a street guide to Chicago; a detailed map of the Loop; the nearby lake region to the north; lists of towns, golf courses, lakes, forest preserves, hospitals, cemeteries, and other points of interest.

The reverse side of the map pictures in slightly smaller scale the territory within 125 miles of Chicago—from Madison, Wis., on the northwest and Muskegon, Mich., on the northeast, to Pekin, Ill., on the southwest and Lafayette, Ind., on the southeast—showing the changes and improvements in arterial highways, state roads, and county connecting roads; towns, lakes, golf courses and points of interest.

The Chicagoland map is printed in six colors on special wear-resisting paper. Type and symbols are large and clear so that you can read the map in dim light. Its special accordion fold permits you to open to any part without unfolding the entire map. Size when folded is 5x9½ inches; open, 34½x37½ inches.

BENCH RECORDS OF EPSTEIN AND BICEK IN REVIEW

Former a Critic of State Parole System.

[This is the twelfth in a series of stories on candidates in the Cook county judicial election on June 5. Careers of sitting judges are being reviewed first.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, in his service in the Criminal court, has been one of the most vehement critics of the indeterminate sentence law, which he has repeatedly characterized as being a benefit to criminals at the expense of the public. Last December he charged that that law and the parole system have many glaring defects and urged passage of the Ward-Schnackenberg bill which would act as a curb on these abuses by making it mandatory for trial judges to fix minimum and maximum sentences for criminals.

Judge Epstein is a Democrat and is running for reëlection to the Circuit court on his party's ticket, which includes twenty other sitting judges, eight of them Republicans.

Entered Law in 1909.

Judge Epstein is 50 years old. He was born in Chicago and received his law degree from Northwestern university, entering practice in 1909. He established a meritorious record as an assistant United States district attorney from 1914 to 1920 and was special counsel for the government in prosecution of the Consumers Packing company case in 1921.

The judge was a special federal master in chancery from 1920 to 1922 and was a master in chancery of the Superior court from 1929 to 1933, when he was elected to the Circuit court on the coalition ticket.

Rated in Fourteenth Place.

The bar primary rated him fourteenth among the sitting judges, with 1,103 votes for his renomination and 644 against. He stood fifteenth in the results of the questionnaire on judicial fitness, with a percentage of 74.84.

The bar committee on candidates said he possessed capacity for good judicial work, but that his effectiveness was limited by a tendency to interrupt orderly procedure in court by the interjection of his personal views.

Judge Epstein lives at 4849 Ellis avenue. He is married and the father of two sons.

BICEK HANDLES JUVENILES

Judge Frank H. Bicek, Democrat, another candidate for reëlection, has been criticized frequently for his actions in the Juvenile court in sending tough and unruly young criminals to the St. Charles School for Boys. The school, an unwalled institution, has been the scene of many escapes and scandals in recent years. Half of its inmates are committed from Judge Bicek's court.

The judge's reply is that he does not believe in jailing young men for their first delinquency, but on their second offense they should be punished by sending them to St. Charles. If they escape from there and terrorize the neighborhood, he adds, that is not his fault but the fault of the institution.

Judge Bicek has been asked why more of the young offenders who have committed felonies are not turned over by the Juvenile court to the Criminal court for trial so that upon conviction they could be sent to a walled institution. To this he answers that in all cases in which defendants are more than 10 years old they could be sent to the Criminal court, but that in that event there would be no work for the Juvenile court.

Native of Chicago.

Judge Bicek is 52 years old and lives at 2526 South Ridgeway avenue with his wife and daughter. He was born in Chicago and was graduated from the Illinois College of Law in 1907. During 1913 he was chief deputy clerk and acting chief clerk of the Probate court. He was a master in chancery from 1925 to 1932.

In January, 1933, he was appointed by Gov. Horner to the Circuit court to finish the unexpired term of Judge Otto Kerner [now a federal judge] who at that time became state attorney general. Judge Bicek was reelected for a full six year term later that year. He has been assigned to the Juvenile court throughout his service on the bench.

The bar association committee on candidates described his record as excellent and said his work in the Juvenile court has been of high quality. He finished ninth in the bar primary, with 1,574 votes for his renomination and 170 against it. He was also ninth in the balloting on judicial fitness, with a percentage of 91.80.

G. O. P. IS WARNED TO PICK HARDING SUCCESSOR SOON

Johnson Tells State's Pivotal Position.

Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, former Republican state chairman, warned yesterday of the necessity for quick action by the state central committee when it meets at Springfield on June 10 to nominate a successor to the late George F. Harding as G. O. P. national committeeman from Illinois. At the previous meeting on April 29 the committee was deadlocked over four leading candidates after nine ballots.

"Illinois will be a pivotal state in the 1940 presidential election," said Johnson, now a member of the state committee. "Republican hopes of victory will depend on bringing this state back into our column. Chicago also has been suggested as the site for the Republican national convention.

Points to Work to Be Done.

"For these reasons, it is imperative that a national committeeman, responsible and efficient, be named at the June 10 meeting without delay. There is much work to be done, such as getting up a war chest and starting all elements of the party off in the right direction. Petty factional differences must be forgotten. Some of these factions seem to feel at present that if they can't have their candidate as committeeman, they don't care if Illinois doesn't have one."

State committeemen at the meetings to select a national committeeman vote the G. O. P. strength cast in their congressional districts on primary day. A candidate would have to receive 403,329 votes to become a nominee for national committeeman.

At the April 29 meeting, Charles R. Walgreen of Chicago, head of the drug store chain bearing his name, held the lead during most of the balloting. He was ahead on the first seven counts but fell behind Phil Collins, also of Chicago, former state commerce commissioner, on the eighth and ninth ballots.

Houston, Blackett Candidates.

The two other leading candidates are also Chicagoans. They are Thomas J. Houston, insurance broker and committeeman from the 10th congressional district, and Hill Blackett, advertising executive.

Collins has been known as a faithful adherent of Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight and in Collins' candidacy some Chicago Republicans saw an attempt by Smith to stage a political comeback by proxy. Smith was defeated for the committeemanship by Harding in 1936. Smith ran for United States senator from Illinois in 1926, and defeated the incumbent, William B. McKinley, but the senate refused to seat him because of large contributions to his campaign by the late Samuel Insull.

TICKET SPLITTING RAISES PROBLEM IN JUDICIAL FIGHT

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The question of how scratched ballots shall be counted in the June 5 judicial election has added a dash of complexity to the campaign in the 12th circuit, which comprises Iroquois, Will, and Kankakee counties. With eleven candidates on four tickets in the field, out of which three are to be elected, party managers fear some candidates may lose votes intended for them through carelessness of those who split their tickets.

Cause of the possible trouble is this: Each ticket has been given a party circle on the ballot. The secretary of state's office has ruled the nonpartisan ticket and the People's ticket are to have circles, although some attorneys contend this is not contemplated in the law.

Republicans and Democrats have been urging the voters only to put a cross in the party circle. If, however, a voter marks a cross in the circle and then crosses over to another ticket and votes for a candidate, he will have voted for four candidates for three places.

Dispute Over Counting.

There is dispute as to how such ballots should be counted. Some insist the entire ballot is spoiled. But a Supreme court ruling has been found by lawyers at Joliet and Kankakee which says a ballot so marked should be counted for the candidate with the cross in the square opposite his name, and him alone, because he is a definite choice of the voter. Thus the ballot has been spoiled for all three candidates under the party circle containing the cross.

Republican managers in Will county today prepared to broadcast instructions to the voters that if tickets are split the only safe way is to mark crosses in three squares opposite three names.

In Iroquois county, a large vote is expected for Judge Claude N. Saum, Watseka Democrat, who did not choose to run with Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet, unfavorably known for his injunction in 1936 stopping Will county officials from interfering with slot machines. Saum is running on the nonpartisan ticket.

Expect Many Scratches.

Elmer A. Taylor of Watseka, four times state's attorney of Iroquois county, is on the People's ticket. Roscoe C. South of Watseka is the Republican nominee. Herman W. Danforth of Danforth, in Iroquois county, is on the Democratic ticket despite his protests and is saying he does not want the voters to vote for him. With all this talent in the field from Iroquois county, including good vote getters, scratched ballots are expected.

In both party machines in the district signs of uprisings are spoken of by nonpartisan and People's groups. The Democrats are split over Judge Wilson. Will county Republican workers are said to be divided.

William R. McCabe, former Republican state's attorney of Will county, who is on the People's ticket with Taylor, declares a group of Joliet G. O. P. precinct committeemen is supporting his ticket in resentment against the Barr organization. James V. Bartley, Republican nominee from Joliet, is a law associate of Senator Richard J. Barr and George Barr, his brother. Some soreness still remains from the Republican nominating convention, although there is no reproach of the candidate himself. McCabe on the People's ticket and R. C. Schoenstedt of Joliet, on the nonpartisan ticket, are expected to cut into the Will county voting.

SOME OF JUDGES ARE UNFIT, SAYS G.O.P. CANDIDATE

A number of the sitting judges, who are seeking reëlection on the Democratic ticket on June 5 are neither able nor qualified and their records have been condemned by the Chicago Bar association, Thomas H. Slusser, a Republican nominee for judge, said last night. He spoke at a 38th ward G. O. P. rally in the Grand View Gardens hall, Grand and Narragansett avenues.

"At the bar of the great court of public opinion," Slusser said, "some of these sitting judges do not come in 'with clean hands.' Their hands are smeared with the false claim made by them and glib spokesman on their behalf that every candidate on the Democratic ticket is able, experienced, and qualified for office."

PWA-DICTATED SUBWAY PLANS ADD TO COSTS

More Millions Needed to Protect Loop Buildings.

Subway building methods that will require millions of dollars to safeguard foundations on State and Dearborn streets buildings were dictated by the federal Public Works administration, construction engineers explained yesterday. They said the city's original plans for a State street subway, which the PWA tossed aside in favor of its own methods, would have caused much less disturbance to building foundations and thus would have lowered the cost of protecting them.

Private engineers' estimates earlier this week brought to light the heavy costs necessary to protect foundations on State and Dearborn streets, where subway tunneling will begin in a few months. Whether building owners or the city must foot the eventual bills will be decided in the courts.

Expense to be Additional.

The expense, whoever pays it, will be in addition to the $40,000,000 cost of the subway system itself. The city's original plans called for a high level subway eighteen feet beneath the surface of State street. The cost of the entire subway system under this plan would have been $32,000,000.

The PWA refused to accept the plan. It insisted on subways 40 feet below the surface of State street and Dearborn street, and dictated plans for a system that would cost $40,000,000. In order to get the PWA grant, which amounted to $18,000,000, the city accepted the PWA plans and put up the remaining $22,000,000.

The lower depth of the tubes planned by PWA and the different method of construction required as a result of the depth will disturb foundations more than the city method would have done city engineers said yesterday. They declared it is a simple engineering principle that the deeper the digging, the greater is the disturbance to building foundations.

Rejected Plan Explained.

The city plans for a high level State street subway called for construction by the so-called "cut and cover" method. Under this system, an open ditch is dug. The pavement is taken up and a temporary plank road is placed over the ditch to accommodate automobile trafic, street cars and pedestrians.

Before major excavation operations begin on "cut and cover" jobs, however, special precautions are taken to protect building foundations. Heavy sheet steel piling is driven about thirty-five feet into the earth on either side of the street to form solid walls of steel. The piling forms the outer walls of the subway.

The PWA method that will be used in low level subways in State and Dearborn streets does not call for open cutting from the surface. The low level tubes are constructed by boring tunnels underground. This requires the use of compressed air, steel plates, and steel ribs to safeguard against caveins.

Small Buildings Braced.

City engineers have announced that giant steel cylindrical shields will be used in tunneling under loop streets, in addition to compressed air, plates, and ribs. They decided on the additional safeguard in view of the soft ground and high buildings in the loop, which increase the problem of protecting foundations. Foundations of small buildings on State street near Chicago avenue are being braced to protect them against the tunneling already underway. Shields are not used there.

Construction engineers have pointed out that the shields probably will mean higher costs, and that their use would have been unnecessary under the original city plans. Joshua D'Esposito, project engineer for the PWA on the subway, also estimates that the shields will add to the expenses.

Eight shields will be needed in loop tunneling. They cost about $50,000 each. Each shield is twenty-five feet in diameter and fifteen feet long. The shield's hood, or prow, cuts the tunnel and is pushed ahead by huge hydraulic jacks. The shield protects the tunnel on all sides and also keeps the front face of earth from being exposed, preventing a cavein.

Relief for the Single Comparison of relief cases as to number in each type of case during April, when 109,556 cases were enrolled by the Chicago Relief administration.

Nearly half of the 109,556 cases on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration during April were single persons, E. E. Ferebee, CRA statistician, reported yesterday. The single person cases totaled 51,906, or 47.4 per cent of the CRA's entire load.

Ferebee estimated that the single person cases are divided about half and half between men and women. He said that 20,093 of the entire number of cases consisted of two persons, 12,564 cases of three persons, 8,756 cases of four persons, 5,904 cases of five persons, and 10,333 cases of six or more persons.

Total costs during the month were $3,158,487, of which $341,613 was used for administrative expenses. The report showed that the average relief per case was $28.24 for the month.

Chicago Printers Elect Canty Union President

Thomas P. Canty defeated Ralph E. Fischer, incumbent, for president of the Chicago Typographical union, No. 16, according to unofficial returns in union headquarters yesterday. The union's territory includes the entire Chicago district. Canty is an employé of THE TRIBUNE. A runoff election will be held in two weeks for other offices in the union for which no candidate received the necessary percentage of the total vote, Harry B. Schaudt, the secretary, said.

READY TO BARE DETAILS OF WPA QUIZ IN CHICAGO

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—A mass of evidence concerning the operations of the Works Progress administration in Chicago will be presented to a house committee investigating the WPA at sessions beginning tomorrow.

Investigators have been scrutinizing the WPA setup in Chicago for several weeks, inquiring into charges of misuse of funds, extravagance in spending of relief money, and the intrusion of politics into the management of the agency.

While the nature of the investigators' findings were kept a secret, Committee Counsel J. O'Connor Roberts stated significantly that it was voluminous and that two days at least would be consumed by the testimony of the investigators alone. Later, engineers loaned to the committee by the treasury department will present a study of WPA projects in Chicago, comparing their costs with construction work of the same character performed under private contract.

The investigators were reported to have discovered evidence of a powerful influence wielded in Chicago by communistic organizations, in particular the Workers' alliance, union of WPA workers. Communists, it was reported, were able to dictate in one instance what individuals should be dismissed from a project when a reduction was ordered.

The committee today heard two Democratic governors of southern states state frankly that some politics existed in the operations of the WPA in their states. Neither would admit that there was any disgrace attached to the invasion of politics into the distribution of relief funds.

Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana and Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee were the witnesses. The latter uttered a general disclaimer to the charge, made before the committee last week but later retracted, that he had benefited as a result of real estate improvements caused by the construction of WPA lakes and dams.

Gov. Cooper said neither he nor any of his relatives owned any property within ten miles of a WPA lake constructed in his native county of Bedford. Two investigators have been sent back to Tennessee to investigate the general charges that politicians had reaped real estate profits in that state as a result of the retraction of the charges made by Ernest R. Kuhne of the Tennessee game and fish commission. After he made the charges Kuhne was fired. He then retracted the charges.

"There's some politics in the WPA in Tennessee," Gov. Cooper told the committee, "but no more than there is in any other government department. I don't see how you could keep it out."

"There's a little politics in the WPA in my state," chimed in Gov. Leche, "but there's no harm to it."

"You see nothing wrong in the intrusion of any politics at all into the spending of money for the needy?" asked Representative George W. Johnson [D., W. Va.]. Both governors maintained their stand.

The two governors spoke with pride of the fact that their states have balanced budgets. But when members of the committee tried to get them to agree that a balanced budget for the national administration was a desirable objective they shied away from an answer.

"Balancing the federal budget is a job for congress," they told the committee. "It's not for us to render an opinion on that."

FRANCO ENTERS EXCITED MADRID IN GLORY TODAY

130,000 Troops Parade in Victory Review.

MADRID, May 18.—(AP)—Hundreds of thousands waited in fiesta mood tonight for Gen. Francisco Franco's triumphant entry into this traditional capital of Spain tomorrow, symbolizing establishment of Spain's new nationalist order. Franco is to enter the city by automobile through streets strewn with olive branches—symbols of Spain's peaceful intentions toward all nations.

[Other dispatches said Gen. Franco had entered Madrid yesterday, but that he had remained in comparative seclusion awaiting the parade today to make his first public appearance.]

The day will be a national holiday and it may prove a landmark in the new régime's course. In one of the mightiest military demonstrations in Spanish history, Italian and German soldiers who served the Nationalists will parade for the last time in Spain.

An estimated 12,000 Italians will sail soon for home from Cadiz and Alicante. Between 5,000 and 6,000 Germans are to sail from Vigo. Also, in a speech—after the parade—Franco is expected to tell the world of Spain's future foreign policies and announce his program for Spanish reconstruction.

Soldiers to Become Workmen.

Hundreds of thousands of his soldiers, to be demobilized after the victory celebration, are expected to be assigned to reconstruction tasks and employed in industries which have returned to peaceful manufactures after supplying armaments for more than two years.

The generalissimo will receive the Grand Cross Laureada from high army officers tomorrow at the Victoria tribune before he reviews about 130,000 of his troops. Besides a bodyguard of Spanish war heroes, Franco will have with him high Italian and German officials, members of the diplomatic corps in Spain and his staf of military and naval chiefs. H. F. Matthews, American chargé d'affaires, arrived last night.

Between 700 and 1,000 airplanes will maneuver over the city. Many will be flown by Italians and Germans.

Shoot Eight Socialists.

Eight leaders of a Socialist youth organization, Juventud Socialista Unificada, died before the firing squad today. They were accused of assassinations while Madrid was in Republican hands during the civil war.

In San Sebastian it was announced that the city council had ordered the palace of Miramar and all other former personal property of the Spanish royal family returned to former King Alfonso XIII. The council's action was the first to give effect to Gen. Franco's recent decree returning to the ex-sovereign all properties he held in Spain before the proclamation of the republic in 1931.

RICHARD S. BULL, PAPER COMPANY PRESIDENT, DEAD

Richard S. Bull, president of Bradner, Smith & Co., wholesale paper house, died last night in the Evanston hospital after a long illness. He was 47 years old and lived at 43 Locust road, Winnetka.

Mr. Bull was prominent in the paper industry. He was actively interested in several companies and was a former president of the Western Paper Trade association. He was also known to war veterans. He served with Battery C, 1st Illinois field artillery, on the Mexican border and later with the 333d field artillery during the war. He was made a major.

In 1917 Mr. Bull married Miss Sara Rozet Smith, daughter of Frederick Mather Smith and of Mrs. Charles H. Hamill. Mrs. Bull survives, as do three daughters and one son. They are Mrs. Bayne O'Brien, Miss Sarah R. and Miss Mary C. Bull, and Richard S. Bull Jr. Funeral services will be announced later.

SHANAHAN WILL CONTEST, IS PUT OFF UNTIL FALL

An extension of time for the filing of additional briefs was granted yesterday in the David E. Shanahan will contest case, pending in the Illinois Supreme court. The delay means that the case will be heard in October instead of June. It will be argued orally. An appeal from the Cook county Circuit court decision upholding terms of the will was taken last Jan. 30 by the Misses Mary and Margaret Flynn, cousins of Shanahan, a veteran Illinois legislator. The will leaves most of the $850,000 estate to Helen Troesch Shanahan, his former secretary, whom he married in 1935 on his deathbed.

FATHER AND SON BURNED.

Bert Williams, 34 years old, a landscape gardener, and his son, Bert Jr., 5, were burned last night by an explosion of gasoline fumes in the garage at the rear of their home at 2455 North Springfield avenue.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Adeline C. Qualey.

Mrs. Adeline C. Qualey, retired newspaper proofreader, died of a heart attack yesterday while walking near her home at 4536 Clifton avenue. She was 68 years old. Her husband, Ignatius, said his wife had worked as a proofreader on the old Chicago Times, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and the New York World. A daughter, Mrs. Ruth Blair of 925 Irving Park road, also survives.

Col. Charles de Forest Chandler.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Col. Charles de Forest Chandler, 60 years old, United States army retired, who was one of the pioneers of the army air service and commanded the balloon section of the A. E. F. air force during the world war, died today. Col. Chandler had been identified with army flying since its inception.

Hugh Sterling Pollock.

Hugh Sterling Pollock, superintendent of the Royston Wholesale Grocery company of Aurora, died yesterday in his home at 417 Seminary avenue in that city. He was 62 years old. His widow, Effie, and a son survive.

Charles F. Hurburgh.

Charles F. Hurburgh, former state senator from Galesburg, died of a heart attack last night while on a Ravenswood-Rosehill street car. Mr. Hurburgh was 62 years old and lived at 1033 Loyola avenue with his wife, Anna. He had real estate offices at 6 North Clark street. Mr. Hurburgh nearly thirty years ago was known as one of the state's most progressive Republicans. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1912.

Prof. Blair Converse.

Ames, Ia., May 18.—(AP)—Prof. Blair Converse, 46 years old, head of the Iowa State college technical journalism department, died today of heart disease. Converse joined the Iowa State faculty in 1919, coming from Milwaukee, Wis., where he was a member of the Journal editorial staff.

Col. Harrison Summers Kerrick.

Minonk, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Col. Harrison Summers Kerrick, retired army officer, who died in Hot Springs, Ark., Monday night, have been postponed until 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Arlington National cemetery.

STRICT WHEATON SUSPENDS CO-ED, 2 MEN STUDENTS

Wheaton college at Wheaton holds to a strict interpretation of the fundamental virtues. Each of its 1,200 students was required at matriculation time to pledge abstinence from alcoholic liquor, tobacco, card playing, dancing, and theater attendance.

Yesterday Dr. Wallace Emerson, dean of the college, announced that three students who had found the régime too rigid had been suspended for the rest of the term. One is a sophomore co-ed, whose name and offense against the code were withheld.

The others are Herbert Jauchen Jr., a junior who was manager of the track and soccer teams of the college, and Robert Le Tourneau, a senior majoring in chemistry and an honor student. Le Tourneau will not receive his degree with the rest of the class. Dean Emerson reported that both young men were guilty of drinking alcoholic beverages.

Jauchen's home is at 6 Gardner place, Leominster, Mass. Le Tourneau lives at 703 Southeast 28th street, Portland, Ore. It was reported both had left for home.

MARENGO HIGH TO GRADUATE 70.

Marengo, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—The Marengo Community High school will graduate the largest class in its history on June 9 when 70 seniors will receive diplomas. The commencement program will be unusual in that there will be no speaker.

AFTER 12 YEARS CHIEF OF EVANSTON'S POLICE REPORTED ON WAY OUT

William O. Freeman, chief of police of Evanston since 1927, is to be supplanted, it was reliably reported last night. It is understood that he was notified by a letter from Mayor Henry D. Penfield yesterday that he would not be reappointed. Neither Chief Freeman nor Mayor Penfield would discuss the reports.

Three persons figure as leading candidates for Freeman's job. They are Lieut. John Leonard of the Chicago park district police, said to be first choice; Raymond Ashworth, associate director of the Northwestern university trafic institute, and Lieut. Peter Geishecker of the Evanston force. Ashworth is only 34 years old and a former captain of police in Wichita, Kas.

Pittsburgh Foundry Swept by Million Dollar Blaze

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—(AP)—A four alarm fire swept through the Pittsburgh Gray-Steel Foundry company tonight and caused damage estimated by General Manager R. F. Holtz at $1,250,000.

MAYER WIDOW WINS $800,000 REFUND ON TAX

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday ordered the payment of approximately $800,000 in federal estate taxes and interest to Mrs. Rachel Mayer, widow of Levy Mayer, Chicago attorney. Mr. Mayer died Aug. 14, 1922, leaving most of an estate estimated at $8,102,000 to his widow and two daughters.

The payment ordered by Judge Sullivan is based on a claim of $450,000 and interest from a payment of $1,264,000 in federal estate taxes. Mrs. Mayer contended that $2,100,000 of the estate left by Attorney Mayer was her dower interest and should not have been included in the estate when the tax was computed.

Assistant District Attorney David Bazelon said the government would appeal the ruling. He explained that since the Mayer payment a law authorizing the taxing of dower interests has been enacted.

Bridgetender Fatally Hurt by Fall on Tower Stairs

John Oswald, 65 years old, bridgetender at the new Webster avenue bridge, was fatally injured last night when he fell down several steps as he was entering the tower. He apparently slipped or became faint as he was going up the steps, police said. He lived at 3516 Fullerton avenue.

Herb Healer Magic Turns $200 Into Old Paper Bag

Morris, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, an elderly couple, were fleeced out of $200 yesterday by an herb healing racket practiced on Mrs. White by a woman described as a gypsy. After a hocus pocus of placing a roll of bills in an empty coffee can so that it would not cast a spell on an herb charm, Mrs. White found the can contained only an old paper bag.

BARGAIN TIME IN VEGETABLES IS HERE AGAIN

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you like to buy quality as well as quantity with the food nickels you spend you'll be including plenty of fresh vegetables in your menus this week.

There are bargains in canned goods, staples, fresh fruits, and meats, but almost all price ups and downs on the green grocers' shelves are "downs," and quality runs from good to excellent.

It's the height of the season for asparagus, most of which is now coming from central and nearby points in Illinois. Price is even lower than last week. Green beans are of excellent quality and are selling somewhat lower.

Cucumbers to Be on Sale.

Cabbage, carrots, and cauliflower will tempt you with their reasonable prices and fine quality. Cucumbers and tomatoes will be on sale in several chain and many independent stores. New potatoes have taken a big price drop.

There are plenty of greens around waiting to be picked up by salad minded customers. What's more, that most important ingredient of the springtime salad bowl—leaf lettuce—is here. It's cheap, too. Standby head lettuce is slated to be a bit dear this week-end, by the way. Throw your salad together with a generous dash of your own imagination. This is how I plan to make mine:

Leaf Lettuce Salad Bowl.

Wash leaf lettuce and romaine in several waters. Dry carefully. Add 1 cucumber, sliced, and about ¼ cup sliced radishes. Broil 2 or 3 strips of chopped bacon until crisp. Drain and add to vegetables. To 2 tablespoons of the bacon drippings add 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ to 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ⅓ cup vinegar, and 1 hard cooked egg, sieved. Mix well and toss greens lightly in this dressing. Serve at once.

Speaking of salads, try heaping a pile of sweet cherries on top of two banana halves for a flavorsome fruit salad. The sweet cherries are still on the high side, but are getting cheaper by the week. Halved sweet cherries are a palate tickling topping for pineapple ice, too.

Stores are offering biscuit mixes and ready baked sponge cakes, both in layer and individual styles, to cater to your fancy for strawberry shortcake. If it's extra special company you're expecting for Sunday night supper, serve strawberries between the layers and on top of this nut torte:

STRAWBERRY NUT TORTE.
[Serves 6 to 8.]

- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup chopped walnut meats
- ¼ cup coarse graham cracker meal
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 quart strawberries
- Whipped cream

Beat egg yolks and sugar until thick and lemon colored. Add nutmeats. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites alternately with crushed graham cracker meal which has been mixed with salt and baking powder. Add vanilla. Bake in two ungreased layer pans in a moderate [350 degrees] oven about 25 to 30 minutes. Put cleaned and halved strawberries between layers and on top of torte. Garnish with whipped cream.

Biggest news at the meat counter is the drop in lamb prices in the last few weeks. Lamb, which has clung to top Easter prices throughout April is now one of the cheapest meats on the wholesale market.

Jelly Glazed Leg of Lamb.

Have leg of lamb frenched at the market. Season with salt and pepper and place fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not remove fell. Roast in a moderately slow [300 to 325 degrees] oven until done, allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound. Baste during roasting with a sauce made by combining 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 tablespoon vinegar, ¼ cup currant or other tart jelly, and ¼ teaspoon prepared mustard. Serve with a gravy made from drippings.

LAMB PIE.

- 1 cup carrots, diced
- 8 to 10 small onions
- 1 green pepper, sliced
- ½ cup diced celery
- 1 pimiento, diced
- 2 cups diced cooked lamb
- Salt and pepper
- Leftover gravy

MANY A COOKING 'ACCIDENT' TURNS INTO TASTY DISH

The best cooking tricks are frequently discovered accidentally. The following "successful accidents" are passed on for what they may be worth to you.

Save those stems: Cauliflower and broccoli stems too thick and tough to be served with tender heads may be chopped and cooked separately. Serve creamed. Guests always are curious about the identity of these delicious new vegetables.

An Unusual Dessert.

Of fruit and fruit juice: Soak prunes in claret overnight, cook until tender and serve chilled with whipped cream for dessert. . . . For an unusual dessert, place a dipper of ice cream in a lemonade glass and fill with grape juice. Serve with a straw and long handled spoon, à la chocolate soda.

Spices for variety: Add a bit of caraway seed when cooking new cabbage and serve buttered or creamed. . . . Sprinkle the top of that apple pie with plenty of cinnamon and a pinch of powdered fennel before putting on the upper crust. . . . Add one tablespoon chopped mint leaves and two teaspoons Worcestershire sauce to lamb stew just before serving. . . . One teaspoon of onion salt or a few drops of onion juice added to the ice water in which raw carrot sticks are crisped gives them extra zip.

Salad for Six.

Salad note: Add chopped crisp bacon or anchovy curls to your next salad bowl of mixed greens. . . . Combine 1 cup chopped apple, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, salt to taste and enough mayonnaise to moisten. This makes enough salad to serve six persons.

Add a bit of cheese: Melt a little grated nippy cheese [¼ cup cheese to 1 cup sauce] in the white sauce you use on creamed vegetables. . . . As a substitute for whipped cream served on fruit pies and desserts, soften cream cheese with a little cream and work in confectioners' sugar to taste; then beat until fluffy with a rotary beater. . . . For an easy luncheon dish, serve cheese sauce over poached eggs. Sprinkle with a bit of paprika and garnish with a sprig or two of parsley.

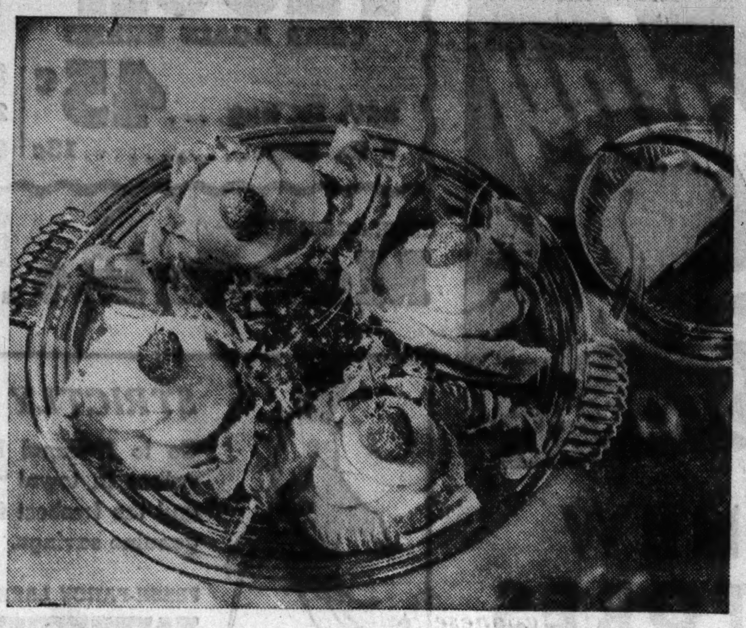
Dessert sauces: Fold crushed macaroon crumbs into the boiled custard sauce you serve over fresh fruit. . . . Hot maple sirup and plenty of chopped pecans make a "swell" sundae of vanilla ice cream. . . . Glorify custard and cornstarch puddings with a topping of crushed peanut brittle and fresh strawberries or fresh pineapple mixed together.

Ogle County Appoints Woman as Its Clerk

Oregon, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ada Mackay McGurk, a member of the Ogle county clerk's staff since 1919 and for several years acting chief deputy, has been appointed county clerk by the board of supervisors. She succeeds Sidney J. Hess, who died Tuesday.

HAROLD TEEN—ONLY ONE ALTERNATIVE

For a Bridge Party



This bridge salad plate makes use of the season's newest fruit offerings. Each cup of romaine holds several slices of orange on a ring of unpeeled cantaloupe and is garnished with a single whole strawberry. A pile of unstemmed sweet cherries is a splash of red in the center of the plate. The salad dressing, served with it, is a blend of ⅛ cup lemon juice, ½ cup of salad oil, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, and ½ cup currant jelly or honey.

FINELY GROUND LAMB MAKES A TASTY RING MOLD

Ground meats, combined with bread crumbs, eggs, and seasonings make attractive baked ring molds. The center of the ring mold may be filled with creamed vegetables, and a mashed potato border may be arranged around the outside of the ring; or if you prefer your vegetables buttered, arrange them around the outside and fill the center with mashed potatoes. Lamb makes this ring, which is subtly flavored with catsup. Use lamb shoulder, shank, or neck meat, finely ground.

LAMB RING.

2 pounds lean lamb, ground
2 cups bread crums
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
½ cup catsup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper

Combine meat with bread crumbs and moisten with beaten eggs and milk. Add catsup and seasonings and pack into a greased ring mold. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until done, or about 1½ hours. Unmold on hot platter and serve immediately.

A WONDER DESSERT: ONE WONDERS HOW IT CAN BE SO DELICIOUS

Coffee jelly is one of those desserts that is so speedily made one wonders how it can taste so good. And it IS delicious.

COFFEE JELLY.
[Serves 8.]

1 pound marshmallows
2 cups strong coffee
1 cup nut meats
Cream or whipped cream

Place marshmallows in top of double boiler and pour over them the boiling strong coffee. Stir until dissolved. Add nutmeats. Turn into molds rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with cream or whipped cream.

EASY TO MAKE VARIOUS KINDS OF JELLY, JAM

Do you know how to make rhubarb conserve, sunshine strawberry preserves, orange pineapple jelly, rhubarb and pinapple marmalade, strawberry and raspberry jelly? There is no excuse for lack of variety on the jelly shelf even when there are only a few fruits available for preserving.

With a good recipe and careful following of directions any women can make good jellies, jams, marmalades, butters, preserves, and conserves. And these seemingly minor items are the ones which most frequently mark the dinner as a real home cooked one.

You'll find recipes for all the preserves mentioned here and many, many others as well in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies." Her booklet also tells you all about jelly and preserve making; what errors you have made when you have a failure.

The booklet contains ninety-nine recipes, sells for 20 cents or 23 cents by mail. It is on sale at the Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and in the Tribune Tower lobby. Mail requests should be addressed to Mary Meade.

For canning information and recipes see her booklet, "Homemakers' Guide to Canning," 5 cents; 7 cents by postpaid mail.

AVOID TASTELESS SPICES BY JUST DATING THE CANS

The careful housewife always sees that her coffee supply is fresh. But sometimes it doesn't occur to her that spices may grow stale and tasteless, too, if they aren't replaced once in a while.

Age and exposure to air take a lot of zest out of such spices as cloves, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg, paprika, curry powder, pepper, and others in common use, especially when such spices are ground. So it's wise to make replacements every six or eight months. No spice should be kept on the shelf for more than a year, even if it isn't in frequent use, for it will weaken on long standing.

Spices should be bought in fairly small quantities. It's a good plan to date each package with a pencil when it is purchased so that the cook may keep track of the time and renew her spices as often as needful. Fresh spices have a great deal to do with the flavor of fine cakes, pastries, and sauces in which they are used.

HERE'S A TASTY, FILLING DISH FOR SUMMER DAYS

With summer weather approaching the menu planner begins racking her brain and searching her recipe files for good cold dishes. A salmon mold, made more filling with the addition of vegetables and more lively with a taste of horseradish, is a really good cold main dish. The recipe is worth filing away where it will be ready for use on the first hot day that comes along.

SALMON VEGETABLE MOLD

1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 pint hot water
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons drained horseradish
1 cup flaked salmon
1 cup canned peas
1 cup cooked diced carrots

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add vinegar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Pour thin layer of gelatin in bottom of loaf pan. Chill until firm. Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and horseradish to salmon and vegetables and mix lightly. Fold fish and vegetable mixture into the slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into loaf pan over firm layer of gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with lettuce curls and radish roses.

COFFEE CAKES CAN BE DRESSED UP FOR AFTERNOON AFFAIRS

Yeast coffee cakes and rings are quite suitable for informal afternoon tea when said cakes are decked out with tempting partified toppings. A strawberry jam and nut glaze is just the topping to put coffee cake [or even butter cake] in a party mood.

STRAWBERRY NUT GLAZE.
[for 2 9 inch cakes.]

½ cup confectioners' sugar.
2 tablespoons strawberry jam.
2 tablespoons cream.
¼ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon grated orange rind.
Cinnamon.

Combine sugar, jam, cream salt, and orange rind, blending well. Spread thinly over top of cake as soon as removed from oven. Sprinkle evenly with chopped nuts and dust with cinnamon.

Biscuit Recipe
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup Wilson's Certified Lard
¾ cup milk
Mix and sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl; cut in shortening. Pour milk into bowl and stir briskly. Let stand for three minutes, then toss onto slightly floured board and knead lightly for several minutes. Pat or roll dough to one inch thickness, brush top with milk and cut with small biscuit cutter. Bake on lightly greased biscuit sheet in hot oven (475 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes.

The latest idea in shortenings is Certified LARD . . . .

MEXICAN PARTY IS FUN, EVEN IF IT COMES IN CAN

Atmosphere Lends Aid to Simple Menu.

BY RUTH ELLEN LOVRIEN.

Mexican parties can be a lot of fun for a hostess as well as for guests. Gay colored potteries and place mats, brilliantly painted gourds, and little pots of cactus are to be found in many a department store. The menu can be simple but truly Mexican, whether the food comes out of cans or is cooked in the kitchen.

Mexican fried chicken with rice, tortillas, avocado and orange salad, pineapple pie and Mexican chocolate might be served at such a party. Or, if the hostess prefers not to spend much time in the kitchen, she may buy canned chili or tamales, and serve a tossed mixed vegetable salad, a fruit dessert and a drink with it.

POLLO FRITO A LA MEXICANA.
[Mexican Fried Chicken.]

3½ pound frying or roasting chicken, cut in pieces
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup flour
1 tablespoon chili powder
½ cup fat
1 onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
1 cup canned tomatoes
½ cup rice
1 cup water

Dip pieces of chicken in mixture of salt, flour, and chili powder, coating on all sides. Brown in fat in a skillet. When all pieces are brown remove to a plate. Add onion, green pepper, tomatoes, water, and rice to the pan. Season with salt and pepper and a teaspoonful more of chili powder if desired. Put pieces of chicken back into the pan on top of this mixture; cover and cook very gently until rice and chicken are tender, about 40 minutes. Add more water from time to time if necessary. Whole ripe olives may be added to the combination about 15 minutes before removing from range.

TORTILLAS.
[Two dozen.]

1 cup cornmeal
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons bacon fat.

Stir boiling water into cornmeal. Add salt, bacon fat. Mix well. Pat into thin, flat cakes and bake on a lightly greased griddle, turning with pancake turner as they brown.

Here's another Mexican menu suggestion: Heat cans of chili and tamales in gently boiling water for 20 minutes. Open the cans. Remove husks from the tamales and arrange tamales parallel to one another on a small, hot platter. Pour the chili over the tamales and serve with cole slaw, tortillas, and coffee.

Mexican style beans may be purchased in the can, also. These may be spooned into hollowed tomatoes and the combination may be baked in a moderate oven. This is an exceedingly good Mexican dish to serve with broiled bacon strips, dill pickles, light dessert, and coffee.

Sombrero salads on red or orange pottery are attractive and appetizing for a not-too-heavy Mexican meal.

SOMBRERO SALADS.

The rim of each sombrero is a ring of canned pineapple. Cottage cheese seasoned with a little chili powder and pineapple juice makes the crowns. Crowns may be shaped in peaks or they may be creased. Dry cottage cheese rings or strips of green pepper and pimiento make the hat band and the bow. Sombreros should be served on lettuce. Whipped cream dressing may be served separately.

Oxford Students Drink Beer Offered as Fine for Murder

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—Today was free beer day for 500 students at Brasenose college, Oxford. As part of the penalty for the murder of a Brasenose man in the middle ages by Lincoln college undergraduates, Lincoln college has to provide free beer every Ascension day for as many Brasenose men as care to apply. To limit consumption in recent years, the beer has been doctored. Much wassail went on today, however.

Lift Breakfast Out of Rut with a Coffee Cake

A tender, fluffy coffee cake is just the thing to lift your breakfast out of the rut into which this meal so easily drifts. This is a rich one which also makes a good hot bread for suppers and light lunches.

CINNAMON COFFEE CAKE.

⅝ cup sugar
½ cup butter
2 eggs, well beaeten
1 teaspoon soda
1 teapsoon baking powder
1½ cups flour
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 cup sour milk

TOPPING.

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon cinnamon

Cream butter and sugar together, then stir in eggs. Sift flour with soda, baking powder, and cinnamon. Add alternately with milk. Beat one minute. Put into buttered baking dish and spread with topping ingredients which have been mixed together. Bake in a slow [325 degrees] oven for 60 minutes or until done.

Not All Salads Require Fruit or Raw Vegetables

Salad means crisp raw vegetables or fruits to most persons. One seldom thinks of a cooked vegetable as a suitable choice for a salad. But green beans, flavored with raw onion and served with a sour cream dressing, make a fine salad. Evaporated milk and vinegar substitute for sour cream in this recipe.

GREEN BEAN SALAD.
[Serves 5.]

2½ cups cooked or canned string beans
1 small onion, finely chopped
Salt and pepper
½ cup irradiated evaporated milk
1½ teaspoons vinegar

Cut beans diagonally. Add onion, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Add vinegar to milk and stir until blended. Pour over mixed beans and onions, and chill one hour.

EMERGENCY DISH IS EASY TO MAKE AND INEXPENSIVE

When a woman finds an emergency dish that is as inexpensive as it is quick to make she knows she has something. This is one of those dishes. It is nothing more nor less than hamburger patties served with a sauce consisting chiefly of canned asparagus soup. The same sauce can be made from fresh puréed asparagus and white sauce if you prefer.

HAMBURGER WITH ASPARAGUS SAUCE.
[Serves Six.]

1⅓ pounds ground beef
Salt and pepper
Bacon drippings
1 can condensed asparagus soup
¾ cup milk
⅓ cup grated nippy cheese
2 strips bacon, minced and cooked

Season meat with salt and pepper and shape into small, somewhat flattened, patties. Cook in drippings from the bacon. Meanwhile add milk to soup and heat in top of double boiler. When hot add grated cheese and bacon and continue heating until cheese is melted. Serve over hamburgers.

VIRGINIA BRUCE
Reveals her secret to
WALTER PIDGEON
While Making
Their New M-G-M Picture
"SOCIETY LAWYER"

WALTER: This coffee beats any I've had, Virginia. It's so rich and full-flavored. You're marvelous!
VIRGINIA: Well, I'll have to tell you my secret, Walter. It isn't me ... it's the coffee I use!

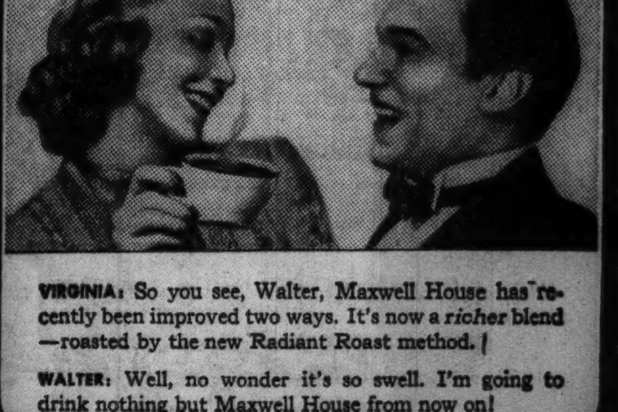
VIRGINIA: Of course not, silly. This is the new Radiant Roast Maxwell House you've heard so much about.

NOW—IMPROVED IN TWO IMPORTANT WAYS!
(1) The new Radiant Roast Maxwell House is a new blend that's far richer, mellower and more flavorful than ever before.
(2) It's roasted by the new Radiant Roast method. Radiant, penetrating heat is used to roast each coffee bean evenly all the way through, thus bringing you richer, more full-flavored coffee. Coffee always smooth and mellow—never bitter due to parching. Always full-bodied—never weak due to under-roasting. Try the new Radiant Roast Maxwell House today and enjoy the tempting goodness of coffee at its best!



VIRGINIA: So you see, Walter, Maxwell House has recently been improved two ways. It's now a richer blend—roasted by the new Radiant Roast method.
WALTER: Well, no wonder it's so swell. I'm going to drink nothing but Maxwell House from now on!

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Knowing how keenly you and your readers enjoy a well played hand, I submit the following. It was played by a friend of mine and I was just an onlooker. My breath was so completely taken away that I almost forgot to kibitz:

"North, dealer.
"North-South vulnerable.
"Rubber bridge.

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 diamonds	Double	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 spades	Pass
7 spades	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

"East's double of three diamonds was not good, as it later helped declarer in the play. His double of seven spades was still worse, as it might have forced South to seven no trump which would have been cold and which, incidentally, my friend admits he should have bid, but then there would have been no hand to write about!

"West opened the diamond five and declarer won with the queen. He then led to dummy's king of trumps and discovered the bad break. Realizing the hand could be made only by couping East's trumps, declarer led dummy's remaining trump. East, of course, played the nine and South's jack won. The ace of diamonds was cashed and then the club queen was led and overtaken in dummy. Two more rounds of diamonds followed, South discarding his losing hearts, entirely confident that East, who had doubled diamonds, would have to follow suit. Then a small club was led and ruffed, declarer thus reducing himself to the A Q 8 of trumps, the same trump length as East now held. South now led to dummy's heart ace and returned the club king. When East discarded his last diamond declarer let go his good heart king. A club then was led from dummy and East's ten of trumps could not escape capture.

"The crucial play was the lead of a small club from dummy after cashing the two high diamonds. This was a safety play to insure against East's having only one club and two hearts. If the club king had first been led, East, with one club, would have discarded a heart and so would South, but on another club lead from dummy East would discard his second heart or, if dummy's heart ace was played, there would later be no other entry to dummy which would let declarer coup East's ten of trumps. By ruffing a small club South guarded against this possibility because now, if East had only the one club and threw off a heart, dummy would be entered with the heart ace and the club king led. If East ruffs, South overruffs and draws trump, then cashes the heart king, whereas if East discards his diamond South discards the heart king and another club lead effects the coup. N. B., New York."

This hand was beautifully played, in that declarer took shrewd advantage of the information given him by East's bad doubles. The essence of plays involving coups is timing; that is, tricks must be cashed in precisely the right order. Otherwise the defender who is being couped can get rid of cards and prevent declarer from returning to the dummy. My correspondent's analysis is so full that there is nothing I need add except my usual warning on the subject of all-revealing penalty doubles that have very little to gain and a tremendous amount to lose. On the bidding [or even on weaker bidding from North-South] East had no earthly excuse for hoping that he could defeat three diamonds, hence his first double was absurd. When the North-South partnership eventually reached seven spades there was sound reason for hoping that the contract could be defeated, but surely it could not be slaughtered if North-South knew even approximately what they were doing. And since East could neither be positive of defeating seven spades, nor would wish the opponents to run to seven no trump, his double was indefensible. I am strongly inclined to feel that South should have bid seven no trump after the double, but as has already been pointed out, then there would have been no hand to write about.

Wise Parent Ignores Petty Bad Manners

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"My little girl has the most annoying habit—she gurgles her milk!"

"My little boy builds up a house of blocks, or I do, and he swings at it with his hand and over it goes!"

"My dainty little daughter spits. I call that a disgusting habit."

"My little girl bites, actually bites, people. I've scolded and punished and spanked."

Very, very seriously these and other mothers take these newly sprouting habits. If we who have children would only stop feeling that some harmless childish acts are "beyond the pale" or "bad," and others are correct or good, we'd get along better and our small ones would be spared a great deal of mental confusion. A good motto to keep on tap is "Pay no attention to it."

But why, why, you ask, do children do these things?

Well, let's see. When a little child discovers she can walk, run, sing, or pour her own milk, or knock over a pile of blocks, or gurgle in her milk, she proceeds to walk or run or sing, or knock over block houses, or gurgle in her milk. These are new powers—experiments—adventures.

But let's see what a lot of worry and attention do. Take the last complaint as an example.

Spitting—this one habit [which no one could call pretty] this little girl's mother finds revolting. She shows her disgust, she makes a fuss over it; in fact, it draws her time and attention toward her small daughter as nothing else ever has. And sensing cause and effect as even the youngest will, the little girl keeps up her tactics, where under wholesome neglect she would exhaust her interest in the action.

What to suggest in regard to this as well as other undesirable behavior? First, a bland ignoring of the habit. This will in some instances require almost superhuman self-control on your part. But try it.

Next, attention should be given to the small one's routine and play and playthings and management in general. If she has things of real interest to do, if she has real companionship of a loving and sensible kind in her parents, she won't keep this attention-getting behavior up long.

Each time we think there is no possible way to use tried-and-true crochet stitches in some new and unusual way, we are pleasantly surprised to discover how these stitches combine successfully to appear completely modern. Crocheted doilies done in treble crochet are one of the most attractive and easy-to-make forms of crochet work. These sets are excellent gifts for the bride-to-be or for any type of shower gift.

Unresponsive Beau May Be Only 'Cagey'

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It takes a great deal of patience and not a little talent sometimes to get the object of the feminine heart to respond after the fashion she has mapped out for him. Take today's correspondent, Kitty. She is 24, and the object of her current heartbeat is exactly ten years older. She met him last November, and there seemed to be a deep attraction between the pair, as Kitty interprets it. Her Romeo was nicer to her than to any other girl in the place. Others pointed out to Kitty that he acted like a boy with his first love affair.

"But that's about where the whole thing stops," Kitty writes. "It seems to me that he has had ample opportunity to manifest his love since our meeting. Especially in our church interests, in which we are both actively engaged. A more respectable place, you'll grant, could hardly be named.

"My mother rationalizes the case as partly due to my extreme youthfulness of appearance as opposed to his 34 years, and also to the fact that we are so much better placed financially than he. She tells me not to give up, that men of his age are likely to be cagey even when they care for a girl. It's the first time with any beau I've had my parents with me 100 per cent. What is your opinion?"

Our opinion is that your mother's judgment is worth recording. Bachelors of 34, you know, are sometimes quite cagey, as she says. They've waited so long, they want to be doubly sure now before making the plunge.

The financial difference might make him hesitate, as it is a difficult problem today to keep the girl in the luxuries to which she is accustomed.

More to the point, we think perhaps you are just a bit too eager under the circumstances. Perhaps a little patience would serve. Many women have had to wait and wonder and worry before they got the wanted words out of the man's mouth.

Mundelein Issues Plea for Funds for Charities

Cardinal Mundelein yesterday issued his formal appeal for Pentecost Sunday offerings for charity. Pentecost, which recalls the founding of the church, occurs Sunday, May 28. The day was described by the cardinal as having been called "Orphan's Day," in many places when funds for dependent children were collected. On Sunday Cardinal Mundelein will invest the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Magner, pastor of St. Mary church, Evanston, with the honors of a domestic prelate recently granted by Pope Pius XII. The ceremony will be held in the Evanston church.

Ideal for the Busy Woman

DRESS FOR WOMEN.

What most of us busy women need is a dress that may be worn everywhere and never show the effects of a strenuous day. Of necessity, this frock must be quite tailored, but that doesn't mean that it can't have charm. The pattern today is one of which we're proud because of its versatility and figure flattering lines. Women with silhouette problems will like it.

Both silks and cottons make up well in this trim frock, which has deft plaiting in the skirt and soft fullness in the bodice. Buttons are used all the way down the front, and the sleeves, which are full at the shoulders, may be either long and gathered into tight wristbands or short and cuffed.

As to the neckline, it may have a shirtwaist collar buttoned high at the throat, or it may open out, rever fashion, with a contrasting and detachable for laundering collar.

Prints are the best mediums for this simple dress, but plain shades, if appropriately dressed up with accessories, are acceptable, too.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the most popular treatments at a New York salon is now available in Chicago. This is a "foot mask," literally a beauty treatment for tired feet. It doesn't take long, isn't very expensive, and should be a rare treat on hot days when you are exhausted.

The treatment begins with a gentle, soothing foot massage, so relaxing and utterly pleasant it makes you want to purr. After this comes the mask itself, applied to take out all the aches and pains and general weariness.

On top of this comes still more attention to the much neglected underpinnings—a rubdown of feet and legs with a powdery liquid that is both a fragrant sachet and a bubble cologne. The skin looks smooth and well finished, but what's most exciting is the complete defeat of foot fatigue. No matter how bedraggled you feel when you go in you come out of the salon ready to dance.

This same salon also has worked out some marvelous treatments, varying in length and cost, for women who are especially concerned about the state of the skin around their eyes. That particular area seems to be more of a worry even than waistline or chin line lately. Some of the youngest women we know are much too old around the eyes.

The fine lines just love to settle there—and if neglected they'll always become deep wrinkles. Prevention, of course, is the best treatment. Some expert care, given regularly and not too late, will do wonders.

It's particularly important in massage of this area to have the services of an expert who knows exactly what she's doing. The delicate tissue around the eyes is not to be mauled or experimented with.

Misses Evelyn and Ellen Cross Will Be Brides

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANTIC news concerning two of the belles of University Colony club parties was contained in the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peete Cross of Chicago and Virginia made yesterday of the engagements of their daughters, Ellen Elizabeth and Evelyn Douglas. The former will be married in October to Storm Bull, the pianist and son of Mr. and Mrs. Eyvind Bull of Chicago. Miss Evelyn will be married within a year to Dr. Louis Shattuck Baer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Baer, also of Chicago.

The sisters attended school in Alençons, France, where they were little, and then studied at St. Margaret's in Virginia. Miss Ellen continued her studies at the University of Chicago and at the University of Poitiers in France. Miss Evelyn is studying now at the Art institute.

Mr. Bull, who appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in March, is a great-nephew of Ole Bull, famed violinist. His early education was in Chicago and later he went to Budapest to study piano with Bela-bartok. He and young Dr. Baer are good friends.

Dr. Baer was graduated with honors from the University of Chicago and from Rush Medical school. He is serving his interneship at the University hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich. He and his bride will live in Ann Arbor for the year following their marriage, until he finishes his work at the hospital.

Mrs. Cross is active in the Colony club, which plans so many delightful parties each year for the younger members of families in University of Chicago circles. Mr. Cross is professor of comparative literature and of English at the university.

Miss Mary Kultchar to Be Fall Bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frank Kultchar of New York, formerly of Winnetka, have announced the engagement of Mr. Kultchar's daughter, Miss Mary Huntington Kultchar, to Clare Charles Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stout of Minneapolis, Minn. The wedding will take place in Chicago in September.

Miss Kultchar attended the Packer Collegiate institute in Brooklyn and was graduated from Northwestern university. For the last three years she has been doing social service work at the Huntington club in Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Stout is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He is engaged in business in Syracuse.

Exhibit Colleen Moore Doll House June 10, 11.

The board of directors of Emerson Settlement house announce an interesting benefit that will appeal to people of all ages. It is an exhibit of Colleen Moore's famed doll house, to be held Saturday and Sunday, June 10 and 11, from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until midnight, in the ballroom of the Lake Shore Athletic club.

Miss Moore, Mrs. Homer Hargrave in private life, recently has added an entrancing fairyland garden, which is being prepared for the world's fair in New York. Through her kindness the settlement will benefit from a preview before the house and garden are shipped east.

The house, which has been valued as high as $750,000, fills 12 moving vans. It has been exhibited for several years, always to raise funds for crippled children. Emerson house will receive the entire proceeds from the coming exhibit.

Harris School Fathers and Sons Play Golf Today.

Keep Nonsense Theme in Latest Gadget Jewelry

BY RHEA SEEGER.

People either like or dislike the present supplies of nonsense novelty costume jewelry, so the new arrivals won't do very much toward changing the situation, for whimsy rages on and on. Dignity is to be airily tossed aside if you succumb to the charm of colored enameled clothespins, doll size, strung on a string to wear with summer cottons.

No glacial calm can be maintained if you are wearing a necklace of wooden chessmen, dark and light, also tied with flaming red yarn; nor can you expect much pomp and ceremony if you impishly use stuffed red felt strawberries [miniature needle bags] as a neckline accent.

Next to these whimsies for general gayety, try the new all-white stuff . . . see the life size moth ball affairs with a tricky surface that looks like moth balls with goose pimples. Bracelets and necklaces are matched. Brilliant color is provided with the funny firecracker necklace and bracelet or the large loops of multicolored prystal to jangle musically while you walk. Some of the more decorative pieces feature long, graceful green leaves of novelty prystal combined with cool white beads or blossoms. These are called "mint juleps."

Flowers are coming into the fashion spotlight . . . necklaces of yellow wheat or startling white wheat, double daisy chains with single daisies for earrings, and a large flower for a hair ornament. Bracelets and necklaces of lovely apple blossoms, faintly perfumed, are attached to bands that can be worn in the hair or around the belt as well as a necklace.

WEDDING

The approaching marriage of Miss Lucille Halada to Dr. George Ferguson was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Halada of Wausau, Wis., at a tea at the College club in Madison, Wis. Dr. Ferguson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson of Milwaukee, is with the United States navy and will be stationed in China with the United States Asiatic fleet.

Miss Halada is a graduate of Oshkosh Teachers' college. Dr. Ferguson was graduated from Marquette university medical school and from the Naval Medical school in Washington, D. C.

The wedding will take place tomorrow at St. Peter church in Chicago, with the Rev. Leander Conley officiating, and will be followed by a breakfast at the Palmer House.

Southern Baptists Accuse New Deal of Religious 'Meddling'

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 18.—(AP)—A committee of Baptists, including three United States senators, offered to the Southern Baptist convention today a "pronouncement on religious liberty" which criticized the Roosevelt administration for "meddling" in church affairs.

Senators whose names appeared on the pronouncement were Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, Walter F. George of Georgia, and M. M. Logan of Kentucky, all Democrats.

Dr. Rufus W. Weaver, chairman of the public relations committee, explained the committee's criticism applied specifically to proposals to extend the social security act to employés of religious agencies and to what he said were bills pending in congress to appropriate funds for sectarian schools.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph W. Johnson of Lombard announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Dr. Lambertus S. Riedel, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Adolph Riedel of 5800 Washington boulevard.

Finds 'New Life' Ideal Music for Spring Festival

BY EDWARD BARRY.

With Wolf-Ferrari's ecstatic "The New Life" as its main item, the second concert of the North Shore Music festival was presented last night in the choral theater at Dyche stadium, Evanston. The musical forces consisted of Rosa Tentoni, soprano; Igor Gorin, baritone, the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and the giant festival chorus. Hans Lange conducted.

Based on the Dante poems in which the poet glorified his Beatrice and, through her, all heaven and earth, "The New Life" is ideally suited in spirit to the spring festival of which it forms a part. It has lightness of touch, sustained lyricism, and a beguiling air of joyousness.

The oratorio profited by the vernal freshness of the chorus and by Mr. Lange's determination that each finely contoured phrase should have ample opportunity to find its own proper shape. Miss Tentoni sang her brief solos in a lightly textured voice which reflected the innocence of the words. And Igor Gorin did a conscientious job of the much heavier baritone assignment.

Yet the performance, strange to say, was very dull, and most of the blame for this must be borne by the theater itself. The resonating properties of canvas seem to be approximately zero. The singers could sing their heads off, yet no majestic sonority could be produced. This made it hard to achieve a really potent volume or an exciting legato. In effect it was like playing the piano without the damper pedal. The performance did not achieve much emotional momentum.

In the early part of the evening Mr. Gorin sang a Handel and a Giordano air in a voice which was pleasing of texture. He mars his work by a habit of marking the rhythm with gestures of hand and shoulder. The orchestra alone played a Stringham nocturne, surely a strange choice for a festival program.

The concert's other item was the Stock version of the Bach chorale prelude, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." Revised now to include chorus, the transcription received an imposing and dignified performance.

Gala afternoon and evening performance tomorrow will bring the festival to a close.

Johnson Cites Many Summer Activities for School Children

Superintendent of Schools Johnson yesterday urged children to take advantage of free summer activities offered by the playground centers, libraries and schools during the summer vacation.

"Vacations are made for fun and activity," said his statement. "Every boy and girl wants to be a good swimmer; that is why the high school pools are opened for you. The new books at the branch libraries are overflowing with colorful illustrations and adventures. Take advantage of all these fine things."

Schools close for the summer on June 23.

The Housewife

The housewife will find it's not so hard to keep order in the kitchen, the sewing room or the nursery if she invests in a little set of file-away drawers. These come in a green finished steel cabinet that takes up little space on desk or shelf or table. Some of the drawers are divided into compartments for the smallest objects. Others are just the right size to hold bills, receipts, clippings, and the like.

If you have a place for tools this small file cabinet is handy in keeping tacks, push pins, screws, picture hooks, picture wire and other items where you can find them in a second. It is not expensive, either.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids.

Hollywood, Cal., May 18.—When he was 16 years old your reporter ran away from home to Chicago to join the United States marines. . . . So when I get letters from youngsters who tell me that they are planning to run away from home to come to Hollywood I have a natural sympathy for them. The runaway bug takes a bite out of all kids, and it's not until they return to their homes that they realize the agony of fear into which they've plunged their families.

Running away from home seems a great adventure. . . . Actually it is pretty hideous, particularly to your mother. . . . That is one heartache you can spare her.

The other day, in Norma Shearer's dressing room at M.-G.-M., she showed me a letter from a 16 year old girl in Chicago who wanted to run away from home to become a screen star in Hollywood.

"How did you answer it?" I asked, and she showed me the letter she'd sent to the youngster.

It was such a grand answer that I asked Norma if I could use it in one of these "Listen, Kids" columns where it could be read by every youngster. . . . She gave me permission with the proviso that the girl's name would not appear.

"Once I felt much the same as you do," wrote Norma, "and didn't know what to do about it. I was selling sheet music in a Toronto store, but I wanted to run away and become an actress. I was fortunate in having a wise mother who loved me as much as your mother surely loves you, to restrain and guide my hopes and ambitions.

"It is your mother, wise in her knowledge of you and love for you, who can give you advice and help far beyond my feeble power. Share your dreams with her, and you'll find a friend fighting by your side to help make them come true. But I am glad that you wrote me.

"Take away the glamor and the headlines and you'll find Hollywood much the same as any other business, recruiting its workers from the ranks of those who have prepared themselves for their jobs. You have your dreams, but on your practical, sensible side you know what acting really is—living another person's life for a little while.

"To become an actress you'll have to learn about living. Motion pictures are just stories about people and people are much the same the world over. There at home, among your friends, your teachers, and even strangers, are the ones who can help you most. Perhaps they seem dull compared to the heroines in whose place on the screen you like to imagine yourself, but they are the ones whose lives you have to re-create, in one way or another, on the screen.

"Don't come to Hollywood. It isn't the best way. Don't run away from those who can help you most. Keep your dreams, but don't shut yourself up in them. Read books, see good plays and good pictures, hear the best music. Study other people—happy people, unhappy people, successes and failures. Try to see why they do things the way they do. Try to get 'inside' them. If you do become an actress, that's exactly what you'll have to do and there, at home, is your greatest training ground.

"Just now you are positive you want to be an actress. Maybe you will be. But maybe in a year or two you will want to be something else. Whatever you become, you'll find it all rests on the same foundation—learning about living. You want to act? All right, then act. Act in your school, in your club, in a little theater group.

"Don't be discontented if they don't make you a leading lady right away. Take whatever comes your way and keep learning. The studios are watching for talent all over the country. If you have it, they'll find you—but let them do the finding. If you have talent and develop it, your place will be waiting for you, because Hollywood never has had enough great performers. Don't try to be like me or any other actress. You're you. Just be yourself—your best self. Please don't come to Hollywood now. Let Hollywood come to you. And I wish you good luck and happiness."

It's always difficult to write a letter to a youngster and underscore the points that, from your own experience, you wish desperately to make. I think Norma Shearer has done a grand job. The youngster who received that answer should not only feel flattered but also very appreciative of the soundest advice she'll ever get from an outsider.

Boiled down, it is sound advice to tell any youngster to make good first at home, in his own town or city. Hundreds of youngsters arrive in the great cities of the country every week looking for jobs on newspapers. It seems obvious that the place to look for a newspaper job would be on their home town papers. You tell them that and the reply is that there were no vacancies on the home town daily. It never occurs to them apparently that the competition for jobs on a big city daily is infinitly keener and that there are no vacancies on the metropolitan papers either.

Running away from home too often is just a juvenile excuse to run away from everyday problems. The thing to remember, you kids, is that no matter how far you run you'll never succeed in running away from yourself. So stay on your own home grounds and win a decision there first.

Pope Prays for Peace as He Takes Possession of His Diocesan Church

ROME, May 18.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII., as bishop of Rome, took formal possession of his diocesan church of St. John Lateran today with an invocation to the Virgin to preserve peace on earth.

As the pontiff was borne to the balcony to bless the multitude in the bright sunshine outside the basilica at the end of a magnificent four hour ceremony, the choir intoned a hymn to the Blessed Virgin in accordance with his wish that prayers be offered to her during this month to spare the world from war.

The ceremonies, the first of their kind since 1846, included an evidence of friendly relations existing between the Italian government and the Vatican.

Italian troops massed outside the basilica exchanged military honors with the pope's Palatine guardsmen, and military bands played a hymn, the royal march, and Giovanezza, the Fascist air.

Infant Welfare Style Show Today.

There should be no hitch in the presentation of summer fashions at the luncheon of the Barrington center of the Infant Welfare society today at the Barrington Hills Country club. The young women who are to model spent the best part of yesterday morning in rehearsal under the watchful eye of Mrs. William McAdoo, fashion show chairman, and other committee members.

Miss Marion Barber, who is to become the bride of Grinnell Burke on June 10; Miss Kitty Lawrence, a debutante of the coming season; her sister, Miss Evelyn Lawrence; Miss Jean White, Mrs. Harold Costello, Mrs. Harold Belke, and Mrs. John Farrar are to be the models.

The Beverly Hills, South Shore, and Kenwood Social Service clubs, the three centers of the Infant Welfare society that are sponsoring the South Shore Country club horse show June 10 and 11, will meet for luncheon at the club today. Plans for the sale of tickets will be discussed. Mrs. Frederick Herendeen, general chairman of the show, has arranged to have more than thirty sterling silver trophies as awards for different classes in the show.

Kathleen Runge Will Be Cathedral Ball Queen.

Miss Kathleen Runge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Runge of Glen Ellyn, will be crowned queen of the fourteenth Cathedral May ball this evening in the Gold room of the Congress hotel. Cadets from the Morgan Park Military academy will form an arch of steel for the queen and her court.

The ball is sponsored by Gamma Kappa Delta, the Episcopal young people's association.

Mr. and Mrs. John Storrs and their daughter Monique left yesterday for New York. They sail next Thursday for France, where they expect to stay until the end of October.

The Gilbert Hill Robinsons will leave on Sunday for a three weeks' holiday in Bermuda. Mrs. Robinson's sister, Mrs. William A. Little, and her mother, Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson, are leaving on June 16 for Charlevoix to open the Dickinson home for the summer.

The lecture will be free to the public. The class is composed of business and professional women.

A Perfect Plan Marks Exhibit of Needle Guild

BY SUZETTE FARMER.

One of the most striking facts about the Needlework and Textile Guild exhibit, which was previewed yesterday at the Art institute, is that no single item is outstanding. A three panel screen is of no more importance than a spectacle case, so well has the installation been planned.

Glass cases containing prayer books, pillows, sewing boxes, and purses are balanced by the rugs and pictures which adorn the walls and by the chairs which are placed around the rooms.

However, there is not one article which doesn't merit special attention. There are, for example, two biblical scenes by Mrs. Charles G. King which have already won first prize for Victorian designs in the Needlework of Today exhibit in New York.

Mrs. W. Irving Osborne has worked a picture of her home in Evanston, and further along the wall there hangs a painted but unworked canvas of the Edward Bermingham residence in Lake Forest.

The daintiness of Robert J. Thorne's two chair seats is complemented by the heavier crewel chairs exhibited by Mrs. G. A. Salter and by the Guild. Just as Mrs. Clifford Off's rug, which depicts scenes on Muskoka lake, contrasts with the delicate scenes embroidered by Mrs. Henry Isham.

Wearing apparel has also found a place in the exhibit. Mrs. M. P. McClure fashioned a sports jacket in canvas and worked it in rose colored wool. Ladies' mules and men's bedroom slippers play quite a part in the show, and this despite Howell Erminger's comment: "I've heard of publicizing everything, but never a man's feet."

The River Bend Feud

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1939: By William MacLeod Raine.)

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin, Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt, his wife, and forging her will. Banderas, routed from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element and, with Jim Williams, starts for the ranch of Carl Nielsen. They are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, but manage to reach the Nielsen ranch. Banderas and his men appear. Jeff disarms the bandit and his men. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Next morning Nielsen leaves with Jeff for a conference with Phil Raleigh. A riderless horse returns to the Raleigh ranch. The rider, Jack Hauck, is found murdered. Joan and Phil are missing—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Jeff and Jim Williams steal secretly into Trail End where Raeburn Raleigh is to meet them at the home of a Raleigh friend, McIlheny.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

PLAN OF ACTION.

McIlheny introduced Jeff and Jim to his wife, after he had himself been introduced to Hunter. She was a comely young woman, fresh colored and blooming, with a 16 months' old baby at the active stage which demands a great deal of attention.

Jeff explained that all they wanted was a place to lie perdu pending developments.

"There's a story that Mr. Phil and Miss Joan Raleigh have been kidnaped," Mrs. McIlhenry said, rescuing the infant from a danger spot near the hot stove. "I hope it isn't true."

"Afraid it is."

"I don't see how they dare do anything as bold as that."

"This country ain't what it was when I was a colt," Williams pronounced. "We had plenty of culls in the herd then, but I never saw a white man who would make war on a woman like these scalawags do now." He added, pointedly, apropos of nothing: "Riding under a half a ton of hay sure makes the throat dry."

Spurred by the suggestion, McIlheny's hospitality asserted itself. He brought up a jug of the advertised cider and his wife produced glasses. Old Jim was enjoying himself very much when Raeburn Raleigh arrived. Rae had been dropped by a car a mile from town and had cut across to the house unobserved.

He nodded to McIlheny and Old Jim, spoke a word of greeting to the wife of his host. But almost instantly his attention focused on Jeff.

"Have you heard anything new?" he asked.

"Not a thing. We came in a hay truck. Nobody but you, McGill, and our friends here know we're in town."

"Good. Where do we go from here?"

"We'll have to talk that over, Rae." Jeff smiled pleasantly at Mrs. McIlheny. "We don't want to drag outsiders into this because they were good enough to give us an hour's shelter. That wouldn't be so good, would it? What say we step into another room for our conference?"

"No. Stay here in the living room." Their hostess gathered up the baby and rose. "We'll go into the kitchen. I have some work to do there anyhow." Her husband followed her.

"Bill told me your idea is to get hold of Butler Lane," said Raeburn, his brown eyes shining at the thought. "I'm for that, Jeff. But how do we cut him out from the herd?"

"It won't be easy," he admitted. "I don't see how we can map out a plan—not yet at any rate. What we need is more information about his movements."

"I could slip in and see my cousin, Judd Moss," suggested Williams. "He always knows what's going on if a fellow can get him to talk."

Raeburn was doubtful. "Most of his customers trail with the other crowd. Sure you can trust him, Jim?"

"I wouldn't tell him a thing. All he knows was that I was there asking him some questions. We was kids together, Judd and me. Many a time I have slept on a buffalo skin over a dirt floor with him. Maybe he won't have anything to tell me worth while, but it's a cinch he won't throw down on me. Judd's one of these cautious guys who look out for number one all the time, but he's no damn Judas, if that's what you mean."

"You'd have to be careful you're not seen, Jim," Raeburn said. "Dave Mallow is no fool. If one of his men reported they had got a glimpse of you the fat would be in the fire. He would know something was up."

"I'll slip into his place the back way so I won't be seen."

Since it was the best they could do the other two accepted the cowboy's offer. But both of them saw the risks.

"What do you all want me to find out?" asked Williams.

"Everything you can about Lane's movements." Jeff ticked off particulars. "When he leaves the hotel usually—where he eats—who goes with him—what his hotel room number is—whether his guards sleep in the same room as he does—if he ever moves about alone."

"And especially if there is any rumor about his taking a trip tonight," Raleigh added. "My guess is that he'll be driven out to where they have Phil and Joan concealed after the town goes to bed. If we could follow him——"

Jeff shook his head. "He'll be too smart for that. But we may find out what road he takes." He stopped, abruptly. "His car is probably in front of the hotel. I'm going to find out what the mileage is now. Perhaps we can check it again when he returns. That will give us a line on how far from town the hideout is."

"Swell idea," Raeburn beamed. "My job."

"How do you get that way?" Jeff differed. "I though of it."

"All right. We'll both do it while Jim is pumping cousin Judd." Raleigh rose, alertly, a grin on his face. "Time to go to work, boys. Looks like a good time is going to be had by all."

Before they left they arranged with McIlheny for the use of his car. They might not need it, but if they did they wanted it to be handy.

The car they left back of a clump of mesquite in a jungle which edged up to the skirts of the town. Across a fenced enclosure used by a Mexican truck gardener as a horse pasture the three men made their way to an alley which ran parallel with the main street.

"We'll meet you at the car after you have talked with your cousin," Jeff said to the River Bend rider.

"Y'betcha! If you boys get into a jam and have to start smokin' I'll come a-runnin'." Old Jim looked up into a sky powdered with stars. Moonlight drenched the valley and made it altogether too light. "Kinda hang close to the wall shadows and don't get hell in the neck. If there's too many folks around forget about the mileage of that car and hit a high tail back to the brush."

"That goes double," Raleigh reminded him.

"Hmp! All I'm doing, by packs, is having a little talk with my cousin. There won't anybody blow me off'n the map for that. Now get it straight, sons. All that's necessary is for one of you to duck out of the alley running beside the Hatcher House, take one squint at the speedometer, and rock along back into the darkness."

"That's all," Rae agreed cheerfully. "Be seeing you, Jim, after you've had your talk with dear Cousin Judd."

It had been agreed that Raeburn Raleigh would wait near the front entrance to the alley and cover his friend's approach to the car. The reason for this was obvious. Everybody who lived in town knew the River Bend man and very few would recognize Hunter. Therefore Rae was the one who must keep out of sight.

They came up the alley along the south wall of the hotel toward the lighted street. Two men stood talking in front of the pool hall opposite. A Mexican woman turned down the alley and passed those lurking in it without even giving them a glance. In the doorway of the hotel three loungers were holding a low voiced conversation. Glancing at them, Jeff drew back hurriedly. The one facing him, not ten feet away, was the fat man Old Jim had called Skinny, the spy who had been sent into the restaurant the day before to find out why they had come to town.

Daintiness Is One Essential of True Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A woman can be dainty without being beautiful, but no woman can be beautiful who does not impart the air of daintiness. Yes, large women impart this sense, although one thinks in terms of small women when the word is used. Daintiness, as we know it today, and as applied to all types and sizes of women, is what the fragrance is to the flower—the final fillip of perfection. Without it, the appearance may please at first glance, but charm will fade beneath closer scrutiny. With it the plainest flower—or woman—possesses a loveliness that cannot be overlooked.

The woman who is immaculately turned out from the top of her well brushed head to the tip of her smartly pedicured toes is not likely to be passed by quickly and forgotten, either.

This is a form of loveliness available to every one, a form that pays dividends beyond proportion to the effort it takes. The most commonplace of individual features can be blended into a harmonious whole and can create the illusion of real beauty by the simple effect of perfect grooming and fastidious attention to detail.

For that's what daintiness is, a fastidious attention to detail. And, like all forms of beauty, it begins with cleanliness.

The woman who is meticulously careful about herself takes two baths a day—one in the morning and another at night. The morning bath should be deemed a MUST, because it isn't even a nice thought to consider putting clothes on a body that has, for seven or eight hours, been releasing oil and perspiration. This bath often is of the shower variety although that's a matter of taste.

The evening bath in the tub should be a genuine beauty treatment as well as a means of removing the dirt and fatigue of the day. So, into the tub goes the handful of fragrant bath salts or drops of bath oil. And a scrubbing cloth or brush routs the grime and perspiration.

After the scrubbing, a thorough rinsing in tepid water, or cold, if the spirit is brave and the flesh can take it. Thus the woman is well started toward the daintiness that is her goal.

73,000 ATTEND TRIBUNE GOLF SCHOOL; PICK 32 BEST

SURVIVORS WILL VIE SUNDAY FOR MAJOR PRIZES

Bags and Clubs for Four Stars.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The seventh annual free Tribune golf school, which in its first six years established itself as the pioneer of group instruction in the fundamentals of the game, ended last night on the four courses of the Chicago park district with the fourth and final lesson of the regular series, and with it a new record for lessons. During the four nights of this 1939 school a total of 73,000 free lessons in golf's ABC's were given by members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association. This made the aggregate number of lessons for the seven year span 198,000.

Last night's attendance of 18,500 was headed by Jackson park's class of 6,500, while the other three classrooms—Columbus, Diversey, and Marquette—each drew 4,000 for their final set of instructions.

Choose Thirty-two Stars.

Out of the final night's teaching came the thirty-two prize students who will take part in the school's graduating exercises, beginning at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Marquette park, Marquette road and Kedzie avenue. The Illinois P. G. A. members who conducted the classes, after they had finished the lesson proper, chose the pupils deemed to have made the most progress during the school. Two men, two women, two boys, and two girls were named at each course.

All of these will have an equal opportunity Sunday afternoon to win one of the four golf bags and sets of clubs which will be awarded by THE TRIBUNE as first prizes. The other twenty-eight finalists will receive a dozen golf balls each. A jury of professionals, headed by Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois section, will name the four main winners.

Here Are the Graduates.

The thirty-two finalists chosen last night, with men, women, boys, and girls listed in that order, follow:

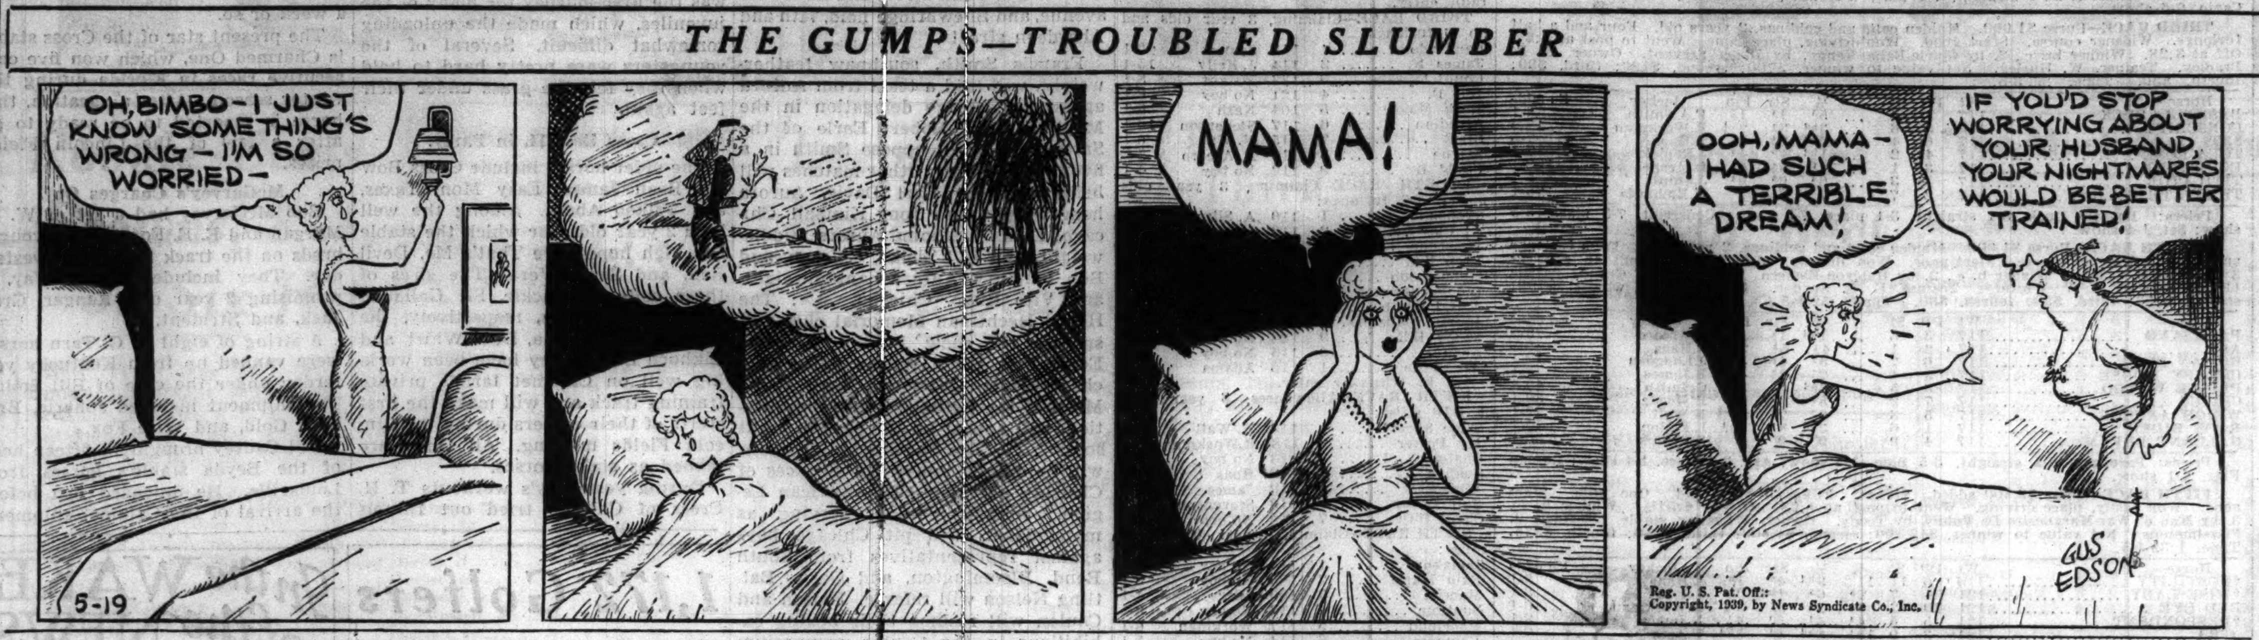
THE GUMPS—TROUBLED SLUMBER



Michigan Opens Defense of Big Ten Track Title Today

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 18.—More than 250 track and field athletes from the Western conference will open the thirty-ninth annual games on Ferry field tomorrow afternoon with the host, the University of Michigan, unanimous choice to win its third consecutive team championship. Individual champions will defend their honors in nine events, among them Capt. Bill Watson, winner in three events last year and possessor of the all-time Big Ten shot put record.

Charles B. Hoyt.

Watson scored 18 of Michigan's 61½ points last year, winning the broad jump, discus throw, and shot put, and finishing third in the high jump. Unless forecasters have been misled by early season results, Watson will win three events Saturday and make the largest individual contribution to the team title the Wolverines expect to give Coach Charley Hoyt who leaves Ann Arbor after this season to become track coach and trainer at Yale.

Second Place Battle.

The battle for second position in the standings will share interest with the assault on the all-time records of the conference established in the preceding thirty-eight meets. Wisconsin, which nosed out Indiana for second place in the conference indoor meet in March, hopes to retain the runner-up position. The Badgers' attack will be led by Walter Mehl, who now holds the all-time conference record for two miles, and Milt Padway, defending pole vault champion.

Summary of possibilities in the fifteen events places four Big Ten marks in peril, two others within possible range of the athletes, and four absolutely beyond reach of these competitors or, for that matter, any competitor in the world. Considering these in inverse order, the marks established by Jesse Owens, of Ohio State, on Ferry field four years ago, have gone down in the record books of amateur athletics as the greatest one day performance in history.

Sets Four Records.

That warm May afternoon, on the same fast track over which the Big Ten athletes will perform tomorrow and Saturday, Owens established world records for the 220 yard dash, the low hurdles, and the broad jump, and tied the world mark for the 100 yard dash. All four records, after four years, are beyond reach, even the 9 4-10 seconds for 100 yards.

And, of course, Owens' records—20 3-10 seconds for 220 yards, 22 6-10 seconds for the low hurdles, and 26 feet 8 1-4 inches in the broad jump, in addition to the short sprint—are Western conference marks.

Four Big Ten records may be broken. These are the twenty-three year old quarter mile mark of 47 4-10 seconds established by Binga Dismond, of Chicago; Michigan's four year old mile relay mark of 3:15.2; the pole vault record of 13 feet 10⅝ inches made by Verne McDermont of Illinois in 1930, and another twenty-three year record, in the discus, established by Arlie Mucks of Wisconsin at 155 feet 2 inches.

Two Marks Vulnerable.

The high jump record may be vulnerable to Bob Diefenthaler of Illinois, who appears to be the champion, and the two mile run must be considered within the range of Wisconsin's Mehl since he established the present record last year at Ohio State. Mehl will be handicapped, however, by his decision to run the mile first against such splendid competition as Mel Trutt of Indiana.

Bob Lewis, 220 yard dash champion; Watson, in his three events; Padway, in the pole vault, and Elmer Gedeon of Michigan in the high hurdles, should retain their championships. John Davenport of Chicago, winner of the 100 yard dash last year, probably will be displaced. In addition to Mehl, Harley Howells, defending quarter mile champion, probably will lose to Warren Breidenbach, Michigan sophomore, who last Saturday ran 440 yards in a dual meet with Ohio State in 47.2 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than Dismond's record.

MISS MARBLE IS BEATEN, 6-4, 6-3, BY CHET MURPHY

Chester Murphy, No. 1 player on the University of Chicago varsity, outpointed the nation's top ranking woman tennis player, Alice Marble, 6-4, 6-3, in an exhibition match on the Midway courts yesterday. A throng of 2,[illegible]00, crowding every possible point of vision, watched the match, which had been arranged by the Junior Wightman cup committee as part of its program of developing girl players.

Miss Marble started fast, zipping over a passing shot for the first point. She built up a lead of 3 to 1 in the first set while Murphy tried to break her backhand.

Murphy Wins Three Straight.

Miss Marble exhibited greater diversity, and some of her drives, especially on cross-court shots, were harder than any Murphy showed throughout the match. Miss Marble took the first, second, and fourth games. Murphy tied the count at 3-all on steady stroking, dropped the seventh game after two deuces, then took three straight for the first set.

Murphy won the first two games of the second set. Miss Marble rallied to win a love game, then won again after seven deuces. The score was tied at 3-all when each won service. Murphy then ran out the set and match with three relatively easy games.

Coach Holds Clinic.

Following the exhibition, Eleanor Tennant, Miss Marble's coach, conducted a clinic for promising young girl tennis players of the city. Last year Miss Marble dropped an exhibition match to Bill Murphy.

EXPECT BIG 10 TO TIGHTEN RULE ON SUBSIDIZATION

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 18.—[Special.]—A general revision of the Western conference governing code in the direction of more stringent limitations on the recruiting and subsidizing of athletes is expected at meetings of Big Ten athletic directors here this week-end, according to E. G. Schroeder, athletic director at Iowa, who is chairman of the directors' meeting.

Administrative details pertaining to the football training table, which will become effective next fall, also are on the agenda, he said.

Moore Strikes Out 22; Wheaton Frosh Win, 11-3

Denny Moore struck out twenty-two batters and yielded three hits yesterday in pitching Wheaton college freshmen to an 11 to 3 triumph over the North Central frosh in Wheaton.

WHITEHEAD IS A FAILURE; BOSTON BEATS SOX, 5 TO 3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 18.—John Henderson Whitehead, who day by day grows larger horizontally, essayed his fourth start of the season this afternoon, but is still shy his first 1939 victory. Big John, who steadied down after a shaky start, did the inevitable nosedive in the seventh just as his White Sox mates were showing promise of salvaging the runs he previously had yielded. The nosedive netted Boston's tinseled Red Sox three runs, a quantity sufficient to spank the Chicagoans, 5 to 3, in the third and rubber battle of the series.

Whitehead, whose daily jousts with hotel menus have cost him much of his former skill, started off so feebly that he was on the verge of being yanked as early as the second inning. He escaped a full house in the opener, and when the enemy could harvest only one run in the second inning, Manager Dykes decided to withhold the hook, but had it ready again in the third. Big John, however, again stopped the Red Sox with one run. Then he tightened up pleasingly for three innings, only to blow up in the seventh, the principal item of which was a triple by Boss Joe Cronin.

Auker Loses Mystery.

The White Sox attack wasn't what it should have been, at least not until after the Whitehead collapse had put the enemy on easy street. The Chicagoans were confronted by Elden Auker, the former Tiger who is one of those rare underhand pitching artists. This style of workmanship caused so much confusion in the Sox attack that in six innings they were able to roll up a grand total of two hits, one by Joe Kuhel in the first inning and the other by Ollie Bejma in the sixth. The only other Chicagoan to reach base during this time did so on an error.

But Auker's baffling delivery finally lost its angle of mystery. Gerald Walker collected a hit in the seventh and this along with another well smacked ball which was recorded as an error, blossomed into a run, leaving Dykes' gang only one short of a tie. Whitehead then fell apart as previously mentioned, a blowup which erased the value of a two run rally that knocked Auker from the mound in the eighth. One of four hits gathered from his offerings in this uprising injured his right foot and old Joe Heving was summoned to clean up. He did with ease.

Red Sox Start the Business.

The Red Sox proceeded to shake Whitehead loose from a run in the second inning. Tabor led off with a fairly tough bouncer straight into

GABBY'S DOUBLE WITH THREE ON WINS FOR LEE

Big Bill and Mungo Wage Mound Duel.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Gabby Hartnett is a sub .300 hitter, just like most of his help, but yesterday he demonstrated that a rare swat, well placed, is better than a hatful of wasted percentage builders. Gabby smashed out a double with the bases full in the sixth inning of the Cub final with the Dodgers, driving in his team's first three runs. Seconds later he scored the team's fourth and last run on a single by Glenn Russell. The final score: Chicago, 4; Brooklyn, 2.

The victory was the fifth for Big Bill Lee, who dropped one of his three losses to the Dodgers earlier in the month. Bill allowed only seven hits, struck out seven, and walked seven. He showed his mettle most in the seventh after the Cubs had given him a 4 to 1 lead in the sixth. He walked Leo Durocher and Pinch Batter Johnny Hudson and threw three wide ones to Ernie Koy. Then, registering great disgust, he made Koy send an easy fly to Leiber and struck out Pete Coscarart and Goody Rosen.

All the Cub runs were unearned as a result of an error by Coscarart, the only misplay of the afternoon. This fact, however, took nothing away from the Cub skipper's heroics. There was nothing at all spurious about the character of his victory double, which was only the third hit off Van Lingle Mungo.

He Deserved a Break.

Up till his big moment in the sixth Gabby hadn't been a very happy man. In the first place he was a bit weary after playing all the nineteen innings in Wednesday's tie. In the first inning Koy stole second and in the third Ernie stole again. A stolen base ever has been an insult to Gabby. To have the same gent do it twice in two successive opportunities was shocking.

Then, too, were memories of the Cubs' fourth, after Manager Durocher had driven in the first run of the game in the Dodgers' half of the same inning. With two out in the home fourth Augie Galan became the second Cub base runner when he drew Mungo's second pass. Hank Leiber followed with the first Chicago hit, a single which put Galan on third. Gabby's answer to opportunity's knock on this occasion was a popup to Dolph Camilli which ended the inning with the Cubs behind, 1 to 0.

Durocher Guesses Wrong.

All these things Gabby remembered going into the sixth. This inning developed to a point where there were two out, Stanley Hack was on third, and Jim Gleeson on second. First base was open, a strategic spot for Durocher to extend the series of slurs he's been tossing at Hartnett since the start of the season. Though there were two out and no need of a double play, Durocher ordered Mungo to pass Leiber to get a whack at Gabby.

Hartnett missed the first strike and Durocher's sneering grin could have been seen for blocks. Mungo, a two hit pitcher at the time, remember, came in with another one. And Gabby smacked it squarely between Center fielder George Stainback and Right fielder Rosen.

That shot was enough to win, but it was nice that Russell got a single to drive Gabby home. The kid has been in a pretty tough hitting slump. Incidentally he was so exhilarated as a result of his sixth inning single that he banged a double in the eighth, one of the two hits off Hugh Casey, third former White Sox to pitch in the series. Hugh pitched the last two innings and held the Cubs to a

COCKER SPANIELS WILL BE TESTED WITH LIVE BIRDS

Two Day Field Meet Will Open Tomorrow.

BY BOB BECKER.

Trained cocker spaniels from Chicagoland kennels will be tested on live game starting tomorrow when the Cocker Spaniel Club of the Middle West holds its fifth annual A. K. C. sanctioned field trial at the Blackheath Country club. This field event continues through Sunday.

Paul Moser, president of the club, said yesterday that the public is invited to watch these outdoor tests of trained cockers in which birds will be shot over them so that the judges may determine how steady they are to flush and shot, their scenting ability, retrieving skill, and other qualities which a good field dog must exhibit when put down on game.

Three Stake Events.

Tomorrow the program calls for a puppy stake for cockers, a puppy stake for springer spaniels, and a members stake which is open to members of the Cocker Spaniel club. On Sunday the field trial committee expects to finish four stakes—a shooting dog and open all age for springer spaniels, and two similar stakes for cockers only.

William Schloesser, Northbrook, Ill.; Charles Goodall, Downers Grove, secretary of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois, and J. Paul Bishop, Clarendon Hills, will judge the trial. Pigeons will be used for all the stakes. The Blackheath Country club is northwest of Chicago on Highway 42-A or Waukegan road. THE TRIBUNE's new Chicagoland road map shows it to be almost due west of Glencoe and just a short distance above Dundee road on Highway 42-A.

Dog fanciers who want to combine an automobile trip into Indiana with the fun of watching hunting dogs in another field trial may go to Culver Military academy this week-end. The first retriever trial ever held in Indiana is going to be run off Sunday by the Culver Military Academy Field Trial club near Lake Maxinkuckee. This event is being sponsored by the Midwest club, the pioneer retriever organization of the middle west which held its spring trials last week-end.

Amateurs at Culver.

Only amateurs will compete in this Culver trial, so it will be a field day for the owners of trained dogs. The first stake starts at 10 a. m. Sunday. The dogs will be given both land and water work.

A number of the Chesapeakes, Labradors, and Goldens which competed in the Midwest club's trial last week will be run in this Indiana event. Lake Maxinkuckee and Culver are southwest of Plymouth, Ind., and due east of Winona. Automobilists may take Highway 30 to its intersection with 35 and then east to Culver.

REPORT LEAFS TO GET SCHRINER FROM AMERICANS

TORONTO, Ont., May 19 [Friday]. —Canadian Press.]—Vern De Gree of the Toronto Globe and Mail in a story today said that Dave Schriner, high scoring left wing of the New York Americans of the National Hockey league, will come to the Toronto Maple Leafs next winter in one of the biggest player deals of recent years in big league hockey.

The article says that Harvey Jackson, Buzz Boll, Jimmy Fowler, and Elwyn [Doc] Romnes, members of the Toronto squad last season, will go to the A's in return for Schriner, who was the league's scoring champion in 1935-'36 and 1936-'37.

WINGS GET DILLON.

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—New York's Rangers today announced the outright sale of Cecil Dillon, right winger, to the Detroit Red Wings.

No indication of the price involved in the sale of Dillon was made by the clubs' officials. It was made known, however, that Dillon received a bonus of $1,000 from the Rangers when he was informed of his transfer.

NOTRE DAME'S GOLFERS BEAT DETROIT, 14½-9½

Notre Dame, Ind., May 18.—[Special.]—Notre Dame defeated Detroit 14½ to 9½ in golf today for the sixth victory in eight matches. Bob Babbish of Detroit, Western amateur champion, defeated Capt. Tom Sheehan Jr., of Notre Dame 2½ to ½ with a par 70 to Sheehan's 72. But Sheehan and Sammy Neild, with 70 and 75, respectively, won 2½ points to ½ when Babbish took 74 and Bob Temple needed 76 in the best ball round. Summary:

Sheehan [70] and Neild [75], Notre Dame, defeated Babbish [74], and Temple [76], Detroit, 2½ to ½.

Hagen [73] and Schaller [72], Notre Dame, defeated Fogoros [76] and Palencsar [77], Detroit, 3 to 0.

Babbish 70] defeated Sheehan [72] 2½ to ½.

Temple [75] defeated Stulb [77], 2½ to ½.

AMATEURS PUT ON THREE RING SHOWS TONIGHT

North, Northwest, West Side Arenas Busy.

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street; Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard; Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, and Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets.

Francis Smith, southpaw featherweight, will lead a team from Aurora against a Chicago delegation in the Madison club. Robert Earle of the Savoy A. C. will oppose Smith in a five round contest. Other matches will bring together Earl Davis, Aurora heavyweight, and Tony Kimball, Chicago; Dick Chukholm, Aurora middleweight, and Bill Zielke, Chicago, and Bob Banbury, Aurora bantamweight, and Vito Rizzo, Chicago. . . . The Henry Hechtinan Memorial club will sponsor the show in the Fronton. Eddie Foy, Ernie Wilson, Mike Sanchez, Eddie O'Connell, and Willie Moon of the Catholic Youth organization, will appear on the card of eight bouts. . . . The Shewbridge program will be offered under the auspices of Clearing post, No. 600, American Legion. Johnny Coulon, serving as matchmaker, will pit Chicago boys against representatives from South Bend, Bloomington, and Gary. Batling Nelson will referee. Nelson and Coulon will resume their boxing exhibitions in the Coulon gymnasium on the south side Monday. . . .

Bobby Evans, Cleveland promoter, yesterday signed to have Tony Musto meet Eddie Simms in a ten round bout in that city next Friday.

Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun are negotiating for a rematch between Meyer Alper, Monreal, Que., junior welterweight, who was upset by Nick Castigliones recently, and Castigliones in Marigold Gardns May 29. Clarence Brown and Frank Androff head Monday's show.

Lew Waldron of Mohawk, who tonight steps out of the lecturer's rôle at Columbus park to become master of ceremonies at the fifth annual dinner-dance of the Illinois P. G. A. in the Lake Shore Athletic club, reported one of the best finals in his career as an instructor. He was assisted by Charley Penna of Medinah, who was the exhibition artist of the night; Ren Smith of Oak Park, By Chamberlain of Glen Oak, and Hank Foley of the home course.

Matteson Has Biggest Class.

Matt Matteson of Ridge, who lectured to the school's largest classes in Jackson park, had a faculty including his brother, Bud; George Knox Sr. and Jr., and John Fitzgerald, all of Calumet, and Art Race of Lincolnshire.

Helen Dettweiler, Washington, D. C., star who recently signed as a business woman golfer, gave an exhibition of her skill at Diversey, where Bill Gordon of Tam O'Shanter was in charge. Aiding Bill in his task were Alex Cunningham and his North Shore assistant, Willis Foland; Jerry Glynn of Knollwood; Tommy Meehan of Illinois; Walter Keller of Keller's Fairways, and Tod Hardy of the home club.

With Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley again directing from the platform, the Marquette park finalists were chosen by a jury composed of Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley; Packy Walsh of Marquette; Frank Garrity of Western Springs, and Charley Blasgen of Westgate Valley.

PLATAK AGAIN WINS MATCH IN A. A. U. HANDBALL

San Francisco, Cal., May 18.—[Special.]—Joe Platak of Chicago, national A. A. U. handball singles champion, won a fourth round match tonight when he defeated Henri Strand of San Francisco, 21-3, 21-10.

Jack Clements of San Francisco advanced when he beat Bob McGuire, also of San Francisco, 18-21, 21-16, 21-20. Clements, leading the final game, 20-19, conceded a point when he called a point as the ball struck his foot. Neither the umpires nor gallery saw it. He scored the needed point to win the match, however.

Calumet Farm String Arrives for Meeting at Lincoln Fields

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Twenty-three of Warren Wright's Calumet farm horses arrived at Lincoln Fields yesterday to race during the meeting which opens next Thursday. Snorting, neighing, and cutting a variety of capers after their overnight train trip from Kentucky, they were led down the unloading chute, across the main highway, and along a side road to their barn. A worried look faded from Trainer Frank Kearns' face as his fractious charges gradually quieted down in their stalls.

"Every one stood the trip O. K.," he said.

The shipment consisted of fifteen 2 year olds and eight older horses. It was the first journey for many of the juveniles, which made the unloading somewhat difficult. Several of the youngsters were pretty hard to hold when they felt the grass under their feet again.

Cross Bow II. in Party.

The older horses include Cross Bow II., Beau James, Easy Mon, Taxes, and Talked About. Among the well bred 2 year olds, for which the stable has high hopes, are That's Me, Devil Red, and Santa Vera. The sires of these colts are Sickle, Sir Gallahad III., and Stimulus, respectively, the dams being Katrina, Dust Whirl, and Elkhorn Lass. They have been working well on Calumet farm's private training track and will make the first starts of their careers during the Lincoln Fields meeting. All three are tabbed as stake horses.

He's a Steady Colt.

Though he never had had a saddle on his back until two months ago, the colt ran evenly, going each eighth in 12 seconds, showing no inclination to swerve. He finished the dash well ahead of a stablemate, Storother, which tried to keep pace with him. Lincoln Fields race followers will see what he can do under colors within a week or so.

The present star of the Cross stable is Charmed One, which won five consecutive races in Florida during the winter season. After a vacation, this horse is reported to be ready to go after a few of the Lincoln Fields prizes.

McGarvey's Charges Out.

Bob McGarvey had a set of W. F. Morgan and E. E. Fogelson thoroughbreds on the track for gallops yesterday. They included Rapid Way, a promising 2 year old; Ranger, Gray Jack, and Strident.

A string of eight A. G. Tarn horses were vanned up from Kentucky yesterday under the care of Bill Smith. The shipment included Joharie, Brilliant Gold, and Wise Fox.

1,172 Golfers Seek 141 Places in U. S. Open

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Thirty-two golf championship tournaments in miniature will be played throughout the country next Monday when the United States Golf association conducts sectional qualifying rounds for its annual open tourney.

Of the 1,201 entrants in the open, 1,172 must compete in these 36 hole eliminations for 141 places. The other twenty-nine places in the 170 man field that will compete in the 72 hole tournament proper at the Philadelphia Country club June 8-10 are filled by those automatically eligible—the low scorers in the 1938 tournaments, Ed Dudley, the home club pro, and two Australians, Norman Von Nida and Eric Cremin.

The largest sectional field will play at the Overbrook Golf club in the Philadelphia district eliminations. Here 147 players will compete for nineteen places. Next largest is the 119 man field trying for sixteen places in the metropolitan district eliminations.

Sam Snead will be trying for one of seven places allotted the Washington area. Ky Laffoon, John Montague, Dutch Harrison, and Chick Evans will be among 112 competing at the Medinah Country club for twelve places given Chicago, and Pittsburgh, with twelve places, will have 1935 champion Sam Parks Jr., among 105 candidates.

VINES REPEATS THAT HE'LL QUIT; LOSES TO BUDGE

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines reiterated his intention of quitting tennis before going on the court today and receiving a 6-4, 6-4 trouncing from Don Budge in the professional tennis tournament at Wembley.

"When I have finished this world tour with Budge," said Vines, "I intend to lay down my racket for good."

DENY ANNENBERG IS ASSOCIATED WITH SERRITELLA

No Monopoly of Turf News, Says Witness.

Testimony that Moses L. Annenberg, wealthy publisher, and his horse racing news services have no financial connections with State Senator Daniel Serritella's Madison Publishing company was given yesterday before Federal Master in Chancery Charles A. McDonald.

Master McDonald is hearing the complaint of James and John Flanagan, publishers of the Turf Bulletin, that Annenberg, Serritella, and eleven other defendants operate a monopoly in the dissemination of racing information. The defendants are accused of conspiring to ruin the Turf Bulletin.

Yesterday's witness was James M. Ragen, president and general manager of the Nationwide News service, Annenberg's company. Questioned by Defense Attorney Matthias Goncannon, he testified that Annenberg held no stock and had no other financial interest in Serritella's firm.

Denies Reported Threat.

Asked whether the Nationwide service ever had threatened to cut off its service from companies handling the Flanagans' scratch sheet, the witness replied, "No, absolutely not!"

Ragen also denied that the Madison company was given any other aid but that paid for in the normal course of business. "Nor has the Nationwide ever tried to force the plaintiffs out of business," he added.

Concerning an increase from $300 to $500 in service charges to the Flanagans, Ragen said, "the rates were raised because we felt it was worth that much. The Madison company and others were paying that much." The plaintiffs contend that the increase was designed to help drive them from the racing publications field.

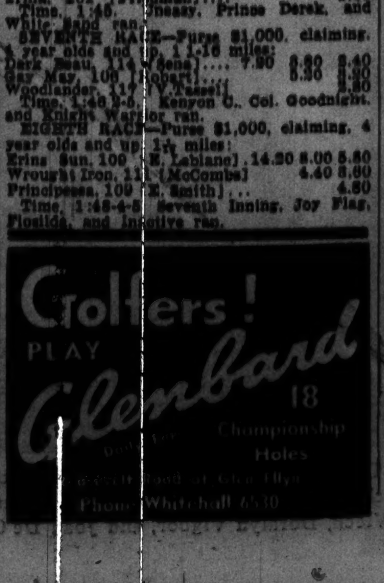
"They're Both Better."

"Do you think that the competition in the field has increased or decreased since the Madison company began putting out its publication?" asked Attorney Concannon.

"O," answered Ragen, "I think that both products have improved greatly because of the keener competition. The two sheets both try to outdo each other and as a result both do a better job of getting the racing news."

Ragen also declared that Annenberg's General News bureau, of which he was general manager from 1927 until 1935, purchased the Empire News bureau and National News company, two rival racing news services, in 1929, not to monopolize the field, but because both firms were pirating the General News bureau's news.

On cross-examination by Attorney James McLaughlin, Ragen outlined his career as circulation manager for a Chicago newspaper and later as general manager of Annenberg's racing news companies. Following his testimony the defense rested. Rebuttal witnesses for the Flanagans will take the stand at the next hearing, scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday.



PIRATES DEFEAT PHILLIES, 5 TO 4, IN TEN INNINGS

Johnny Rizzo Hits Single with Bases Full.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—(AP)—Johnny Rizzo singled to centerfield today with the bases loaded to break up a ten inning pitchers' duel and give Pittsburgh a 5 to 4 victory over Philadelphia.

The Phils got two hits in the first of the tenth but were unable to score. Singles by Tobin and Fern Bell and Shortstop George Scharein's fumble of Paul Waner's grounder loaded the bases for the Pirates. Rizzo brought in Tobin with the winning tally.

CARDINALS, 6; GIANTS, 1.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—(AP)—Curt Davis, the Cardinals' veteran righthander, crimped the New York Giants on seven scattered hits today to give St. Louis the deciding test of their three game series, 6 to 1.

It was Davis' fifth victory out of seven decisions and he made it look easy.

Rookie Beats Browns, 8-1, on Six Hits

New York, May 18.—(AP)—The Yankee juggernaut rolled over the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 1, today for the champions' eighth straight victory and the Browns' fifth consecutive defeat.

Atley Donald, right handed rookie who had a previous victory to his credit in a relief capacity, made his first start for New York and spread six hits, all of them singles except George McQuinn's third homer of the season in the fourth frame.

509 Seek Titles in State Prep Track Today

Champaign, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Qualifying by their performances in district meets, 509 athletes will compete in the forty-fifth annual state high school track and field meet at the University of Illinois tomorrow and Saturday afternoons.

Crispus Attucks [Carbondale], East St. Louis, Lawrenceville, Naperville, Newman, New Trier [Winnetka], Peoria Central, Quincy, Rockford, Rock Island, Roodhouse, Sullivan, Austin, and University High [Chicago], West Frankfort and York [Elmhurst].

Run Trials Today.

Preliminaries will be run off tomorrow afternoon in all events except the discus and javelin, in which finals will be contested, and the mile run, which will be run Saturday on a comparative time basis.

Oak Park, champion for the last two years, qualified only four men for the finals. New Trier [Winnetka] will be represented by sixteen athletes, including McFadzean, broad jump champion, Warfield, and Brown, who placed in the high hurdles last year, and a fast half mile relay team.

York of Elmhurst, winner of the district meet at Maywood, brings nineteen contestants and a relay team. York's array includes Bruce Freeman, third in the shot put and fourth in the discus last year. Sullivan has eight men in eleven events, and Austin six men in six events plus a relay team.

Hold Tennis Tourney Also.

John Jorgensen, Parker, Chicago, singles champion, and Bauman and Smidl, Oak Park, doubles champions, will defend their titles in the state high school tennis tournament in which thirty-two singles players and thirty-two doubles teams have qualified.

Lee and Cubs Hand Dodgers 4 to 2 Beating

In view of the anemic character of the Cubs' attack on Mungo in the first three innings, the run which the Dodgers made in the fourth loomed very large indeed. Camilli got the productive inning under way by walking. Phelps flied to Galan, but Lavagetto smacked the second Dodger hit, a single to right, which put Camilli on third. Stainback fanned, but Durocher singled to right, scoring Camilli and putting Lavagetto on third. Mungo flied to Gleeson.

And here are the details of the uprising in the Cub sixth. Herman opened with the second Cub hit, a double to left. Coscarart fumbled Hack's bouncer, Herman reaching third and Hack first. Gleeson bounced to Coscarart and Herman was an easy out at the plate, Coscarart to Phelps. Hack and Gleeson moved up on Galan's out. Then the Dodgers held a conference and decided to load the bases by passing Leiber. Gabby stepped up to the plate and banged a line double slightly to the right of dead center, scoring Hack, Gleeson, and Leiber. G. Russell came out of his batting slump with a single to left, scoring Hartnett for the fourth and final Cub run. Mungo threw out Lee.

Camilli scored his and the Dodgers' second run in the eighth. Dolph doubled and reached third while Phelps was beating out a smash off Lee's glove. Camilli scored while Lavagetto and Phelps were sinking in a double play, G. Russell to Bartell.

Lillard, Seeking Third Victory, Opposes Giants

Gene Lillard this afternoon will make his fourth try to ring up his third victory as a Cub, his prospective victims being the New York Giants. The Giants will be on hand today and tomorrow. Cliff Melton is slated to pitch for Mr. Terry's side this afternoon. The tall lefty won the game that caused the Cubs' big personnel explosion in New York two weeks ago.

Ernie Koy stole second in the first inning and again in the third yesterday. There was a time whent a gent who could steal on Gabby Hartnett in two successive times on base automatically would qualify for baseball's Hall of Fame.

Lee's fifth victory yesterday was his sixth complete game. Last year, though, he eventually led all National league pitchers on almost every basis of reckoning, including total victories, percentage shut outs, and earned runs, Bill didn't pitch his first complete game until a year ago today. On May 19 he beat the Giants, 1 to 0.

Whitehead's hands, but Big John let it escape for a bargain hit. Doerr singled to center on a hit and run play to put Tabor on third. He scored on Desautel's fly to Rosenthal. Whitehead was hammered again in the third. Finney doubled and scored on Vosmik's single, but Big John mustered enough strength to strangle the next three batters.

The Chicago seventh got under way with a drive to left off Walker's bat. He pulled up at second, but the extra base was recorded as a gift from Vosmik who fumbled the rebound off the fence. Walker remained at second while Auker was tossing out Appling. Steinbacher slapped a grounder into deep short and Cronin was lucky to knock it down, but was charged with an error, Walker hustling to third. He sneaked home on Rosenthal's force of Steinbacher.

Invites Trouble and Gets It.

Whitehead invited trouble, and got it, by walking Cramer to open Boston's seventh. Finney sacrificed. Vosmik singled, but Bejma knocked down the drive and thus held Cramer at third. Cronin smacked a long fly to right and as Steinbacher couldn't locate the ball it dropped for a triple, Cramer and Vosmik scoring. After Williams had been thrown out, Tabor caromed a single off the shin of the ponderous Whitehead, Cronin scoring.

There was one out in the eighth when Silvestri singled to right in behalf of Whitehead and started the two run affair. Bejma tripled to right center, Silvestri scoring. Kuhel singled to center and sent Bejma home.

SOX NAME SMITH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 18.—The White Sox went to New York tonight, hoping to cool off the pace making Yankees during the next couple of afternoons. Eddie Smith, the southpaw who trimmed the champions in his Sox debut in Chicago on May 8, 5 to 3, will endeavor to duplicate the dose in tomorrow's opener. He'll draw a tough opponent in Charles Ruffing.

Rip Radcliff always hits like a wild man in the Yankee stadium, so he will be right, at least for that series. Hank Steinbacher will move to the dugout. Larry Rosenthal also will go back to the bench to make room in center field for the return of Mike Kreevich, who believes his five day rest has overcome his hitting slump.

The weather warmed up considerably, but the attendance which had been 5,800 on Tuesday and 5,200 yesterday declined to 4,000.

Among the few ball players who have no aversion to wearing the jinx number 13 on the back of his shirt is Elden Auker, the underhand tosser who operated for the Red Sox today. He wore it when he was with the Tigers and still has it.

The Man who Cares says:-CARSTAIRS

A Name of Fine Traditions since 1788

SINCE white wigs were formal instead of white ties, Carstairs has meant whiskey of character to men who care. Carstairs today lives up to its fine old traditions. Like fine Scotch, it is 86.8 proof; a blend of several noble whiskies. The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old. 57½% straight whiskies, selected for mellow richness, blended with 42½% other whiskey (4 years or more old), specially distilled to impart light body and exceptional smoothness.

MOFFETT PLANS LARGE BUILDING FINANCING FIRM

200 Millions of Mortgage Money May Be Offered.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—James A. Moffett, oil executive and former federal housing administrator, said after a White House conference today he was prepared to organize a private national mortgage association to supply $200,000,000 or more of mortgage money for home and factory construction.

James A. Moffett.

Moffett said he received encouragement from President Roosevelt and is awaiting only the final congressional approval of liberalizing amendments to the FHA act before applying to the FHA for a charter to form the first national mortgage association under title 3 of that act.

Would Buy Federal Unit.

Moffett said he was willing to buy out the Federal Mortgage association set up by the RFC which now has about $100,000,000 of insured mortgages on an original capital of $10,000,000 and $1,000,000 surplus.

He also proposes to organize a private development company to furnish money to contractors to build factories, apartment buildings, and other projects, including individual homes.

Moffett said his association would start with a capital of about $5,000,000 if the RFC refused to "sell out" to him its $10,000,000 capitalized association. Under the act he would be authorized to issue debentures up to twenty times the amount of capital in order to get money for lending.

Twenty Year Debentures.

These debentures would be for twenty years and would bear about 3¼ per cent interest. Normal rates of 4¼ to 5 per cent would be charged on mortgage loans, but Moffett said he eventually hoped to reduce these.

Philip A. Benson of New York, president of the American Bankers association, told congress today that legislation broadening powers of the home loan bank system apparently was "part of a general plan to establish a third banking system in addition to the national and state bank systems." He asked the house banking committee to scrap the bill.

Iron Out Differences.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Differences between the senate and house on a bill expanding the federal housing administration's powers were ironed out today in conference.

The major provision of the bill would increase, from $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000, the amount of FHA-insured mortgages which may be outstanding at any one time.

Senator Wagner [D., N. Y.] said conferees agreed to a compromise provision under which large scale, FHA-insured loans could not exceed 80 per cent of the total value of the property on which they were made, including land improvements. These loans also could not be for more than the cost of improvements,

CONSOLIDATING CERTIFICATES.

Investors' Guide: I have several stock certificates of small denominations in the same company picked up at different times which I would like to have consolidated into one or two certificates of, say, fifty, seventy-five, or one hundred shares each. Can I do this without having a broker handle the transaction? Will there be a transfer tax inasmuch as there is to be no change in ownership?—R. E. M.

Answer: You may consolidate your certificates for the small denominations into one for the larger amount simply by sending them to the transfer agent of the company along with instructions. You need not have a broker handle the transaction.

The transfer tax applies only to changes in ownership. Therefore, none will be levied for consolidation of your certificates. Some companies, however, charge a small fee for such service. Others do not. This can be determined through your transfer agent directly.

BRANCH BANKS.

Investors' Guide: A popular idea is that branches of both state and national banks are more numerous proportionately in the Pacific coast states than elsewhere. Can you confirm this? If this is so, can you give me some idea of how many branch banks are operated in California, Oregon, and Washington? I should also like to know how these states compare with the country as a whole in this matter. —A. H. S.

Answer: This is generally true. California, in particular, leads all other states in the number of branch banks at the end of 1938. It had 128 main offices of state banks with 178 branches, and 102 national banks with 744 branches. Besides California, the only state with more branches than main offices of both classifications is Arizona.

Oregon and Washington had fewer branches of state banks than main offices. In each of these states, however, the number of branches of national banks exceeded main offices. Here's how the Pacific coast states as a group stood at the end of last year:

State and National Banks.

	Main Offices.	Branches.
California	230	922
Oregon	77	65
Washington	150	76
Total	457	1,063

For the country as a whole the number of state and national banks at the end of 1938 totaled 15,254. These had 3,254 branches.

COTTON

Mills and shorts were active on the buying side of July cotton yesterday and found offerings light. Prices advanced readily to a new seasonal high price and closed .09 to .10 cent a pound higher. The new crop months were irregular, closing .06 cent higher to .03 cent a pound lower.

Demand for textiles was reported as only fair. The price paid for print cloths is said to be unsatisfactory and there is talk of mills curtailing production. According to trade reports neither Holland or Belgium have replied as yet to the American offer to barter cotton and wheat for tin and rubber.

Spot cotton closed .08 to .11 cent higher with New York, 9.79 cents; New Orleans, 9.52 cents, and Houston and Galveston at 9.25 cents a pound. Prices follow:

MEMBER BANKS SHOW INCREASE IN IDLE FUNDS

Excess Reserves Now Near $4,250,000,000.

Idle funds increased in the banking system last week. The federal reserve board reported yesterday that member banks of the system on Wednesday had reserves on hand that exceeded legal requirements by 4 billion 240 million dollars. This was an increase of 50 million dollars compared with a week earlier.

The further growth in reserve funds resulted from continued gold imports and expenditures by the treasury for purposes other than gold purchases. Gold stocks reported by the board were 36 million dollars larger than a week before, imports slowing somewhat from the preceding week. Engagements of $5,732,000 foreign gold for later shipment to this country were made yesterday.

Circulating Currency Expands.

The weekly statement released by the Bank of England disclosed a shrinkage in paper currency circulation after several successive weekly increases. Circulation fell £3,274,000 [$15,322,000] to £493,620,000 [$2,310,000,000]. The Bank of France statement was delayed because of a holiday.

Reports released by commercial banks in New York and Chicago showed declines in commercial loans in both centers in the week ended Wednesday. Commercial loans in Chicago were off 3 million dollars from the preceding week, and down 9 millions in New York. Loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers fell 22 millions.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A slight improvement in the wholesale trade for fresh pork, moderate receipts and continued cool weather bolstered the market for light hogs at the Chicago stockyards yesterday. Best grades of stock under 240 pounds met good demand early at 5 to 10 cents higher rates, with a big share of these changing hands on this basis. Heavier hogs were slower to sell and brought mostly steady prices.

Cattle receipts fell yesterday, only 5,000 arriving, but demand was insufficient to hold prices steady for even this small run. Weakness prevailed in all classes except some butcher stock.

Elect Jerome Frank on Divided Vote.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The "old private club boys" will not regain control of the New York Stock exchange, Jerome Frank said today in a statement of policy shortly after he was elected chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission by a 3 to 2 vote.

Jerome Frank.

Frank left no doubt about vigorous enforcement of the securities laws during his administration of the office, but disclaimed any greed for additional powers. He expressed his belief in the profits system, and said it was the job of the SEC to guard that system and make it work.

Would Fight Old Control.

Frank declared that one of the greatest misfortunes that could befall the American investor would be to lose the gains which have been made possible by the revised attitude of the stock exchange under new management. He indicated the SEC would continue to fight efforts of the "private club boys" to get control.

The election of Frank, a veteran New Deal liberal, reflected the recent dissension among the commissioners. He was openly opposed for the chairmanship by Robert E. Healy and George C. Mathews, Republican members of the commission. It was necessary for Frank to vote for himself to assure his election. He was supported by Edward C. Eicher, ardent New Dealer and former Congressman from Iowa, and Leon Henderson, liberal New Deal economist.

Henderson Sworn In First.

The election did not take place until after Henderson was sworn in as a commissioner this morning for the short term ending in June. This was to fill the vacancy left by William O. Douglas, Frank's predecessor as chairman, when he was appointed an associate justice of the United States Supreme court. Henderson yesterday was nominated by President Roosevelt for a full term ending in June, 1944.

For the first time in the history of the commission there was a divided vote in the election of a chairman. After the election Healy said:

"As far as I am concerned, there is no aftermath to this thing. The incident is over. I am going to turn in and support Frank as much as I am capable of doing and will do everything I can to contribute to the success of the administration."

Mathews, a Wisconsin conservative, said that his negative vote spoke for itself; also, that it made no particular difference who was chairman. He has a job to do and will do it to the best of his ability, he said. It was believed that Healy and Frank shuddered at the thought of any of the pronounced New Dealers becoming head of the commission.

Morale at Low Level.

Morale of the commission and its staff reached a new low in the interim between Douglas' appointment to the Supreme court and the present, so nothing can be expected except improvement in the internal organization. First there was inside competition for the vacancy on the commission and then agitation over the election of a chairman.

At one point the commission took the pains to issue a formal denial that two officials in the public utilities division had been requested to resign, despite unimpeachable information from a source close to the

Edison Takes Final Step to Merge System

The last step in the program begun in 1937 by the Commonwealth Edison company to simplify its financial structure and round out an integrated electric utility system in the Chicago metropolitan area was taken yesterday by directors of the company.

The board voted to redeem on July 1 the last remaining preferred shares of the Western United Gas and Electric company, Edison subsidiary. The step completes the retirement of minority stock ownership interests in the subsidiary companies.

It gives Edison virtually 100 per cent ownership of stocks in its affiliated properties. These include, besides Western United, the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Illinois Northern Utilities company.

World's Largest Power Pool.

Outstanding 6 and 6½ per cent preferred shares of Western United total $4,698,800 of an aggregate of $13,246,000 originally held by the public. Most of the holders have already exercised the right to convert their shares into Edison common stock at the rate of 4 shares of Edison for each preferred share held.

This conversion offer will remain open until June 30. In the meantime, Edison is mailing the redemption notice to all holders of the preferred shares. The redemption price is 106 and accrued dividends for the 6 per cent stock and $106.50 for the 6½ per cent issue.

Bond Refunding Completed.

Edison last week concluded arrangements with fifteen insurance companies to sell $114,500,000 of 40 year 3¼ per cent refunding bonds of the company. The proceeds will be used to retire on July 1 a corresponding amount of 3¾ and 4 per cent bonds which have been called for redemption. This phase of the recapitalization program ended the extensive refunding at lower interest rates that the company has been carrying out since last June.

Under this refunding the company has sold since June, 1938, a total of 425 million dollars of securities. They consisted of $294,500,000 of 3¼ and 3½ per cent mortgage bonds and $130,000,000 of convertible debentures. Since the sale of the debentures a total of $18,000,000 has been converted into common stock.

The consolidated capitalization of the company is now made up of the $294,500,000 of mortgage bonds sold in the last year, $111,000,000 of convertible debentures still outstanding and $225,000,000 of common stock [shares of $25 par value].

CHICAGO TO JOIN FOREIGN TRADE WEEK PROGRAM

Chicago's observance of National Foreign Trade week [May 21-27] was proclaimed yesterday by Mayor Edward J. Kelly. The celebration is being sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Export Managers club of Chicago.

"The purpose of foreign trade week is to create a greater public appreciation of the true importance of a healthy volume of foreign trade to the national economy and a better understanding of the problems of our international relations which directly affect our domestic prosperity," C. M. Wynne, foreign trade vice president of the commerce association, said.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce John M. Johnson will speak at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce on Wednesday in the Palmer House.

Canadian Air Line Orders Six Lockheed Transports

Trans-Canada Air Lines has placed an order for six new Lockheed fourteen transports, it was disclosed yesterday. The first plane will be delivered within a week and the remaining five in August. The amount of the order, including spare parts and extra equipment, will exceed $500,000.

Amer. Airlines Climbs Back to Profit Stratum

Operations of the American Air Lines, Inc., during the first three months of 1939 resulted in net profits of $23,801, compared with a net loss of $232,008 in the 1938 period, stockholders were informed in an interim report yesterday.

C. R. Smith.

C. R. Smith, president, announced that all types of revenues—passenger, mail, and express—contributed to the improved results. The earnings were equivalent to 8 cents a share on outstanding stock.

Company planes carried 76,121 revenue passengers during the quarter, compared with 56,365 a year earlier, an increase of 35.1 per cent.

Restaurant Chain Earns More.

B. G. Foods, Inc., restaurant chain operated from headquarters in Chicago, was able to improve its financial results for the first sixteen weeks of the year despite a reduction in sales. Net profits for the period were $35,158, equal to 34 cents a share on common stock, compared with $35,084, or 33 cents a share, a year ago.

Net sales totaled $998,533, against $1,067,666 last year. Ray C. Johns, president, announced that the company had forty-three restaurants in operation at the close of the recent period, or three less than a year earlier. He said, although a larger number of guests were being served, their meal checks averaged less.

Biscuit Firm's Profit Declines.

March quarter net profits of the Consolidated Biscuit company, Chicago, dropped to $46,974, from $89,516 a year ago, equaling 15 and 27 cents a share in the respective periods.

The annual report of the American Gas and Electric company and subsidiaries for 1938 showed $9,996,577 as the balance of income available for the common stock after preferred dividend charges. This was equal to $2.23 a common share. It compares with $11,514,483, or $2.56 a common share, in 1937. Gross revenues last year were $72,502,373, against $74,289,313 in 1937.

CUT IN SOME STEEL PRICES BY CHICAGO PRODUCER REPORTED

A reduction of $1 a ton in the price of cold finished steel carbon bars was reported to have been made yesterday by a leading steel producer in the Chicago area. A check among Chicago steel companies failed to disclose what company had actually made the reduction, but all were agreed that they would meet the competition.

This type of steel product is used in the farm implement, automotive parts, and machinery and equipment industries, among others. Taking into account the $1 price cut, the new base price at Chicago is $2.65 a hundred pounds.

Joseph T. Ryerson and Son, Inc., a subsidiary of the Inland Steel company, yesterday announced that it has reduced warehouse prices in Chicago by $1 to $5 a ton. These cuts were made to correspond with the price reductions made in the steel industry last week. The Ryerson company is one of the largest warehousers of steel products in the country.

BANK CLEARINGS GAIN OVER WEEK AND YEAR AGO

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—Bank clearings at twenty-two leading cities of the United States for the week ended Wednesday totaled $5,133,603,000, an increase of 8 per cent over the preceding week and a gain of 3.7 per cent over the corresponding 1938 week, according to Dun & Bradstreet's figures, released today.

The rise in clearings last week followed a small year to year drop recorded for the preceding week. Clearings for the latest week jumped $378,140,000 above the preceding week, contrasted with a gain of $68,026,000 in the two similar weeks of 1938.

Transactions at New York aggregated $3,045,992,000, against $2,959,331,000 last year, a gain of 2.9 per cent. The turnover for outside cities, amounting to $2,087,611,000 was 4.8 per cent larger than the $1,991,136,000 recorded a year ago. Chicago clearings rose 3.4 per cent.

Eggs Advance on Prospect of U. S. Buying

The prospect that the government may enter the egg market to support prices by purchasing surplus supplies was responsible for a sharp recovery, in future contracts on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Early losses of as much as 0.12 cent a dozen were almost entirely erased.

The reversal came when James Radabaugh, an agricultural adjustment administration official, appeared on the floor of the exchange. His presence seemed to confirm rumors the government was contemplating such a step, and frightened sellers out of the market. Radabaugh refused to comment.

However, traders recalled a little noticed announcement on Tuesday that the federal Surplus Commodities corporation might be authorized to support the egg market. They remembered also that Dewey Tremohlen, chief of the poultry division of the AAA, was in Chicago last week and seemed concerned over the egg market.

Tremohlen said the AAA was not anxious to enter the market, but that it might. Exchange members said such preliminary moves were usually taken by the government before action in such cases was announced.

On May 1, Chicago fresh egg receipts set an eight year peak, totaling 1,637,460 dozens.

FEDERAL TRADE BARRIERS MUST GO, SAYS SLOAN

Tax Revision Vital, Auto Man Asserts.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Business recovery is retarded by the government's unbalanced budget, the tax structure, and "many other barriers erected by the government in recent years," Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board of the General Motors corporation, asserted today. He testified before the senate monopoly investigating committee.

The motor executive branded the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax deterrents to business and industrial progress.

"All of these barriers against business progress must be removed," he declared. "We can't go on as things are now. Not much can be accomplished unless something is done about these factors which stifle initiative."

Tax Revision Necessary.

He supported the contentions of earlier witnesses, including Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric company, that tax revision must be accomplished before definite business improvement can be achieved.

"We have got to have more profit in industry," Sloan said. "We have got to encourage industry to make money and encourage people to put money into industry."

Sloan denied the contention of one witness that the "saturation point" in automobile sales had been reached. He asserted General Motors expected continued expansion of the automobile industry, provided the national income increased.

He indicated strongly, however, that this expansion would provide little opportunity for investment of the nation's present hoard of idle savings and capital. When equipment is replaced and plants modernized or expanded his company uses its own earnings, Sloan said. There has been substantially no outside financing in the 18 years since organization of the corporation, he said.

Same with Aircraft Firm.

The same situation prevails with the United Aircraft corporation, said Frederick B. Rentschler, chairman of the board. "Our company," he said, "has demonstrated its ability to expand its operations to meet all requirements and entirely from its earnings. We intend to continue this procedure as a matter of policy."

The committee had called these executives, and those heard previously, in an effort to answer President Roosevelt's question as to means for stimulating the employment of idle capital, machinery, and workmen.

Committee members expressed the belief the answer does not lie with large, well established corporations. Executives of smaller business enterprises and state banking officials are to be called next.

Sloan said that in eighteen years, General Motors had a profit of $2,300,000,000, of which 80 per cent was distributed to stockholders in dividends and the balance retained by the corporation.

To the amount retained was added $520,000,000 allowance for depreciation, figured out of total income before net profits were computed. The total was $1,100,000,000. Against this, he set a $770,000,000 expenditure for expansion, $176,000,000 invested in subsidiaries, and a $336,000,000 disbursement for special tools. The three figures total $1,282,000,000.

"As the national income goes up," he said, "we go up, at an increasing rate. I see no reason why that should not continue."

The motor manufacturers' purchases of heavy machinery to produce new models turned out each year has provided "quite a contribution" to the heavy goods industries, he said.

HEAVY BUILDING AWARDS LARGER FOR WEEK, YEAR

Engineering construction awards for the week ended yesterday totaled $56,013,000, compared with $52,390,000 in the preceding week and $45,614,000 a year ago, according to Engineering News-Record. The awards were classified as follows [000 omitted]:

	Last wk.	Prev. wk.	Last yr.
Public	39,502	38,402	28,241
State, municipal	36,090	32,548	26,820
Federal	3,412	5,854	1,421

For the year to date, construction awards totaled $1,223,507,000, representing a 22½ per cent gain over the volume of $999,015,000 for the corresponding period of 1938.

CAPITAL GAINS TAX IS ASSAILED BY GEN. DAWES

Declared Deterrent to Prosperity.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes asserted yesterday that the capital gains tax hindered the return of normal prosperity and should be repealed or drastically reduced. Unless such action is taken, he said, the country can never "reach our desired $80,000,000,000 national income."

[The capital gains tax is levied on a sliding scale on short term or long term profits or losses of individuals in selling or exchanging property which he does not use in his regular business. The property to which the tax is applicable consists of stocks, bonds, or real estate.]

Dawes, former Vice President of the United States, is chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust company, Chicago. He expressed his views in a letter to Oscar G. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Prevents Normal Prosperity.

"The capital gains tax makes improbable, if not impossible, the return of normal prosperity to the United States, and in the interest of all citizens, rich or poor, should be repealed or drastically reduced," Dawes wrote. "The devastation being wrought by it in American business is not sufficiently realized."

One purpose of the tax was to eliminate speculators seeking quick profits in stocks, real estate, and other capital goods, according to Dawes. But, although the tax was successful in cutting down a comparatively small amount of business on the stock exchange, he contended, the tax also "cut down an enormous amount of business in capital goods in the country at large" and has frozen a "stupendous amount of inactive capital" which would have been placed into circulation immediately.

Active Trades Needed.

"Wealth and purchasing power to produce prosperity must be in motion, not in static form," he explained. "It is axiomatic that under normal conditions what we call prosperity is activity in exchanges—that is, activity in sales and purchases—and that laws which reduce the number of business exchanges tend to lessen prosperity.

"Having its origin in the idea that in the public interest a quick profit is to be presumed an unfair profit, the capital gains tax is a shining example of the folly of efforts to make our revenue laws agencies for alleged moral uplift.

"Every one of countless thousands of transactions resulting in either a long time or short time profit or loss in real estate, stocks, or other capital goods, might be held fair or unfair if it were possible for us to sit in judg-

Conserving Business Values

THE VALUE of a business to an estate depends largely on the ability and energy of the Executor and Trustee. To carry on, or to sell advantageously, a business to which a man has given his personal efforts as sole owner, or as holder of a substantial stock interest, requires skill and an understanding of management problems. This Bank can be named Executor and Trustee with full confidence that the interests of the estate will be protected. It has had long experience with this work.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—A sensitive and quiet stock market backed away from modest early gains this afternoon to close irregular. Fractional advances had been general until light selling was touched off in the fourth hour by the announcement of Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, that he is asking a larger appropriation to push his anti-trust program.

A psychological damper also was put on the market when the tape showed United States Steel at a new 1939 low of 43¼ during the selling flurry. "Big Steel," often taken as a barometer of general industry, came back a little to close at 43¾ for a point loss on the day after reaching 45⅛ in the morning. Steel's preferred fell 2¾ points to 101, a new low for this year.

Most active issues in the day, which saw only 418,280 shares change hands, were United States Rubber, which closed unchanged; United States Steel, and Chrysler. They were the only major stocks having 10,000 shares or more traded.

Chrysler managed to retain a ¼ point gain after being ahead 1⅛ at one time. A bulge of ⅞ by General Motors was pared to ½ at the close. Other motors were quiet.

Practically every industrial issue that did not finish unchanged showed only minor fractional changes one way or the other. This was true of metals, aircrafts, motor accessories, oils, rubbers, and various merchandising shares.

Among the few industrial common stocks to make as much as a full point gain were American Telephone, Eastman Kodak, Caterpillar Tractor, International Harvester, Cluett Peabody, Hercules Powder, and Du Pont. International Business Machine stood out with a 2½ point rise.

Rails and utilities followed the industrial pattern, with trading interest small. A scattering of preferred issues moved up 1 to 3 points.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 18.—(AP)—United States government issues continued to climb in today's bond market, with many maturities selling at the highest levels in history. Gains among treasuries ranged up to 14-32ds point as banks, insurance companies, and other financial institutions, seeking use for idle cash, bid them up.

The corporate division was higher, and small gains and losses among rail and utility loans were about evenly divided.

Foreign dollar bonds also moved fractionally in both directions.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved within a narrow range yesterday. Although issues showing declines were in the majority, the more important changes were upward. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average closed at 9.82, compared with 9.77 Wednesday.

Kel'-gg Switchboard preferred, which advanced 3 points on Wednesday, rose 10 points yesterday to 90, a new 1939 high, in limited dealings. The common stock improved a fraction.

Arrangements were made for the sale of an exchange membership at $1,700, an increase of $100 over the previous transaction.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks closed unchanged to slightly higher yesterday. Continental Illinois and First National advanced. Trading, while continuing light, was somewhat more active than on Wednesday.

WHEAT CLIMBS AGAIN AS DROUTH MENACES CROP

Dry weather over a large part of the winter and spring wheat belts, with reports indicating rapid deterioration in the outlook for the coming harvest, resulted in a sharp advance in prices yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. All deliveries of wheat sold within about 1 cent a bushel of the highest prices of the season and held a large part of the upturn. Gains were ½ to 1⅛ cent a bushel.

Rye futures were 1⅝ to 1¾ cents higher with the July and September deliveries at new high prices for the season. Crop damage reports from the Dakotas and Minnesota were responsible for the upturn in rye. Soy beans developed independent weakness and closed ¾ to 1¼ cents lower.

Short covering was responsible for the upturn in May wheat yesterday, brokers said. A total of 5,162,000 bushels of uncompleted contracts was outstanding when trading started, showing a reduction of only 63,000 bushels as the result of Wednesday's pit operations.

Commodities

Copper sold for export yesterday at 9.925 cents a pound, the first time in several weeks that the price dropped below 10 cents. Sales were made Wednesday at 10.05 cents, although leading producers and smelters continued to quote 10 and 10⅛ cents on the metal for domestic consumers, some copper was available at 9.875 cents.

Lower prices were posted for a majority of the commodities traded in the futures markets yesterday. Silk retreated further from the high levels established earlier in the week, declining as much as 6½ cents a pound.

Uncertainty as to what the international sugar council will do toward releasing additional supplies kept the sugar market shifting uneasily. The world contract closed with losses ranging to 0.05 cent a pound, with the domestic deliveries showing smaller declines.

Raw hide and cottonseed oil prices were slightly higher. European selling contributed to a decline in coffee futures despite a firmer market for the actual product.

The United States bureau of labor statistics announced its index of wholesale commodity prices for last week was 76.4 per cent of the 1926 average, a gain of 0.4 per cent over the preceding week and the highest level since early last month.

HIGHER BENEFITS TO UNEMPLOYED IN ILLINOIS O. K.'D

Amendments Passed; Up to Governor Now.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Important amendments increasing benefits under the unemployment compensation act, which becomes effective July 1, completed their legislative course today. They were approved in the house by a vote of 104 to 0. Since they had passed the senate previously they now go to Gov. Henry Horner for signature. Both employers and labor agreed to the measures.

Sen. J. M. Lee, who sponsored bill.

These are the primary changes in the impending law:

1. Reduction of the waiting period before payments may start from three to two weeks.

2. Increase of the minimum weekly payment from $5 to $7, and of the maximum from $15 to $16.

Penalty Is Provided.

These changes affect employés discharged through no fault of their own. Those at fault must serve a penalty period ranging from one to five weeks, in addition to the regular waiting period, before they become eligible for payments.

It is estimated that about 1,800,000 Illinois workers are covered by the impending law. A new section which would be added by today's action, effective Jan. 1, 1940, would increase that number to almost 2,500,000. This would be accomplished by including under the bill persons who employ six or more workmen. As effective on July 1, only employers of eight or more are covered.

Permits Lower Contributions.

Another highly important provision approved by the house would allow reduced contributions from employers who have favorable employment records—in other words, those whose employment is well stabilized. This provision would be effective in 1943.

Action upon the amendments came at the end of the week's work in the house. The bills went through the senate under the sponsorship of John M. Lee [D., Chicago], but in the assembly they had bipartisan backing through the floor leaders, Robert J. Branson [R., Centralia] and Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago].

PURE OIL SEEKS TO DISPOSE OF 135 PROPERTIES

The Pure Oil company, Chicago, is negotiating with the Gulf Oil company for the sale to the latter of 135 bulk and distributing outlets along the Atlantic coast, it was learned yesterday.

It is expected that Gulf will buy outright 35 Pure Oil owned properties and will assume leases on an additional 100 properties operated by Pure Oil. Included are 10 bulk plants. The others are retail outlets. Most of them are in New York and New Jersey.

It was said that the sale would be the concluding step in the program started three years ago by Pure Oil to bring into better balance its refining and marketing operations. Its marketing facilities had grown so broad that it was forced to buy more gasoline than was deemed advantageous.

A substantial number of properties in the northeastern part of the country was lopped off last year. None of the middle western operations is affected.

NEW FIRM WILL MANAGE BANK'S REALTY BONDS

The City National Bank and Trust company announced yesterday that it was turning over to a new corporation the work it has heretofore done in connection with real estate reorganizations. The new company, the Sturm-Bickel corporation, will furnish fiscal and management supervision services for real estate properties that have been reorganized.

W. G. Sturm and J. J. Bickel Jr. are resigning from the bank's staff to manage the new company. Both men served on the bank's committee which assisted in the reorganization of real estate properties on which predecessor banks had underwritten securities.

A total of $45,000,000 has been reorganized. With this work completed the bank decided to divorce itself from operation of the properties.

Business Bits

William S. Paley and Artemus L. Gates have been elected directors of Pan-American Airways corporation.

Dean Fred D. Fagg Jr. of the Northwestern University School of Commerce will discuss "Recent Developments in Aviation" at a luncheon on Friday of the Executives club in the Hotel Sherman.

William A. F. Stephenson, formerly of Chicago, has been appointed executive officer of the wage and hour division of the United States department of labor at Washington. Mr. Stephenson was identified with the management of A Century of Progress and has been in charge of field operations under the wage and hour law for several months.

GREAT WEARINESS HITS AMERICANS; SECURITY IS CRY, SAYS VAUCLAIN

Philadelphia, Pa., May 18.—(AP)—Samuel M. Vauclain, chairman of the board of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, said today "a great weariness" has overcome the American people.

"Security is more and more the cry," he told interviewers visiting him on his 83d birthday anniversary. "Few people seek a chance to progress. They look merely for an opportunity to sit back, to shed their duties; in short, to loaf.

"Democracy cannot be made to run that way. If everyday men and women will not work for themselves and for democracy, it is obvious that another form of government will eventually replace what we have now.

"Abroad we have seen a few despots running Europe. They are masters because their subjects' weariness gave them the chance to seize control. Let America take its warning from foreign events."

WM. M'CLELLAN ACTING HEAD OF UNION ELECTRIC

Replaces Egan, Who Quit on SEC Charge.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—(AP)—William McClellan, Washington, D. C., today was named acting president of the Union Electric company of Missouri. He succeeds Louis H. Egan, who resigned Tuesday in a drastic shakeup of the management of the utility as a result of its investigation by the Securities and Exchange commission.

For the last six years McClellan has been president of the Potomac Electric company in Washington.

Edward T. Gushee, vice president of the Detroit Edison company since 1935, was named acting executive vice president of the Union company, replacing Frank J. Boehm.

John A. Woodbridge, formerly associated with the New York law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, was elected vice president of the company to succeed A. C. Laun.

McClellan and Gushee also were elected directors of the company.

The withdrawal of Egan, Boehm, and Laun was first announced in New York by the North American company, which controls the Union Electric.

J. F. Fogarty, president of North American, disclosed yesterday the two officials who "withdrew" would continue to receive their salaries during the SEC investigation on charges the company had illegally made contributions to political parties and "unknown" persons running for state and other offices.

PERU OIL FIND MAY OPEN UP VAST NEW FIELD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, May 18.—[Special.]—A well 6,000 feet deep producing 750 barrels daily has been reported struck on the 30,000 acre concession of a California owned company. It is on the Pachitea river in the [illegible] of the Ucayali river, an Amazon river tributary, in eastern Peru.

The well has been capped and new exploration wells are being drilled in the huge natural oil dome formation that is about 30 miles in diameter. It is predicted that it will prove the most productive oil well ever sunk in the Amazon basin. It may open what is regarded as one of the world's greatest potential oil fields, strategically located, with barge transportation to the mouth of the Amazon river, it was said.

EXPERT ADMITS SEMBLANCE OF CORN "CORNER"

An expert testifying for Cargill, Inc., admitted yesterday under questioning by Howard Ellis, attorney for the Chicago Board of Trade, that the September, 1937, corn pit situation closely paralleled that of July, 1931.

In the latter instance, Thomas M. Howell, known as one of the great "plungers" of the grain markets, cornered the corn market and was later denied trading privileges by the grain futures commission as a result of the deals.

Prof. Roland Snow Vaile of the University of Minnesota made the admission yesterday in the CEA hearing being conducted at the Hotel Sherman.

Air Line Gets $300,000 Bank Loan to Buy Planes

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—Part of the purchase price of three Douglas DC-3 airplanes was obtained by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., in the form of a loan of $300,000 from the Commercial National Bank and Trust company of New York. The planes, costing a total of $323,125, were purchased from the Douglas Aircraft company. The loan was revealed in a report to the Securities and Exchange commission which was released at the stock exchange.

SEC'S NEW HEAD TO OPPOSE OLD EXCHANGE RULE

Jerome Frank Is Elected on Divided Vote.

White House that President Roosevelt had given such instructions to Douglas before the latter went to the Supreme court. The President became disturbed by published reports of a secret investigation in the division.

There are new reports that Healy and Mathews will resign from the commission, although both say they have no plans other than staying on the commission.

Statement of Policy.

In his statement of policy Frank declared that the SEC is a "conservative institution striving patiently but persistently to conserve democracy by improving our profit system."

He said the SEC has no further legislation program for this session of congress other than its hopes for passage of the Barkley trust indenture bill. The senate has already approved the measure. He said there seems to be some misunderstanding about the SEC regulations over financial advertising and that he wants such doubts on the part of underwriters and issuers cleared up.

Recent developments have shown, he also said that there is need for strict control over accounting practices. He said that the SEC will not hesitate to step in with the full force of its powers when it finds accounting firms are not coöperating with the commission in the maintenance of standard and accurate accounting procedure, "because of the influence of their clients."

Frank said he did not wish to comment on the large number of private placements of new securities by issuers, but that it is something in which the SEC is vitally interested.

Over-the-Counter Dealers.

He expressed hope that the investment bankers' conference would serve as a strong organization for regulation of the over-the-counter dealers under the Maloney act, with residual powers in the SEC.

Integration of public utility holding companies will be carried out as quickly as possible, he said. Conferences will be held with heads of utility companies within the next few weeks to go over the plans for integration already submitted by the respective companies. There is no perfect plan, he said, and each situation requires special attention.

It was his belief, Frank said, that the registration machinery was running smoothly. Among other things, he said, the SEC general counsel is at work clarifying the exemption rules for small business. The revised proxy rules have proved fruitful, he added, and may be further improved by additional revisions next year.

FREIGHT TRAFIC ON RAILS CUT BY SLUMP IN COAL

A sharp decline in coal loadings resulted in decrease in revenue freight loadings for the week ended May 13 when compared with the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The coal tieup caused the lower coal shipments.

Loadings amounted to 555,396 cars, down 17,461 cars from the preceding week but 13,588 cars ahead of the like 1938 week. Coal loadings were off 17,514 cars from the preceding week and 38,182 cars from the 1938 week. Except the loss in coal loadings, the total for the week would have been ahead of the preceding week.

	Week ended May 13.	Prev. week.	Year. ago.

ILLINOIS SENATE TO QUIZ CHICAGO INSURANCE MEN

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle yesterday named a commission of five state senators to make an investigation of the Chicago Board of Underwriters. The senate passed a resolution introduced by Earl B. Searcy [R., Springfield] on Wednesday which stated that the Chicago board had violated the insurance code by granting rebates to certain preferred clients.

Ernest Palmer, state insurance superintendent, who was in Chicago yesterday, said he knew nothing about the investigation. Jay S. Glidden, general manager of the Chicago Board of Underwriters, said his organization would welcome any investigation.

"The board has been in existence for ninety years," Glidden said. "Our books are open and we will coöperate with the commission."

U. S. Will Omit Debt Dun for Ex-Czecho-Slovakia

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—In view of what was described as "the current governmental condition in Czecho-Slovakia," the state department is not sending the usual notice to that government of a war debt payment due on June 15. Withholding the notice is in conformity with the position taken by the United States of not recognizing the German occupation of that country. The notice, therefore, could not be sent to Berlin and there is no government in Prague to receive it.

FLAILS ENGLISH PLAN TO BOYCOTT BUYING OF U. S. SECURITIES

New York, May 18.—(AP)—The action of the Bank of England in discouraging British purchases of American securities was denounced today by State Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., as an "arrogant boycott."

"Americans," he said in a formal statement, "should have no hesitancy in resorting to their own financial patriotism and, in the matter of securities—particularly British securities—the American investing public will find greater security in 'buying American.'

"Lack of British government enforcement facilities and 3,000 miles of water make it difficult for American authorities to prosecute British swindlers.

"No greater investment can be made by Americans than an investment in the future of America and American enterprises."

Bennett added that he did not intend to appeal for the indiscriminate purchase of American securities. But, he said:

"The innumerable instances of blatant British swindling which my office has encountered should in itself cause Americans to scrutinize British offerings. For, after all, the sun never sets on the British empire, nor does the sun ever set on British swindlers."

CAPITAL GAINS TAX ASSAILED BY GEN. DAWES

Declared Big Deterrent to Recovery.

ment upon its particular circumstances. But even then whether or not the transaction considered was reprehensible would not be determined by the time at which it was consummated."

Cites Situation in England.

Dawes pointed out that England has high income taxes but stimulates individual initiative by not taxing capital gains. In this way both the source and proceeds of proper taxation are increased, he continued, describing this as the chief reason for the comparatively larger degree of prosperity in England in the last few years as compared with the United States.

Through the capital gains tax, Dawes said, "we are throttling individual business initiative, activity, and energy, and by such a course are lessening both the sources of profits and proceeds of taxation." He declared the reason normal business recovery has not come in this country "is because to the extent our government has destroyed the profit incentive in the American business system it has destroyed its power of self-regeneration."

By "power of self-regeneration" Dawes said he meant the force in American business, which, without governmental assistance from 1921 to 1926, increased the annual volume of money transactions through bank checks by more than 200 billion dollars.

Pulled Out of Earlier Slumps.

"American business, through individual initiative, without governmental help, pulled itself out of the bog in the depressions of 1873 and 1893 when the flow of investment funds from private individuals to new risk business enterprises was not practically choked off as it is at present," he said.

"Not only does the tax deter new manufacturing enterprises, but it falls like a blight upon the activities of those men who, in the past, could get from risk taking individuals of means the capital necessary for the rejuvenation and upbuilding of labor employing enterprises, especially those broken down by periods of depression.

"For such successful efforts a high order of talent is essential and only when there is a chance of 'long profit' for both the investors and the builders can such talent be interested.

"In putting to sleep the most successful of this class of industrial leaders, who are essential builders of prosperity, the capital gains tax struck one of its most devastating blows against national recovery."

JUSTICE BUREAU PLANS TO WIDEN ANTI-TRUST QUIZ

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—To facilitate its investigation of the oil and other industries, the anti-trust division of the department of justice plans the establishment of five regional offices, it was disclosed today.

Full prosecution of violations of anti-trust laws would require the additional officers, Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the division, told a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today. The subcommittee supported him by recommending funds for establishment of offices in Chicago, New York, Atlanta, Oklahoma City, and San Francisco.

Asserting "the issue ought to be raised as to whether the oil companies must not divest themselves of control of filling stations," Arnold said that "either we are going to have competition in the oil industry; or, if that is impossible, it must go to congress for regulation."

Income Tax Claims Against Chicago Car Lines Voided

Income tax claims totaling $906,596 against two units of the Chicago Surface lines were canceled yesterday by the treasury department at Washington, D. C. The department reversed a previous ruling claiming $874,953 in income taxes from the Chicago Railways company for the three years ended Jan. 31, 1935, and permitted large additional deductions for interest payments. Canceled also were claims of $31,643 against the Chicago City Railway company for taxes on 1934 and 1935 income. Both companies are in receivership.

BUSINESS TOPS U. S. IN RELIEF, CAREY ASSERTS

Commerce Chief Fights Federal Policy.

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—The government, in comparison with business, "has done a small job in alleviating the distress of our people." This declaration was made today by W. Gibson Carey Jr., new president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He spoke before the Merchants Association of New York.

W. Gibson Carey Jr.

Without saying it in so many words, Carey called upon the national administration to confess its mistakes, to abandon its policies of restricting initiative and overspending, and to permit business men to solve the nation's business problems which lie at the heart of all difficulties.

Criticizes Federal Policy.

In 1932, he declared, the nation had liquidated the effects of the post-war inflationary period and was ready to forge ahead into an era of prosperity. Had the problems of the depression been attacked realistically, with the realization that the fundamental aim of any cure had to be to increase industrial production, the United States could have kept pace with the other English-speaking countries in economic recovery, he said.

However, in the seven years since then, the national situation has grown darker and the need for squarely facing the facts is becoming more desperate, he declared.

"We have tried remedies and reforms," he continued. "We have planned and theorized. We have legislated ad nauseam. Despite this, the facts are ever present.

"Tragedy Is Unnecessary."

"We know that the national debt is soaring to unprecedented heights. We know that we are carrying a heavier burden of taxation than ever before. We know that millions of our men and women are trying desperately to find work and that these people are reduced to reliance upon public aid to keep body and soul together. All of this tragedy is unnecessary."

Whatever the reason for this state of affairs, all explanations, Carey said, seemed to imply that business itself was to blame, an accusation both unjust and unfortunate. Any assertion that business is on strike is ridiculous, he said.

Explains Business' Position.

"One of the things usually overlooked is that in the worst years of the depression, manufacturers probably paid out more money to employés whose work was not needed to meet current demands for their products than the government did for relief," Carey explained. "Add to this the vast sum that business, by running at a loss, contributed to the maintenance of living standards. The fact is that government, by comparison, has done a small job indeed of alleviating the distress of our people."

If the country is to find its way out of the depression, he said, it must first rebuild the bulwarks of the system of individual freedom under which the country grew great. The second consideration is a "realization that we cannot hope to solve our problems by relying upon government."

"All the laws that congress can enact will not produce a yard of cloth or a pound of steel or take the place of individual effort," Carey said.

SOUTH. PACIFIC EXPECTS PROFIT FOR THIS YEAR

The Southern Pacific will be on an earning basis this year unless something unforeseen occurs, A. D. McDonald, president, stated in New York yesterday. "I expect the Southern Pacific will more than earn fixed charges this year, unless business gets much worse than it is now," he said.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

MEN

OUR CHICAGO BRANCH OFFICES WILL TAKE ON A LIMITED FEW MEN WHO NEED A STEADY INCOME AND WHO WISH TO TRY TO SEE IF THEY CAN DO THIS WORK. THOSE WHO CAN QUALIFY CAN MAKE $30 TO $80 PER WEEK IMMEDIATELY. SUCH MEN WILL BE PERMITTED TO HAVE FULL TRAINING FREE. WE WILL FURNISH FULL EQUIPMENT WITH NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED.

Expanding business makes possible this offer. A similar offer recently gave responsible, adaptable men good opportunities and immediate money making. J. C., new man, made $65 his first week. Another new man, F. C., drew $79.95 his first 3 days.

H. G. in one day made 11 showings of this unusual electrical specialty to earn over $85.00 for the day. I. R., in 18 working days, made 72 showings to earn $457.95. His March-April earnings totaled $1,269.91.

H. H., former bakery man, totaled $1,197.72 for the same 2 months. J. P., former spinning mill worker, $1,574.78 for the same 2 months. T. P. started here in February, drew $157.63 in March, $180.31 last month—previously a furrier.

We have no room for drifters or wishers. This is no get-rich-quick scheme. You cannot make money here unless you earn it. Some men who apply to us are not ready to fulfill the requirements, but we have found also that many men who never previously even thought they could do work of this kind have found it to be just the opportunity they sought for years and are now making more money than they ever previously dreamed of making. We have men making up to $1,000 a month or more. Others $750 a month. Others $600, $500, $400, $300, $200. Some of our best men never sold anything before.

Our successful men come from every walk of life: P. S., who drew $5,232.58 last year, was previous manager of a cleaning company—C. H., with earnings of $4,732.64 for the year, formerly an architect—E. M., $6,671.15 last year, former real estate dealer—G. R., $9,577.78 last year, formerly factory superintendent. Others were barbers, carpenters, attorneys, salesmen, printers, importers, accountants, merchants, railroaders, ministers—one was an embalmer, several were piano makers. A. S. earning $5,081.31 with us in 1938, previously was in the wholesale shoe business—F. P., $9,582.22 last year, started as a chauffeur for an Electrolux man, who was a seaman for many years and became interested when he saw the commissions earned by successful men in this business—J. C., $5,776.89 last year, had a linen business in the old days.

The method is so effective, the product is so highly salable, so thoroughly amazing in the way it sidesteps the "We have no money" or "just looking" objection, that unusual sales records are being made. A new man drew $120.10 for his first 30 showings—formerly a printer. G. F., previously a machinery salesman, made 40 showings to draw $224.14. W. F., his first week, 24 showings, $88.06 commissions in immediate earnings; he was formerly a bookkeeper. N. B. started here just a month ago and drew $204.63 his first 4 weeks.

If you are of good reputation, active, alert, willing to learn and to work hard every day to make genuine success in return for the privilege of a genuine opportunity in a permanent position with good people who will deeply interest themselves in helping you to get started and to get along, make your application in person.
